DEAL SIGNED AT PARIS

Experts' Labors Concluded

Young Plan Reparations Conveyor on Way to Liquidation

Baby Marks Final Scene; Young Congratulated for Success

PARIS, June 7. (AP)—The second committee ended its work today by signing the report which outlines methods for liquidating the question of German reparations, a problem which has bothered the chancelleries of the Old World for years.

The signed report makes much of the efforts by financial experts from seven nations to change the question from a political controversy into a purely financial deal. Whether this will be accomplished will depend upon the acceptance or rejection of the recommendations by the governments involved. The rest of the world probably will be used in making some changes to a considerable extent.

FOR SHAKE HANDS

As one of the session saw reporters a photographic film that showed a group of hands between Owen D. Young, chief of the reparations committee, and Emile Moreau, governor of the French experts, and Owen D. Young, American member of the committee, looking on with a smile of the deepest satisfaction. The scene was registered the moment the George V clock struck after 6 o'clock this evening. Members of the committee stated that it typified the spirit of the four months' work that was wound up today.

Owen D. Young, who is governor of the Bank of France, congratulated Moreau in the name of the other experts. Moreau summed up the qualities of Young by saying:

"Young is not entirely satisfied with anybody, but is highly pleased to everybody."

Young replied: "The long and arduous efforts of Mr. Moreau's patriotic efforts have been fully appreciated by all the committees that would be necessary for paying the debts of the world's greatest nation and the gratitude of the world is huge."

FOR BRIDGE BUILDING

Contracts totaling [illegible] have been awarded by a lighting committee of the city for the addition of [illegible] to the Broadway bridge, [illegible] to the Sixth street viaduct and [illegible] to the Macy street bridge, it was announced today by Mayor [illegible]

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 7. [To the Editor of The Times:] Congress passed a bill yesterday to redistribute some new Congressmen. United Cigar Stores have just done away with giving out coupons and now the government has taken it up and is giving out Congressmen instead. If you remember, this session of Congress was called "just to relieve the farmer," so if you are a destitute farmer and can get enough other poor farmers to go in with you and sign the census rolls why they will relieve your stranded condition by giving you another Congressman. The only relief I can see out of it is to send a fat one so they can eat him.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

COLORADO DIKE OUT

Area Inundated Below Border

Lower California Company's New Levee System Gives Way

Imperial Valley's Bulwarks Remain Intact as Flow Increases

CALEXICO, June 7. (Exclusive)—Minor breaks occurred in the Lower California Canal Company's new levee system on the east side of the Colorado River opposite Pescadero Dam in Mexico during the past week, according to the report made today by J. C. Allison, consulting engineer for the Colorado River Land Company which owns the land adjacent to the broken dike. No land is in cultivation in the area east of the river, Allison said, and the only property loss is that of the levee itself.

RAIL GRADE GONE

Water began undermining the embankment last Sunday and the breach had widened to 2000 feet today. The engineer reported that approximately 1000 feet of railroad embankment along the new line of the Mexicali and Gulf Railroad has been carried away by flood water. Railroad tracks have not yet been extended to the destroyed section of the line and this loss is reported to be of a minor nature.

The canal company installed twenty-seven miles of levees east

TAFT VICTIM OF ILLNESS

Sent to Hospital at Capital

Physicians Have Him Under Observation for Ailment of Gall Bladder

Patient Held in No Danger; Exertion of Cincinnati Trip Blamed

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—Chief Justice William Howard Taft of the Supreme Court was removed to Garfield Hospital here today for observation because of gall bladder trouble.

At the hospital it was said tonight that his condition is satisfactory and that he is in no danger.

Drs. Francis R. Hagner and Thomas A. Crayton, his personal physicians, announced that the chief justice is suffering from overexertion as the result of a trip to Cincinnati.

Dr. Hagner said he believes an operation will not be necessary, but that the patient must have complete rest for several days to recuperate.

The Chief Justice returned today from a visit to relatives in Cincinnati and planned to continue on to his summer home in Canada, but decided his physical condition was not satisfactory. After an examination his physicians ordered him to Garfield Hospital.

The Supreme Court recessed Monday for the summer after an arduous winter session in which the Chief Justice and his associates almost cleared their docket for the first time in recent years. Mr. Taft, who will be 72 years of age in September, was active throughout the drive to hand down opinions on all cases possible and left Monday night for the trip west.

LAME DUCK RESOLUTION APPROVED

Senate Again Passes on Norris's Proposal and It Now Goes to House

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—For the fifth time in recent years the Senate today approved a resolution of Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, proposing a constitutional amendment to provide for one continuous session of Congress each year beginning on January 2.

The resolution, which now goes to the House, where assent heretofore has not been given, also seeks to have the term of the President begin on January 15, rather than March 4.

The principal condition the amendment seeks to bring about is to abolish short sessions of Congress after general elections, and to bring the beginning of a President's term and those of Congressmen closer to the date of their election, in the hope of causing a more prompt legislative expression of the people's wishes as expressed at the polls.

At present a member of Congress does not take his seat until thirteen months after his election, unless a special session has been called.

The Senate approved the resolution by a vote of 64 to 9, a two-thirds majority being necessary to adopt a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment. If a similar vote can be mustered in the House, the amendment will be submitted to the States for ratification.

The nine Senators who voted against the resolution are Bingham of Connecticut, who led the opposition; Dale and Greene of Vermont; Hastings, Delaware; Metcalf, Rhode Island; Patterson, Missouri, and Waterman, Colorado, Republicans; and King, Utah, and Blease, South Carolina, Democrats.

BABIES WILL JOIN CLASS AT COLLEGE

Two Infants Yet Unborn Put on List for Nursery Course in Ohio School

A model nursery to have charge for observation of twenty-five children of from 20 months to 3½ years of age, will be established in September by the school of education of Western Reserve University.

Miss May Hill, associate professor of education and educational director of the school, said parents will be encouraged to enroll their children at birth to insure complete study of them by the staff of the school. Applications for the enrollment of two children, not yet born, have been received, she said.

The nursery school will receive the co-operative efforts of the school of education, school of nursing, department of household administration of the college for women, the graduate school, the school of medicine of Western Reserve, and the Brush Foundation.

Outlining the purposes of the new institution, Miss Hill said:

"An environment that will foster the all-round development of the child will be furnished in this school.

"Parental education will go hand in hand with the development of children. Every effort will be made to co-ordinate the methods of child care in the home and in the nursery school.

"Another purpose will be the gradual accumulation and analysis of records of child behavior, especially in those phases of child life about which we know little."

STRESEMANN STOPS AT HEALTH RESORT

BERLIN, June 7. (AP)—The Associated Press was informed authoritatively today that Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, had interrupted his journey to the League of Nations Council at Madrid and will remain in some French health resort for several days. The state of his health is the reason given for the change in plans.

Next License Plates to be Same Colors

SACRAMENTO, June 7. (Exclusive)—Frank G. Snook, chief of the State Division of Motor Vehicles, announced today that the 1930 California automobile license plate will consist of black numerals set on a [illegible] background. This just reverses the color scheme of this year.

He stated that the plates will be the same size as at present and also will employ the alphabetical character, which eliminates two numerals.

Salt Lake Line Tunnel Cave-in Fatal to Three

CALIENTE (Nev.) June 7. (AP)—Two men and a 7-year-old girl were killed and several other persons injured when a sixty-foot stretch of timbering collapsed midway in tunnel No. 9 of the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad near here this afternoon. About fifteen workmen were engaged in widening the tunnel when the wooden structure suddenly gave way with a terrific crash.

The dead are William C. Benson, Fred B. Fisher of Caliente and the young girl whose identity has not been established. Her home is said to be in Parowan, Utah. Benson was killed instantly while Fisher lived two hours.

The injured were rushed to the Santa Fe Hospital in Los Angeles. The accident did not cause any delay to rail traffic.

Two Killed and Six Injured in Texas Tornado

PLAINVIEW (Tex.) June 7. (AP)—Two persons were killed and six injured seriously by a tornado which struck Running Water, Hale county town, and Flagg, in Castro county, yesterday.

The dead are J. A. Snypes of Running Water and R. A. Cassady of Flagg.

Six houses were blown away at Flagg. At Running Water three houses were destroyed.

Montana Town Suffers Heavy Property Damage Through Inundation

WIBAUX (Mont.) June 7. (AP)—Four persons were known to have been drowned, three-fourths of the buildings in town were damaged, and two-thirds of the town's area was inundated by a wall of flood water in Beaver Creek estimated to have been fifteen feet in height, which swept over Wibaux today.

The dead are: Rev. A. A. Sifert, pastor of the Methodist Church, and Mrs. Sifert, Sever Knutson, a farmer, and a man named Thompson.

The business and residential districts were covered by water to a depth of eight feet. Railway and highway bridges were washed away.

Torrential rains Thursday afternoon and night sent Beaver Creek on a rampage. Tonight the water is receding, although the creek still is out of its banks.

CLOUDBURST LASHES PART OF NORTH DAKOTA

MANDAN (N. D.) June 7. (AP)—Four railroad bridges were reported washed out and transcontinental rail and telephone and telegraph service disrupted today by a cloudburst which dumped five inches of rain on Western North Dakota and Eastern Montana last night.

Beach, N. D., reported 4.93 inches of rainfall.

Chicagoans to Walk on "Go"

CHICAGO, June 7. (Exclusive)—The Chicago police today tried to make pedestrians stop and go with the traffic lights, as they do in Los Angeles. It was a tough job.

Commissioner Russell and Capt. Matchett of the traffic division said there will be no arrests for the first two weeks, but after the public receives its education there will be prosecutions. The penalty, as provided in ordinances passed two years ago, which never has been enforced, carries a fine of from $1 to $25.

CHURCH-WAR END VISIONED

Mexican President Confirms Report of Meeting With Archbishop Ruiz to Discuss Issue

MEXICO CITY, June 7. (AP)—President Emilio Portes Gil tonight gave to the Associated Press the first official confirmation of press reports that Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz is en route here to discuss with him the problem of the Catholic Church in Mexico.

"Archbishop Ruiz requested an interview with me through our embassy at Washington, which request I have granted," he said.

It was the first public declaration on the religious question that the President has made since his announcement early in May that he was willing to discuss the subject with representatives of the Catholic Church.

Several leaders of the church, who for the most part had left Mexico City, have returned in the past few days and others are on their way here. Reliable sources have said that Archbishop Ruiz was appointed Papal Nuncio in order to undertake settlement of the question that has been in an acute stage for three years.

Archbishop Ruiz and Bishop Pascual Diaz of Tabasco are expected to arrive here tomorrow night. Conferences with government officials probably will begin on Monday.

United States Ambassador Morrow and Manuel Tellez, Mexican Ambassador at Washington, also will be here, a fact labeled officially as a coincidence, but which many believe to have a direct connection with the negotiations. Mr. Morrow particularly has been foremost in his desire that the problem which has so long agitated Mexico be solved.

Exact nature of the negotiations between the government and the Roman Catholic Church has not been divulged, but it is known that church officials wasted no time in instituting them after the recent statement of President Portes Gil indicating willingness to consider a settlement. Some even said the understanding already has been reached and that the proceeding this week will be largely in the nature of mere ratification.

HEART PUTS RUTH ABED

Babe's Ailment Diagnosed

Doctor Says Illness is Not Serious and He'll be Out in Ten Days

Yankee Offices Deluged With Queries When Grave Rumors Circulate

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—From a maze of conflicting reports as to the condition of Babe Ruth emerged tonight a statement to the Yankee club from Dr. Edward A. King that the home-run hitter of the world champions has "muscular heart trouble," but is not seriously ill.

The mighty man of baseball has been out of the line-up of the Yankees since last Saturday with a congested lung and cold. Early today published reports that the great slugger had suffered heart attacks, which would keep him out of the game a month and perhaps forever, started a flood of telephone calls to the Yankee offices. Local and long-distance queries came as to the latest reports from the Babe's bedside and later in the day the questions were to check on a report that the big fellow had died.

Edward G. Barrow, secretary of the Yankees, announced that the club physician expects Ruth to return to the Yankee Stadium in "about a week or ten days." Previously Mrs. Ruth had reported her husband sleeping but "very ill."

NO FEARS FELT

Mr. Barrow declared he feels no apprehension and is quite sure the star of the team will be completely recovered in a few more days.

"The Babe declares he is all right now and he would be in there today if the doctor would allow him to play," said Barrow.

This is Ruth's first extended illness since 1925.

Since he signed a contract in January, 1927, calling for a salary of $70,000 a season for three years, the home-run leader of all time has played practically every game.

He hit his tenth home run of the season last Saturday and retired from the game, Monday he was unable to play and went to a hospital for an X-ray to determine the extent of the ravages of a deep-seated cold. Later announcement was made that a lung was congested and he would be out of the game "at least a week." Since then he has rested quietly at his apartment in West Eighty-sixth street.

INQUIRERS SHOOED AWAY

The illness of the star was shrouded in deep mystery at the apartment in which he makes his home with his bride of two months. Doormen and elevator starters, gently at first, but with growing brusqueness, shooed away inquirers, and there was a distinct suggestion that "hush" was the predominant note. As the king of swat is domiciled on the seventh floor, no anxiety of his anxious friends in the lobby below is likely to disturb him.

Mrs. Ruth contented herself with describing the patient as "very ill," and referring questioners to Dr. King.

"The Babe" himself was quoted later as declaring that "I'll be as good as ever in ten days."

Later Mrs. Ruth explained to the Associated Press she meant by "very ill" only that his condition is such as to prevent him from tackling interviewers or cameramen who besieged the Ruth apartments all day.

"Babe needs a rest, that's all," she declared. "If he could get up to the stadium today he would be in uniform. Nobody could stop him."

INDIANA POLITICIAN SLAIN

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) June 7. (AP) Edward J. Blankert, 41 years of age, politician and cigar store operator of Mishawaka, was shot and killed today in a road house six miles east of Mishawaka. The slayer escaped.

FILM'S FATE BEMOANED

Industry Dead in Britain

Lies Prostrate Before Feet of Hollywood and Latest Child—Talkies

Fortunes Spent in Bolstering Business Hopelessly Lost by Stagnation

LONDON, June 7. (Exclusive)—According to the word of its own producers and critics, the British film industry is dead and its prostrate form lies at the feet of Hollywood and its latest child—the talkie.

"The British film industry has suffered a more severe blow than any other of our industries in the last generation. Our film-producing business now is back where it was in prewar days," one of the leading newspapers states tonight.

The film quota act, which insisted that 5 per cent of the pictures shown in Great Britain should be British-made, has become ludicrous. Local producers cannot even furnish 5 per cent. And the president of the Film Artists' Guild this week estimated that only 5 per cent of the film artists working last summer can find a livelihood today.

AT STANDSTILL

The production of British films is at a standstill. Established artists and leading players have been out of work for six months and only one company out of fourteen, which a year ago thought they were on the verge of prosperity, are doing anything at all.

This month, which was to have seen forty pictures being produced, sees only four. Against the thirty-three British films made the first half of the last year, there were just eleven to show this year. Over half of these have been made by one single company, British International Films, at Elstree.

FORTUNES LOST

An analysis of the market value of shares of the fourteen most important British film companies show that they are worth just 40 per cent of their former value. And British shareholders lost thereby just a neat $8,000,000.

A small fortune was spent here last year, when Great Britain determined to fight Hollywood with its own "million dollar" productions. Superfilms became the order of the day and money was spent lavishly on pieces like "Picadilly," "A Little Bit of Fluff"—the latter, "pathetically well named" in the words of a london screen critic.

AIRING OF FRENCH FILM FIGHT NOW DUE

WASHINGTON, June 7. (Exclusive)—Following up the State Department's protest against the French "four-to-one" plan, whereby the United States would be compelled to purchase one French motion picture for every four films exported to that country, Senator Shortridge today introduced a resolution calling on the State Department to furnish the Senate with copies of all correspondence relating to the controversy.

The idea is not so much to get action by Congress, which would be pretty much out of the question, as to give publicity to the French demands, bringing the matter to the attention of the theater-going public and bolstering up sentiment against such a proposition as the French film interests advance.

In presenting the resolution the California Senator delivered a speech assailing the French proposal, declaring that while France will find a ready market in America for all good films she may produce, the United States will not be coerced into buying and exhibiting inferior pictures which would find little patronage here. If France insists on the four-to-one plan, he declared, the result can only be an embargo both ways across the At-

POPE AFFIRMED AS RULER

Holy Father Once More Holds Temporal Power With Exchange of Treaty Ratifications

VATICAN CITY, June 7. (AP)—Pope Pius tonight stood solemnly affirmed as ruler over a temporal state such as his predecessors had governed prior to 1870, although his, by agreement, is less in extent. Joyful pealing of church bells throughout the city of Rome made public at noon the glad tidings that Premier Mussolini and Cardinal Gasparri had exchanged ratifications of the Lateran treaty ending the strife between the Holy See and the Kingdom of Italy.

There were no speeches and the simple ceremony required less than half an hour. One text had been signed by King Victor Emmanuel and the other by Pope Pius XI. The negotiators composed a "process-verbal" in which they stated their "reciprocally loyal and sincere wish to observe the letter and spirit of the Lateran accords."

This document recognizes sovereignty of the Pope and the status of Catholicism as the state religion in Italy. After signing the Cardinal and Premier talked together for fifteen minutes.

Finance Minister Mosconi then gave the Cardinal a check for 750,000,000 lire (about $39,000,000) representing the first payment of the financial convention arranged at the time the treaty was drawn up in February.

Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, read a letter from the Pope saying that his first act would be to send a benediction to the King, blessing him, his consort and all members of the royal family and bestowing a special benediction upon Chevalier Mussolini.

The King in reply telegraphed, "I am moved by the cordial telegram Your Holiness sent me at the moment when ratifications of the Lateran treaty were being exchanged. I participate in the hope expressed by Your Holiness and raise to God a prayer that the act of today may mark the beginning of a new and happy era in the relation of the church. Together with Her Majesty the Queen and my royal family I thank Your Holiness for the blessing you have imparted to us."

(Signed)

"VITTORIO EMMANUELE."

Outside the Vatican the conclusion of the signing was marked by opening the historic bronze doors to the right of St. Peter's which had been half closed, according to the Italian custom of mourning, since 1870. A company of Swiss Guards appeared with fixed bayonets on rifles instead of the spears they have carried for so long. A large crowd gathered to watch these outward manifestations and to cheer the entrance and exit of the Premier, the first visit he had ever made to the Vatican.

EX-FIANCEE AIDS TALLMAN HUNT

Jilted Woman Helps Officers at San Francisco

Coroner's Jury Returns Open Verdict After Hearing

Anonymous Phone Threats in Slaying Case Told

Over the tangled skeins of love revealed by the death of Mrs. Virginia Patty, for whose murder William L. Tallman, dapper young radioman is sought afloat and ashore, yesterday hovered the shadow of another woman whose revengeful spirit may point the law to the hiding place of the suspect.

The second woman, whose identity the police are shielding, is asserted once to have been Tallman's fiancee whom he jilted in his fascination for the titian-haired wife of a broker, and while her home near San Francisco is being watched, she is known to be aiding actively the police in their search for the man she once loved.

OPEN VERDICT RETURNED

Following an inquest over Mrs. Patty yesterday in which an open verdict was reached regarding Tallman, it was announced last night that her funeral will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. today from Pierce Brothers chapel. The place of interment was not announced.

The verdict of the Coroner's jury was as follows:

"Virginia Patty came to her death on the first day of June, 1929, by concussion of the brain caused by being hit on the head with a brick in the hands of some person unknown to this jury, in apartment 10, at 823 South Union avenue; and we find this assault was with homicide intent, and we recommend that one William L. Tallman be apprehended and interrogated in regard to the death."

During the inquest at which his wife's affair with Tallman and another man were gone into by Deputy Coroner Montfort and a half-dozen witnesses, Frank D. Patty, the slain woman's husband, grief-stricken and slowly becoming blind, nervously paced the halls outside the inquest room.

He was with friends and his father, C. C. Patty, who has come to Los Angeles from Portland to comfort his son. Mrs. Dora Scott, Mrs. Patty's mother, arrived in Los Angeles last night from Julesburg, Colo., to assist Patty in the burial arrangements.

PRINTS AWAITED

At the same time officers were comparing a group of excellent specimens of fingerprints obtained in the murder chamber with probable specimens of Tallman's obtained from the State Bureau of Criminal Identification.

It is probable that the police, Chief of Detectives Cline said, will not rely alone on the Sacramento finger prints but are awaiting specimens of Tallman's prints from the Bureau of Navigation at Washington officially filed by the government when Tallman enlisted several years ago in the Marine Corps.

Attorney Booth, who represents Patty, also brought to the attention of police yesterday a number of asserted telephonic threats which he said Mrs. Patty informed him were made against her. Before her death she is said to have received a number of threats by telephone at her luxurious Asbury apartment.

DEATH TIME SET

The verdict of the Coroner's jury which recommended apprehension and interrogation of Tallman set the date of Mrs. Patty's death for the first time officially as last Saturday between midnight and dawn.

That portion of the verdict apparently was based principally on the testimony of Miss Lillian Tipton, a stenographer, who occupies, with her mother, the apartment above the one in which the slain woman's body was found.

Miss Tipton testified she and her mother were awakened after midnight, and perhaps near dawn, Saturday by a woman screaming in the apartment beneath. She said the "terrible screams that came up from below sounded like a woman getting a terrible beating."

The witness said she thought she heard the distressed woman pleading for her life with "Earl," although her mother thought the woman was addressing a "Carl." Miss Tipton said she heard the woman screaming "don't" and "stop" between what sounded like a fist thudding on flesh.

"The last thing we heard," Miss Tipton said, "was a real big thud, as if she had been knocked down. I thought some man had come home intoxicated and the woman was getting the worst of it. We didn't report the noise because mother said it was none of our business."

WOMAN IDENTIFIED

Attorney Booth, counsel for Patty, was the first witness called to identify the dead woman for the jury. He said he had known the Pattys for two and a half years and thought their home life "ideal." He said the last time he knew of Mrs. Patty being alive was last Friday afternoon when she called him in regard to transportation to Portland to visit her husband.

Mrs. J. M. Wilson, manager of the apartment-house where the body was found, and who discovered the body, partially identified a photograph of Tallman as the "Mr. C. Johnson" who rented the apartment a few days previous to the gruesome find.

Mrs. Wilson went to the apartment last Tuesday morning to supervise the changing of the bed liner and as she swung the folding bed to the floor she saw the woman's body trussed up on the clothes hooks.

The witness said she received a telephone call on Friday in which "Virginia" left a message for "Mr. Johnson" to call her.

Frank C. Patton, a shoe salesman and friend of Mrs. Patty, saw her May 28, he testified, when he accepted an invitation to go to her apartment.

He said he met Mrs. Patty through an Eva Shultz and that the former woman became his customer for shoes and stockings. About May 28 she went into the Wilshire district store where he is employed, bought some stockings from him and invited him to ride with her in her new automobile.

During the ride she extended him a further invitation to visit her at her Asbury apartments, which he accepted. He remained with her from about 6:30 until 8:45 p.m. on that engagement last Friday.

While in the apartment drinking wine with her, he said he saw a note for Mrs. Patty to call "Mr. Johnson." He said he asked her about it but she said she already had answered the call and volunteered the information that the man's name was not "Johnson."

He left early because Mrs. Patty told him she was going to see her cousin that evening and was leaving for Portland the next day. In response to questions Patton said he accepted Mrs. Patty's invitation because "she said her husband was away and she was lonesome."

Andy M. Deguis, Mrs. Patty's chauffeur, testified he drove Mrs. Patty, Vivian Brennan of San Francisco and Tallman to luncheon at the Virginia Hotel at Long Beach May 19, last, and drove the two women and Tallman about on other occasions, but never took her to the apartment-house where she was found dead.

Detective-Lieutenants Ryan and Starrett were called to testify to the investigation, the discovery of the body and the collection of evidence asserted to connect Tallman to the case. Capt. Slaten, in charge of the investigation, attended the inquest, as did Dep. Dist.-Atty. Scott.

Captain of Detectives George Smith, head of the Lincoln Heights detective bureau, yesterday was appointed chief of the police homicide detail at Central headquarters, succeeding Captain of Detectives James Bean, suspended Thursday for "apparent negligence" in the Patty case investigation.

SHIFT EXPLAINED

On the shift of officers, Chief of Detectives Cline issued the following statement:

"Capt. Bean has been suspended because we hold him responsible for not sending teletype messages to all outlying stations, including San Pedro, and notifying them immediately of the murder with complete description of the suspected man and all other information in his possession.

"Also, we hold him responsible for overlooking the covering of outgoing boats.

"As head of the homicide squad he was in charge of the case and it was his duty to see that all details were covered."

While Bean is facing investigation and trial before the Police Commission Detective-Lieutenant Paul D. Pitman was appointed chief of the Lincoln Heights detective detail.

TALLMAN HUNT ON BENSON VAIN

Belief Expressed Fugitive Still Aboard

Seen Going Below After Time of Escape

Captain Orders Hatches Battened Down

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Representative

ABOARD THE S.S. ADMIRAL BENSON, AT SEA, June 7. (By Radio)—Strong belief that William L. Tallman, marine radio operator, accused of the murder of Mrs. Virginia Patty at Los Angeles, remains aboard this vessel as she plys the coastwise ship lanes to Oregon ports, was aroused tonight as the missing man was reported seen on the engine-room stairs after he had been locked in his cabin Wednesday night.

Capt. Martin A. Sohst, master, and Detective Lieutenant Frank Condaffer of Los Angeles announced they have learned from members of the "black gang," or enginemen, that Tallman was noticed on the stairs at 9:15 o'clock Wednesday night, before he was found to be missing when this ship docked at San Francisco at midnight that date.

HATCHES CLOSED

Before that information was obtained in the "black gang," the latest hour Tallman was seen was at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday when he was escorted from dinner in the ship's saloon to the stateroom and locked in. Thus he is believed to have removed the door locks, escaped in twenty-five minutes and became a fugitive aboard in the dark holds of this vessel.

On the information, Capt. Sohst has ordered the hatch over the aft hold battened down, and it will not be opened until the Admiral Benson stands in at Astoria late tomorrow.

Capt. Sohst, Lieut. Condaffer and officers of the ship have kept up a constant search since the ship was under way out of the Golden Gate. Among cargo, in closets, and lockers, under life-boat covers and behind bulkheads the search goes on to no success thus far.

CREW QUESTIONED

Discharge of all cargo in northern ports will greatly facilitate the search, and at Astoria and Portland every bilge, bulkhead and other possible hiding-place aboard will be looked into, Capt. Sohst and Condaffer say.

Tallman, who formerly was a radio operator on his ship where he met Mrs. Patty, has many friends among the crew, and the ship's officers have questioned several, but all have signified a willingness to help locate Tallman, if he is aboard.

FATHER INSISTS SON STILL ALIVE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7. (Exclusive)—William L. Tallman, sought as the suspected "brickbat murderer" of Mrs. Virginia Patty in Los Angeles is still as much of a will-o'-the-wisp tonight as when the police burst into his stateroom on the steamer Admiral Benson and found it empty.

Though the man-hunt went on by land and by sea from Los Angeles to the Oregon coast, not a clew was obtained by police, detectives and special investigators of a dozen cities and counties.

Into the case suddenly entered reports of death threats directed toward Mrs. Patty for a month past by sinister and lurking individuals.

Miss Vivienne Brennan of San Francisco, credited with having given the tip which sent Frank D. Patty, the husband, on the trail of Tallman, is declared by the Los Angeles police to have known of Mrs. Patty's reputed peril. This Miss Brennan emphatically denied.

FATHER HAS THEORY

The death-threat story divided interested with the declaration of the radio operator's father, H. P. Tallman, that his paternal intuition convinced him that his son is alive and that he is in "hiding to protect some third person."

Tears rained down the father's cheeks and he choked again and again with sobs.

"I knew he was mixed up with Mrs. Patty," said the elder Tallman, "and when I talked to him about it he told me he had a sincere regard for her. That's another reason why he could not have killed her.

"I am sure that the reason for his escape or suicide, as some people say—though I won't believe it—was because he did not want to get the family mixed up into it. I am certain he is protecting someone else."

MEETING DESCRIBED

Mrs. Patty's first meeting with Tallman was described by Miss Brennan.

"I did not know either well," she said, "I was introduced to Mrs. Patty on the Admiral Benson when it was sailing south from Portland last July.

"I went with her to the wireless room to send a radiogram, and that, I believe, was the first time she met Tallman, the radio operator. But whether he knew her as 'Mrs.' or 'Miss' Virginia Patty, I don't know.

"When that boat arrived at San Francisco, Tallman, I learned, took Mrs. Patty to his apartment, introducing her as his sister.

"I don't know Mr. Patty. And as for threats against Mrs. Patty, I know nothing about them either."

A life preserver from the Admiral Benson, found on the Oakland side of San Francisco Bay, caused a flurry for a time today until it was learned that it had been picked up Wednesday several hours before the Admiral Benson entered the bay. This seemed to dispose of the possibility that Tallman had used it to swim ashore from the ship, although police were unable to account for its presence there.

GENDARMES BATTLING LYNCHERS

French Police Engaged in Losing Fight to Save Slayer of Two from Mob

LIMOGES (France) June 8 (Saturday) (Exclusive)—What is practically a state of civil war exists here with the police force fighting a losing battle against 100 irate citizens who are attempting to break into the jail and lynch Charles Barataud, who, although he murdered two men, yesterday was sentenced to life imprisonment instead of being condemned to the guillotine, through an error in the wording of the jury's report.

At 3 o'clock this morning the fighting continued with nearly 100 injured, including an old man, two boys and thirty-seven policemen who were taken to the hospital, believed to be seriously wounded.

The verdict yesterday afternoon was greeted with a storm of rage from the entire town, which has been following the sensational trial of the abnormal youth. As the prisoner was led from the courtroom, thousands of people who packed the street howled, "Kill him! Kill him!"

Barataud, however, was successfully bundled into a patrol wagon and rushed to the jail.

City's Postal Receipts Jump

WASHINGTON, June 7. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles' total postal receipts for May, last, gave her seventh place among cities of the United States. The total receipts for the month were $904,026.20, and May, 1928, total was $808,618.27. The increase was $95,407.93, or 11.8 per cent, over last year.

San Francisco's total amounted in May to $773,276.59, an increase of $18,845.09. In May, this year, Los Angeles exceeded Kansas City and Cleveland in total postal receipts and was outdistanced only by New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis and Detroit.

ENGLAND'S FILM INDUSTRY DEAD

Lies Prostrate Before Feet of Hollywood

Fortunes Lost in Trying to Bolster Business

lantic, with the French public being deprived entirely of American films and France finding no outlet whatever in this country for the product of her ambitious but so far untalented cinema industry.

CHALLENGE TO FRENCH

Senator Shortridge's speech was, in effect, an invitation for France to get busy and perfect her motion-picture industry and compete with the United States on the basis of merit. Meanwhile, he said, this country will offer no objection to any reasonable tariff which the French government sees fit to impose on American films.

The American-Franco film exchange now is based on a seven-to-one plan which, while bad enough from the standpoint of American producers who have to "write off" most French films as so much financial loss, has been accepted on the theory that France is entitled to a reasonable amount of assistance in trying to build up her motion-picture industry. But the proposed four-to-one plan is considered impossible by film concerns in this country, considering the present inferior quality of the pictures that France offers. A recent example was the film "Joan of Arc," which failed absolutely to find a market in the United States and which, finally, was sent here and there for free showings to such organizations as the National Press Club in Washington. Theaters would not accept it, being unable to afford to "carry it" in lieu of current domestic films with greater box-office attraction.

CONTROVERSY REVIEWED

Senator Shortridge in his speech reviewed the controversy between the two countries at some length. He said, in part:

"It is gratifying to note that our State Department is giving attention to this altogether indefensible interference with legitimate commerce between friendly nations. It is to be hoped that our government will make it perfectly plain to France that we do not look with indifference on this threatened attack on a great American industry, and that if that industry is discriminated against and barred out of France by regulations and demands amounting to an embargo, we shall find ways and means to convince that republic of the unwisdom and folly of her legislation.

"What is the nature of this attack? What is this four-to-one quota plan that France threatens to put into operation? It is this: Each producer of a motion picture in France, whether the picture be good, bad or indifferent, will receive free license to import foreign films. This plan is known as the four-to-one contingent or quota system. American producers will be required to purchase one French picture for every four American pictures exhibited in France.

QUESTION OF POPULARITY

"Now it so happens that our superior motion pictures are very popular in France; there is a market for them there, whereas the French motion pictures do not attract American audiences.

"Hitherto we have been compelled to buy at exorbitant price one French picture, however valueless, for every seven American pictures sent into France for exhibition. This was bad enough; but now we are called on to buy one French picture for every four American pictures sent to that country for exhibition.

"I concede the unquestioned right of France to impose such a tariff on American imported pictures as she thinks necessary for the protection and encouragement of her motion-picture industry. Indeed, today in the exercise of that right France imposes a tariff on our motion pictures substantially twice the amount our government imposes on imported French pictures."

BOLT STOPS PLANE AS IT HITS RADIO

Air Mail Carrier for Leviathan Loses His Way After Blaze in Air

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—An electrical storm which set fire to the radio of the plane tonight prevented an attempt to transport mail from the incoming liner Leviathan by airplane.

The plane took off from Newark (N. J.) airport today with 10,000 pieces of mail intended for delivery to the liner at sea. Plans also had been made for the plane to pick up a load of mail from the ship and bring it to shore in a test intended to inaugurate regular ship-shore air mail service.

Lieutenant-Commander George H. Pond, pilot of the plane, tonight telephoned officers of the United States Lines, Inc., from Newport, R. I., announcing that his plane had landed there.

He said he had passed through a severe electrical storm, that the radio caught fire and that he lost his bearings because of inability to keep in radio communication with the ship or land stations.

Commander Pond said he will take off at daybreak tomorrow to attempt to pick up mail from the Leviathan before the ship reaches quarantine.

LAKE TUG TAKEN WITH LARGE LIQUOR CARGO

CLEVELAND (O.) June 7. (AP)—The tug Neptune, with a cargo which Coast Guardsmen said was Canadian liquor and ale valued at $35,000, was captured near the Cleveland Harbor today in the largest haul here in eight years, according to Capt. John Daly, who made the seizure. A man who gave his name as George White, Leamington, Ont., was found aboard.

VICTORS EASE LOSER'S YOKE

Reparations Commission Report Cuts Annuities; France Made Preferred Creditor

PARIS, June 7. (AP)—The experts' report to the Reparations Commission unanimously recommends reduction of the reparations annuities during the next thirty-seven years from 2,500,000,000 gold marks approximately $600,000,000) to an average of 2,050,000,000 gold marks (approximately $492,000,000.)

It recommends annuities of 1,700,000,000 gold marks (approximately $408,000,000) for the last twenty-two years subject to the profits of the international bank to be created under the reparations agreement and an arrangement for amortization in which the creditor powers will participate.

The report dwells upon the following advantages:

EASING THE YOKE

Decreasing the burden for Germany.

Taking of the reparations question out of politics.

Putting it into an organization of orderly business.

Elimination of outside organizations that exercise a control in Germany and the early mobilization of a considerable part of the first thirty-seven annuities to give the creditor powers important sums available for the reduction of their own interior debts.

The annuities are devisible into postponable and nonpostponable parts, but there is no distinction in the report between the part of the annuities applicable to reparations and the part attributed to payments of the creditor's war debt.

The report, in fact, seems to avoid carefully any coincidence between references to reparations and debts.

The unconditional part of the first thirty-seven annuities amounts to 660,000,000 gold marks (about $158,400,000) a year, of which 50,000,000 gold marks (about $12,000,000) is considered the part liable to commercialization. It may produce, at the present value, between 7,000,000,000 and 8,000,000,000 marks ($1,920,000,000.)

By special arrangement among the creditors France is accorded the bulk of the unconditional annuities for commercialisation purposes. It is calculated that this will give her the equivalent of 82,000,000,000 of francs, present value (about $1,680,000,000.)

The offer of the United States to reduce what is due it from Germany for the cost of the Army of Occupation in the Rhineland by 10 per cent was taken into account in the report. The rest of the cost of occupation will be liquidated in the first thirty-seven annuities.

Mixed claims are to be liquidated within fifty-two years.

The experts dwell especially on their attitude toward the commercialization of the reparations problem. They emphasize that they have tried to substitute processes of peace-time methods for war-time psychology.

The first part of the report is largely introductory. It deals with the terms under which the reparations problem was referred to the committee and it also gives a recital of the meetings that have been held.

OUT OF POLITICS

The next chapter is devoted entirely to the commercialisation program. It emphasizes the efforts to convert what has been a political debt into a business obligation through the floating at par of bonds.

The later chapters say that the different governments interested will take concerted action concerning floating of the reparations bonds in various markets. But any creditor is permitted to float in its own country as large an amount of the bonds as is desired for refunding of internal debts.

EXPERTS FINISH TASK AT PARIS

to a curtain. The blaze ran up the drapery rapidly, but the curtain was wrenched from its place before the woodwork could catch fire. The financial experts sat impassively in their places while this was going on.

The incident, coupled with the corrections in the text that were made in the last hour, delayed the actual ceremony about forty-five minutes beyond the time scheduled for it. When the room had been cleared of smoke, the doors were opened and newspaper men and photographers were admitted.

YOUNG MAKES SPEECH

The ceremony recalled on a small scale the scene at the signing of the Treaty of Versailles. Every inch of space in the room was occupied and many spectators stood outside in the hotel court, watching the ceremony through the windows. The crowd and the high-powered light projectors used by the movie men brought perspiration to the brow of every person in the tea room of the hotel, the apartment which has been the headquarters for the committee since its first meeting.

When the last expert had appended his signature to the numerous documents that make up the report, Chairman Young, without rising from his seat, addressed his colleagues as follows:

"Gentlemen of the committee of experts: I congratulate you upon the successful completion of your work. It has been an arduous task.

"The plan is not one made in secret by mere technicians, but is rather one which has taken account of public factors affecting a final settlement. That is the way wise business functions, and as business men we have taken that method here.

"We may fairly claim for the plan that it reflects our best judgment of what settlement ought to be arrived at, with the advice, not of governments, but of peoples functioning through a press which modern communications have made instantly effective in every interested country in the world."

SUMMARY ISSUED

A summary of the report was issued immediately after the signature ceremony. The full text, which will be released for publication Sunday morning, is a plain, straightforward document, written without frills and with the object evident in every paragraph of making clear to the governments represented on the reparations commission how the agreement was reached.

The text, in which there were changes up to the last minute, appears to have been studiously prepared to avoid linking reparations with war debts. Where the creditors' "out payments," meaning their payments abroad on account of war debts, come into question they are removed from the report and placed in special documents.

MORGAN RETURNS BUT REMAINS SILENT ON PACT

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—J. P. Morgan, senior member of the American delegation to the Paris reparations conference, returned today saying nothing about the conference, but breaking his custom as a sea traveler by posing for ship news photographers.

The banker said the spokesman for the American delegation was his banking associate and alternate at the conference, Thomas L. Lamont. Mr. Lamont and Owen D. Young, the other member of the American delegation, still are abroad.

LONDON PHONES CUT OFF

LONDON, June 7. (AP)—Fire in a cable conduit early today put thousands of London telephones out of commission. The blaze occurred between Blackfriar's Bridge and Temple, interrupting service between the city and the West End. Newspaper tape machines were put out of commission also.

of the river during the past season as a preliminary move toward the reclamation of 100,000 acres of delta land which lies south of the Yuma project in Mexico.

TEST SYSTEM

Allison explained that no effort was made to bring this new land under cultivation this season, as it is the plan of the engineers to have the new protection work tested through the annual flood run-off before spending large sums on the development of the property.

Allison declared that the Imperial lawes system and the Rodrigues dyke, which constitute Imperial Valley's first and secondary lines of defense, are intact and apparently able to withstand a flood discharge of 150,000 second feet. Today's discharge at Yuma was 85,100, but reports from the upper watershed indicate higher water during the latter part of the month.

Greek Cabinet Reconstructed

ATHENS (Greece) June 7. (AP)—The Venizelos Cabinet, which resigned recently, was reconstructed today with Premier Venizelos again holding the chief post.

The following changes were made: Pericles Argyropoulos became Minister of Foreign Affairs; Botzaris, Minister of Marine; Bingas, Minister of Justice; Spiridis, Minister of Agriculture, and Gen. Gonitas, Minister of Communication. The latter replaces Dr. Christomanos, who has taken the new Ministry of Hygiene.

UTAH SHIPPERS GROUP BACKS RAIL PROJECT

SALT LAKE CITY, June 7. (AP)—The Utah Shippers' Traffic Association today informed the Interstate Comerce Commission of its advocacy of the application of the Great Northern and Western Pacific railroads for permission to connect their lines between Klamath Falls, Or., and Keddie, Cal. The association asked permission to be heard in behalf of the application if the commission holds hearings.

WASHINGTON, June 7. (Exclusive)—[illegible] attitude of the Hoover administration toward the selection of judges and district attorneys is brewing a storm in Republican ranks in the senate.

Majority members of the [illegible] for years have regarded their recommendations for appointments to the Federal bench and to district attorneyships as final. It has been the practice of presiding senators to accept the senatorial recommendations.

But President Hoover and Attorney-Gen. Mitchell have indicated that they intend to make a close study of all appointees to those offices and furthermore that they will not be bound by Senatorial recommendations, although weight will be given to them.

No new judicial appointments have yet been made by Mr. Hoover aside from those judges who were assassinated during the last days of Calvin Coolidge and were elected upon. So the issue has not been drawn and the progressive Republican storm is still only brewing stage.

SOCIETY FACES WET SUMMONS

Count de Polignac's Patrons on Anxious Seat

Frenchman Taken in Raid Sails for Home

More Round-ups Scheduled by New York Drys

NEW YORK, June 7. (Exclusive) While the aristocracy of Park avenue as registered in the customers' book of Count Maxence De Polignac's international rum smuggling organization was wondering a bit fearfully tonight whether the government will carry out its threat to call them to the witness chair when the French nobleman and his thirty-six associates are tried next fall, the legion of undercover prohibition operatives here was preparing for two more raids against wholesale liquor rings.

One of the drives will be a second raking over of the extensive East Side while the other will strike at importation points along Long Island's south shore. Both round-ups are said to be linked with yesterday's coup which broke up an organization whose annual turnover was estimated in the millions.

COUNT DEPARTS

William J. Calhoun, chief of the undercover agents, is responsible for the statement that the Park-avenue section "will be well represented on the witness stand." He revealed that subpoenas will be issued for at least 100 of the Count's customers. However, such threats have been voiced by Federal officials before, but no society folks ever have been called here.

Meanwhile Count de Polignac fled to his native France on the French liner Paris just as he had planned before the prohibition men nabbed him in his room in the Savoy Plaza Hotel. The Count received permission to sail on the personal guarantee of Harry S. Friedel, who wrote his bond for $25,000 as a representative of the Equitable Surety Company. The Equitable company had first written the bond and then asked to be released when the Count signified his intention of sailing. Friedel stepped in with his personal guarantee.

Just how far the United States can go in the prosecution of Count de Polignac is not clear. His exact status in relation to the prohibition law is open to widely different interpretations. Whether the Frenchman is guilty of any offense in arranging for the sale of French liquors in Canada, even though these bottles eventually found their way into the United States, is doubted in some quarters.

DENIES VIOLATIONS

The Count vigorously denies any violation. He insists he is an agent for Pomeroy Greno, French champagne manufacturers, but says he is certain he has sold no goods in the United States since prohibition. The little cache of fine beverages found in his hotel suite, the Count explained, had been provided to insure a happy farewell party when he sailed.

"All they will ever have against my client," said Thomas O'Rourke Gallagher, attorney for the aristocrat, "is a little misdemeanor case. He just brought along a few bottles of wine from Canada."

Robert H. Watts, chief prosecutor here in Federal prohibition matters, feels differently.

"The case against these men is one of the most perfectly developed I ever have encountered," he said, "and we expect to go before the grand jury next week. In most cases indictments under the Jones law will be asked and if we do not have enough evidence an ordinary conspiracy to violate the prohibition act will be sought."

Meanwhile, nineteen brand-new warrants were issued today for the two new clean-up raids.

WASHINGTON GROWING DRY

More Embassies Consider Following British Lead; Cost of Drinks Making Dinners Arid

WASHINGTON, June 7. (Exclusive)—At least one and perhaps several of the smaller legations in Washington plan to follow the lead of Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador, and stop the serving of diplomatic liquor at official functions where large numbers of American officials are to be present.

Although it will not stop bringing in whiskies and wines for the use of members of his diplomatic staff, Ambassador Carlos G. Davila of the Chilean Embassy has decided to serve no intoxicating refreshments at the larger diplomatic functions which he gives in the future. Minister Ricardo J. Alfaro of Panama is said by members of his staff to be considering taking the same step.

COSTS HEAVY

The cost of serving liquor to thirsty Americans who eagerly accept invitation to diplomatic functions furnishes one of the reasons why some of the smaller foreign missions are contemplating serving less liquid refreshments.

A number of the larger embassies are considering giving more dry dinners in the future. In the past liquor has almost invariably been served at all diplomatic functions.

Ambassador Davila created a mild sensation in Washington society several weeks ago when he failed to provide the usual alcoholic stimulants at his dinner for Vice-President Curtis and Mrs. (Dolly) Gann.

This dinner was given outside the embassy limits. Since that time smaller functions given at the Chilean Embassy have not been dry.

EMBASSY NOT DRY

The Chilean Ambassador denied reports today that he has placed his embassy and diplomatic staff on the water wagon. In response to other queries he said that he would not make any statement as to his future plans regarding diplomatic liquors. Members of his staff made it clear, however, that the Ambassador, who recently imported 1400 bottles in one consignment, has no intention of stopping the practice of bringing in liquor.

The ban on liquor importations was still in effect at the British Embassy today but some of the more optimistic of the sixteen members of his staff expressed hope that the Ambassador would decide to permit the shipment of small amounts for medicinal purposes and for the personal use of the diplomats serving under him.

LIQUOR ON HIPS

Scores of letters, some compliimenting Ambassador Howard for his dry stand, and others advising him that the United States does not want to take away his privileges, have been received at the embassy.

At present diplomats are allowed to serve liquor in rooms in hotels and at their tables when they go to Washington night clubs. On several occasions dry enforcement officials have objected to diplomats bringing hip flasks to restaurants and clubs but of late months nothing has been done to stop the practice. The policy of the prohibition bureau now is to interfere as little as possible with diplomatic liquor.

FEDERAL CRIME INDEX PLANNED

New Commission to Compile Nation-wide Statistics

Such Assembly of Figures First in History

Complete Accurate Picture of Conditions Needed

WASHINGTON, June 7. (Exclusive)—For the first time in its history, the United States is to have a national crime index containing all available official statistics on law enforcement and crime for every section of the country.

The Hoover law enforcement commission already has begun the task of assembling the official figures on all kinds of crimes, ranging from juvenile delinquency to murder. Before the commission ends its labors it expects to have a complete accurate picture of the whole crime situation throughout the United States.

"Our greatest difficulty," Chairman George W. Wickersham, [illegible]nce today, "is to obtain accurate statistics on crime which will give us a true picture of the existing condition. Before we begin operation we must find out what the trouble is and locate the places where crime is most prevalent. This task is baffling because there is no place where we can obtain comparative statistics on crime. The statistics, we believe, are obtainable, but they never have been assembled together."

Chairman Wickersham said the commission is searching for as accurate a picture as it can get on the whole crime situation, the various kinds of crime, the lack of efficiency in handling prosecutions and in administering the law and congestion in the courts.

During its first two days, the commission has been busy analyzing the crime situation and making preparations for executive and open hearings to be held later this year. An attempt also has been made to find the key men who know most about crime and enforcement conditions so they can be called before the commission for examination. Adolescent crime will be one of the first subjects studied by the commission, Chairman Wickersham said today.

ALL ENLISTED IN LOCUST WAR

Sixty-five Tons of the Pests Already Destroyed by Bulgarians

SOFIA (Bulgaria) June 7. (AP)—Every man and woman between 16 and 80 years of age was mobilized by the government today to fight plagues of locusts which are destroying crops in the Haskovo district of Southern Bulgaria.

Farmers already have exterminated no less than sixty-five tons of the pests, but have failed to check the depredations.

YOUNG TO ACT ON BANK TAX

Course Depends on Federal Statute Changes

Governor May Call Special Legislative Session

Riley Will Go to Capital for Discussion

SACRAMENTO, June 7. (AP)—Gov. Young indicated today that in the event efforts to obtain a modification of the Federal statutes are successful to permit States to tax securities of national banks he will call a special session of the State Legislature to prepare the necessary enabling measure.

The session probably would not be held until early next year, it was said. Unless a special session is called the State would have to wait until the next regular legislative session in 1931 and any measure passed relative to the tax would not become effective until 1933. A special session would save the State about three years' tax revenues.

State Controller Riley is to leave for Washington, D. C., next Wednesday to discuss the tax tangle with California Congressional representatives.

Leading California bankers are to be here early next week before Riley leaves to confer with him and other State officials on bank taxes.

NEW YORK HONORED

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) June 7. (AP)—M. S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Company, today was elected president of the National Electric Light Association.

WIND STIRS FEARS FOR LINDBERGH

Safety of Tiny Love Ship Questioned by Navigators as Heavy Squalls Whip Sea

KENNEBUNKPORT (Me.) June 7. (Exclusive)—Heavy squalls off the rocky coast of Maine today aroused fresh fears for the safety of the Mousette, tiny cabin cruiser aboard which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride, Anne Morrow Lindbergh, are cruising.

The craft last was sighted today off the Cape Elizabeth light, headed toward North Haven and the Morrow's summer home after the erstwhile Lone Eagle had raised anchor and resumed his honeymoon sea voyage. The world-famous couple were discovered in this tiny Maine summer resort and fishing village by the New York newspaper plane which carried an interviewer and cameraman to the honeymoon craft yesterday.

It was estimated that the Mousette, making eight knots an hour, was opposite Portland by nightfall tonight and because coastal vessels and fishermen reported stormy weather over the shoals and ledges a few miles out, it was feared that the tiny boat might be swamped or piled up on the rocks.

Uttering his famous creed, "I have nothing to say," Lindy slipped out of York Harbor at about 8 o'clock this morning. Passing the Goat Island light, he ignored altogether the salute of three bells paid him by Capt. Jim Anderson, night keeper of the lighthouse. Capt. Anderson said it was the first time in his memory the salute had gone unanswered.

Olympic Games Bid for Hoover

WASHINGTON, June 7. (Exclusive)—President Hoover today was invited to personally open the Olympic Games in July, 1932, in Los Angeles. The invitation was presented to the President personally by William May Garland of Los Angeles.

Mr. Garland returned from the latest European conference on the Olympic Games last Tuesday.

Three Students Injured in Crash

FLORENCE (Ariz.) June 7. (AP)—Harold Powers, Phoenix student who graduated from the University of Arizona Wednesday, was critically injured and two companions, William Greer, Phoenix, and Alfred Towne, Tucson, also students at the university, were less seriously hurt when an automobile Powers was driving overturned fifteen miles south of here this morning.

STUDENT ENDS LIFE

INDIANAPOLIS, June 7. (AP)—Charles Thomas, 19 years of age, a senior at Arsenal Technical High School here, ended his life today because he was not to graduate this year. The boy died from poison he obtained from the school laboratory.

Flyers Held Up by Storm Spot

OLD ORCHAL, (Me.) June 7. (AP)—One bad storm spot along the ocean course the monoplanes Green Flash and Yellow Bird propose to follow to Europe today marred the best weather map the American and French flyers have received in nearly three weeks of waiting. They hope to get away tomorrow.

Plans for a take-off today were halted when Dr. James H. Kimball of the New York Weather Bureau advised Lewis A. Yancey and Roger Q. Williams of the Green Flash that rain and winds of gale force were prevalent 1200 miles off the coast.

Texas Military Commander Dies

BROWNSVILLE (Tex.) June 7. (AP)—Col. W. T. Johnston, 65 years of age, commander of Fort Brown, died here today after a short illness.

Col. Johnston was the recipient of a Distinguished Service Medal and a silver star citation, having organized and directed the officers' training camps during the World War.

GERMANS OBJECT TO MINORITIES REPORT

MADRID, June 7. (AP)—The Council of the League of Nations, meeting privately as a committee to consider the minorities report of a special subcommittee, continued its discussions today. Dr. Von Schubert, the German representative, objected for Germany to the minorities report and asked that a new report be drafted.

WIDOW BOWS TO WILL OF HUSBAND'S SLAYER

MILWAUKEE, June 7. (Exclusive)—A woman whose husband was shot and killed twenty-five years ago today issued a public statement partially exonerating the slayer. A receipt of a $1000 bequest in the will of the slayer was contingent on the widow's statement.

Fred W. Borchert, whose plea of self-defense won his acquittal after three trials for the shooting of Otto Wiskow, his book-keeper, in 1905, left an estate of $30,000. In his will he bequeathed $1000 to Mrs. Wiskow on condition that she issue the statement in defense of his (Borchert's) character.

In the statement Mrs. Wiskow declares her husband was of friendly and jovial disposition except when drunk, and when intoxicated he had threatened to kill Borchert.

What a relief to mothers!

—a CLEAN Soda Fountain

WHAT is it that mother wants first at the soda fountain? For her children? For herself?

Cleanliness! . . . We asked hundreds of women to give their specifications for a perfect fountain. "Cleanliness" invariably came first.

Spic and span surroundings. Sparkling glassware. Neat attendants. Pure ice cream, syrups and food. Dainty, appetizing servings. Rigid sanitation throughout.

And so Green Lantern Fountains are patterned after that ideal. The kind of place women will want to come for refreshments. Where they will want to send their children.

A fine thing for Los Angeles. There are dozens of Green Lantern Fountains now in operation—all pledged to the ideal of courteously and efficiently serving GOOD FOOD and DRINKS with strict cleanliness.

Stop at a Green Lantern Fountain today and see what a good job mother has done in helping us give Los Angeles an improved soda fountain service.

Hey Kids! They're BIG at GREEN LANTERN FOUNTAINS . . . . . .

FARM BILL PUT UP TO SENATE

House Passes Conference Committee's Measure

Stiff Fight Now Expected Over Debenture Plan

Administration Forces Feel Certain of Victory

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—The immediate fate of farm-relief legislation was placed squarely in the hands of the Senate today after the House approved, without a roll call vote and practically without debate, the joint conference committee's farm bill from which the export debenture plan was eliminated.

All that now stands between sending the measure to President Hoover for his approval is a favorable vote in the Senate, but advocates of debentures are prepared to offer stiff opposition to the acceptance of the bill on the ground that the House overstepped its authority by declining to vote directly on the debenture proposal.

LEADERS HOPEFUL

Leaders of the administration forces are confident, however, that they have enough support to approve the conference measure, declaring three or four Senators, who voted for the debenture plan when it was inserted into the Senate farm bill by a 47-to-44 vote, will change their votes.

Reaching the Senate a few hours after it had been approved by the House, the bill was made the order of business upon motion of Senator McNary of Oregon, who has piloted many controversial agricultural measures through the Senate. He obtained consent for the Senate to start consideration of the bill tomorrow.

Although the debenture group lost that section in the conference committee, its leaders are prepared to insist strenuously for rejection of the conference bill.

DEMOCRATS FIRM

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, returned to the Senate today and immediately laid plans for holding the Democratic lines intact in favor of rejecting the measure. Members of the Republican Independent group, which joined an almost solid Democratic line-up for debentures last month, also are prepared to hold fast against administration stalwarts.

"I think the House should vote on debentures," Senator Robinson said. "I shall demand that it do so. If the House should vote the proposition down, I do not say that I will insist on the debenture plan."

The House approved the conference farm bill with little debate.

TEMPER LEADS TO DEATH LEAP

Suicide's Fatal Plunge Laid to Brooding Over Lack of Self-Control

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7. (AP)—Brooding over his inability to control his "bad temper," which he imagined was making life unbearable for his family, Walter P. Rutledge, 64 years of age, retired real estate man, leaped to his death from the twentieth story of a Montgomery-street building today. His body crashed through the top of a parked automobile.

Three years ago Rutledge and his wife came from Fair Oaks, near Sacramento, to San Francisco. Previously they had lived in Illinois.

Fires Destroy Many Homes

THE PAS (Man.) June 7. (AP)—Several hundred persons in the mining camps of Mile 83 and Cranberry Portage are homeless today as a result of fires that destroyed the settlements.

The tiny settlement of Mile 83 was reduced to ruins by a fire that started in one of the dwellings Wednesday night, rendering the entire population of 400 homeless and causing most of them to lose all their personal belongings.

At Cranberry Portage more than a score of homes were destroyed by a forest fire

REDISTRICTING FIGHT GOES ON

Constitution Amendment to Exclude Aliens Offered

Kansan Wants Word Persons Changed to Citizens

Speaker Names Conferees to Represent House

WASHINGTON, June 7. (Exclusive) — Undismayed by defeat in their efforts to exclude aliens from Congressional representation through an amendment to the reapportionment-census bill, supporters of the proposal in Congress launched a fight today to accomplish the same purpose through an amendment to the Federal Constitution.

Representative Hoch, Republican, of Kansas, introduced an amendment which would strike from the Constitution the word "persons" and substitute the word "citizens," thereby leaving aliens out of the population count as it applies to apportionment of the House of Representatives. If it should be passed by Congress, it would still have to be ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the forty-eight States.

GATHERS STRONG SUPPORT

Similar constitutional amendments have been presented before, in both House and Senate, but none has reached a vote. It appears improbable that efforts to bring about a vote will succeed at this time, although unquestionably strong support for alien exclusion has developed at both ends of the Capitol in connection with consideration of the reapportionment and census legislation passed by the House yesterday.

In fact House sentiment against giving aliens Congressional representation was strong enough to insert an exclusion amendment temporarily in the reapportionment bill, but this proposal, along with the one similarly counting out negroes more than 21 years of age not permitted to vote, was dropped before final passage of the measure yesterday when it became apparent that if they were allowed to stand the legislation would be killed.

While Mr. Hoch was introducing his proposed constitutional amendment, Speaker Longworth was naming the conferees who will represent the House in ironing out differences in the reapportionment-census measure between House and Senate. He appointed Representatives Chindblom of Illinois, McLeod of Michigan and Finn of Connecticut, Republicans, and Rankin of Mississippi and Lozier of Missouri, Democrats.

The main questions before the conference will be whether November, 1929, or May, 1930, shall be the date for taking the census, and whether the 100,000 or more enumerators shall be under civil service. Other differences between the two branches are of technical character and will require little discussion.

In a statement today Representative Hoch said that many members who voted against alien exclusion as part of the reapportionment-census bill have told him they would support it as a separate proposition.

CHURCHILL MAY VISIT AMERICA

Ex-Chancellor Believed to be Planning Tour to Several Lands

LONDON, June 7. (AP)—Winston Churchill, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, who is busy moving his effects from his official residence, No. 11 Downing street, to his country home in Westerham, generally is believed to be planning an extensive period of relaxation from political affairs by a tour to Japan, Canada, the United States and South America.

His personal secretary said that Mr. Churchill is contemplating such a trip, but no definite arrangements have been made. If he should go it is thought he will not return to England until November.

EAST AREA OF TURKEY IN REVOLT

Grave Political Unrest Reported in London But Denied by Constantinople

LONDON, June 7. (AP)—A dispatch from Jerusalem to the Jewish Telegraph Agency today says that grave political unrest throughout the eastern districts of Turkey is reported by anti-Kemalists arriving from Angora via Beirut. It states that Kiazim Karabekir Pasha is leading the agitation which is assuming the proportions of a widespread revolt.

The dispatch says that Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Turkish republic, has left Angora suddenly for Constaninople. This is interpreted in the dispatch as strengthening the report of open revolt.

CONSTANTINOPLE SAYS WHOLE TALE FALSE

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 7. (AP) Reports of a revolt in Eastern Turkey are said by official circles tonight to be absolutely unfounded. The republic is said to be in normal condition throughout its extent. Mustapha Kemal Pasha has not left the capital at Angora, where he plans to remain all summer.

Gunboat Luzon Still Aground

SHANGHAI (China) June 7. (AP) The United States gunboat Luzon, which went aground Wednesday night at the breakwater at the mouth of the Hwang Po River, still is aground today, several attempts to get her off having failed.

Although naval officers are noncommittal regarding the possible fate of the vessel, it generally is considered that her position is dangerous.

Rear-Admiral Thomas T. Craven, newly arrived commander of the American Yang-tse patrol, was aboard the gungoat at the time of the accident, and is now directing operations. The ship was in the hands of a civilian pilot when she went aground.

Coast Woman Killed in Leap

LEWISVILLE (Ind.) June 7. (Exclusive)—En route to Pittsburgh, her former home, to be treated for a mental ailment, Miss Betty Steinbach, 25 years of age, went to the washroom of an east-bound Pennsylvania train as a ruse early today and leaped from the train. Her body was found near here by railway employees.

She was being accompanied east by Mrs. Nina E. Wayte, trained nurse from the State Hospital for the Insane at Norwalk, Cal. Five weeks ago she was arrested for attacking a woman in a Norwalk motion-picture house.

Tioga Pass Road Finally Opened

YOSEMITE, June 7. (AP) — The Tioga Road, a transcontinental highway link passing through the northern half of Yosemite Park, was opened today, when a national park service crew broke through a nine-foot snowdrift blocking the road at the Tioga Pass summit, 9941 feet above sea level.

DAVIS WON'T TALK ON RADIO JOB RUMOR

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, today refused to confirm or deny a report that he will resign office soon to become president of a merger of radio tube manufacturers.

BORDER HOURS DRAW BARRAGE

Move for Later Deadline Starts Telegrams

Imperial Valley Residents Fight Proposal

Message to Hoover Calls Gambling Menace

EL CENTRO, June 7. (Exclusive) Following the receipt here today of telegraphic information from Representative Swing at Washington that Mexican Federal representatives had requested twenty-four-hour opening of all ports along the international border, a barrage of telegrams was forwarded to national officials urging that the existing 9 p.m. closing regulation be maintained at the Calexico-Mexicali port.

The Chamber of Commerce and City Council of El Centro, several Brawley organizations, the associated chambers of Imperial county and a number of individuals wired Representative Swing to use his influence in opposition to the line hours.

HOOVER WIRED

The message forwarded by the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Imperial Valley to President Hoover is as follows:

The undersigned organization, acting on behalf of every chamber of commerce in Imperial county except Calexico, earnestly urges that the international gate at Calexico should not remain open later than 9 p.m., unless all gambling in Lower California should be abolished permanently and effectually. This gambling constitutes a great economic drain upon this community, which would only be intensified were the gateway opened still wider or longer. Besides the moral question would be made more acute. In the interests of all our people here we petition you to consent to no such plan which involves the opening of the border gate longer than the present closing hour."

SENTIMENT DIVIDED

The sentiment in the Imperial Valley was divided on the question of line hours, it was indicated when the Calexico chamber declined to indorse the message of the associated chambers, and forwarded a message to the national capital supporting the proposal for twenty-four-hour opening. Secretary Leo Watts of the Calexico organization expressed the viewpoint of business men in his city.

"Closing of the line at 9 o'clock," he said, "works a severe hardship on legitimate business here. If it were not for the patronage of Americans in other valley towns there would be no gambling in Mexicali. They come down here and support the games and then their neighbors petition Washington to close the line. They use Calexico as the whip with which to discipline their own citizens. Naturally we object to being in that position."

Officials on the Mexican side of the line declined to make any comment in connection with the present controversy. It is known they favor continuous opening of the port here, but they state that is a matter for higher authorities to settle.

SWING REPORTS ON STIMSON'S VIEW

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—Representative Swing, Republican, California, announced today he had been assured by Secretary Stimson that requests to open the Mexican border at Mexicali and Tia Juana, Mex., will be considered most carefully before any action is taken.

He said Stimson told him "no snap judgment will be taken in this matter." He added he had an engagement with President Hoover Monday to discuss the matter.

"I am quite confident that the President will not lend himself to such a backward step as opening the border for twenty-four hours a day as petitioned by resort owners in the Mexican towns of Tia Juana and Mexicali," Swing said. "The American communities along the Mexican border are a unit in demanding protection from the evil influences across the boundary line.

"I have received hundreds of telegrams in the last twelve hours demanding that the present hours for keeping the border open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Tia Juana and from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. at Mexicali be maintained."

The State Department said they had received no request from Ambassador Tellez of Mexico for further opening of the border.

Student Son of Judge Found Slain at College

PHILADELPHIA, June 7. (AP)—William Branwell Linn, son of Judge William B. Linn of the Pennsylvania Superior Court, was found shot to death late today in his room in Lloyd Hall, Haverford College. He was to have been graduated tomorrow. He was 21 years of age.

Capt. Samuel Siegle of the Haverford Township police said that indications point to suicide, but this could not be definitely determined. Judge Linn, at his home in Overbrook, declared that he does not believe his son committed suicide.

Death was caused by a .22-caliber bullet through the brain. The bullet had been fired through the back of the head.

Plunge Fatal for Professor

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Russell Gordon Smith, professor of sociology at Columbia University, was killed today when he jumped or fell from a thirteenth-story window of the Park-avenue apartment of Mrs. Ethel Clyde, a social registerite.

Prof. Smith recently underwent a major operation and today came to the city from Long Island to visit Mrs. Clyde. She stepped from the room for a moment to get him a glass of water and when she returned he had disappeared.

HANDSHAKERS ON DECREASE

Hoover Policy Succeeds as Fewer Visitors Seek to Meet President

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP) Within the brief time that he has held office President Hoover already has had the satisfaction of seeing one of his policies prove successful in operation.

The number of citizens drawn to the White House by the prospect of shaking hands with the Chief Executive at public receptions is showing a decided decrease. In April exactly 7636 men and women filed through the President's office and grasped his hand. In May the number dropped off to 3744.

STATE AID IN LIQUOR WAR GETS PRAISE

Prohibition Commissioner Says Co-operation Greater Than Had Been Thought

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced today that preliminary reports of a national survey of aid being given the Prohibition Bureau by State officials shows a "most gratifying co-operation."

The survey, Doran said, proves a surprise in that it indicates that State authorities are giving more aid to the Federal officers than had been believed. He added that prohibition depends to a great extent upon co-operation by State officers and that every State except those which have no prohibition laws is doing its share in enforcement work.

Lack of co-operation, the report says, is particularly noticeable in New York and Maryland, which have no State prohibition laws, but adds that co-operation is excellent in Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Texas.

Doran announces that in the first nine months of the fiscal year ending April 1 his forces made 61,308 arrests, as compared with 75,307 in the entire 1928 fiscal year.

The bureau now has 2170 agents operating in different parts of the country, including approximately 200 new men employed since Congress added $2,700,000 to the amount the bureau could spend for enforcement.

CHALLENGE OVER SMITH GOES FLAT

Southern Democrats in Senate Refuse to Say They Favor Nominee

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—Senator Heflin of Alabama today challenged "any Southern Democrat" to stand up in the Senate and say he favors the nomination of Alfred E. Smith for President in 1932. No Senator responded.

The Senator made his challenge during one of his attacks on what he described "the Roman Catholic political machine."

The Alabaman declared that the purpose of the forthcoming Democratic dinner in Washington is "to boost Raskob" and to continue him as chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Special Judges to Administer Dry Law Urged

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—Appointment of a number of judges whose duties would be confined almost exclusively to prohibition cases has been proposed by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, author of the new dry law.

Senator Jones has introduced a bill authorizing the President to appoint as many as two "Associate District Judges" for any district whenever the volume of business demands it.

The prohibition leader would have the duties of the Associate Judges confined to trying dry law prosecutions first and civil cases in which the amount involved is below $5000.

Governor Signs Bill on Salaries of Judges Here

SACRAMENTO, June 7. (AP)—Gov. Young today signed ten bills, among them measures increasing salaries of Los Angeles Municipal Court judges and court attaches and a bill establishing a standard of purity in manufactured ice cream and iced-milk products.

Salaries of Municipal Court judges in Los Angeles county are advanced from $6000 to $7500 a year, while the number and salaries of court attaches are increased.

The ice cream measure signed requires all ingredients of ice cream and iced milk to be pasteurized and requires iced milk to contain 4 per cent fat.

Retirement of Enochs Allowed

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—Secretary Good today approved the request of Col. Berkeley Enochs for retirement, thus disposing of court martial charges recently preferred against him by Maj.-Gen. Hanson E. Ely, commandant of the Second Corps Area, Governors Island, New York.

FLY QUARANTINE RULE EXECUTED

Hyde Authorizes Nation-wide Fruit-Pest War

Instant Action Now Possible in Any Area

California Products Enjoy Free Movement

WASHINGTON, June 7. (Exclusive)—The order extending the Mediterranean fly fruit quarantine to include the entire United States was signed today by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde. The provisions of the quarantine extension were not made public, but it is understood they give the Department of Agriculture power to establish a quarantine in any State in which the fly is detected.

The previous quarantine was limited solely to Florida. In addition a deadline east and west was drawn by the department on the northern border of the cotton belt States and north and south along the Rockies beyond which shipment of Florida fruit is not permitted.

The quarantine will allow Federal authorities closer check on fruit shipments. It will stop the reshipment of Florida fruit from northern points, where it is allowed, to points below the dead line in the South and Southwest.

California fruit will not be subject to check inspection by Federal forces, unless there is an outbreak of the fly in the State. Until such time, if any, California fruit will be allowed free movement.

Should an outbreak occur in any State the Bureau of Plant Quarantine and Control will be able under the ruling today to establish an immediate quarantine on the infested district, conduct a survey to determine the extent of the infestation and formulate rules and regulations to combat the pest.

If the pest had broken out in States other than Florida before the national quarantine was issued the department would, by law, have to hold public hearings and send quarantine orders through routine channels. This procedure would ordinarily take from a week to ten days, during which time the pest might spread badly.

HECKE TO LAUNCH STATE-WIDE SURVEY

SACRAMENTO, June 7. (AP)—George H. Hecke, director of the State Department of Agriculture, announced today that within a week a State-wide survey will be launched by the department and county horticulture commissioners to substantiate their conviction that not a semblance of the Mediterranean fruit fly exists in California.

Several hundred men, working under the direction of trained inspectors from the State department will cover the State thoroughly, Hecke said, to reassure themselves no larvae or flies are present.

"We are confident the pest that has played havoc with the Florida fruit and vegetable areas is not with us," Mr. Hecke said today, "but we want to know definitely."

Mr. Hecke returned today from Washington, where he conferred with President Hoover, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, members of Congress and plant quarantine officials on the subject of Mediterranean fruit fly.

Nebraskan Wins Highest Honors at West Point

WEST POINT (N. Y.) June 7. (AP) Horace P. Sykes, Jr., son of Lieut.-Col. H. F. Sykes, stationed at Fort Omaha, Neb., was designated as the honor graduate of the United States Military Academy today by Maj.-Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent. He entered West Point in 1926, as a result of accompetitive examination for a presidential vacancy.

Sykes made 2,801.91 points out of a possible total of 3989 for the four-year course. He stood at the head of his class in 1927 and 1928 and during his plebe year was sixth.

Other distinguished graduates in the order of their standing are:

R. L. Hill, Chico, Cal.

P. L. Blue, Jr., Fairmont, N. C.

G. A. Lincoln, Harbor Beach, Mich.

K. D. Nichols, Cleveland.

Hill, who entered the Military Academy from the Regular Army, where he served with the Third Engineers at Hawaii, was less than three points behind Sikes.

Your Telephone looks and feels the same—but it's a very different instrument

The telephone instrument in your home may have been put there prior to 1920. It may be the same instrument today in looks, in feel, in weight, as it was on the day it was installed. But it is not the same telephone, by a wide margin. In usefulness to you, it has developed to almost twice the original.

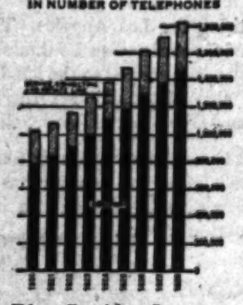
This is because in conduits underground, in cables swung on poles, in lines of wiring that penetrate to new places, in homes and business houses here, there and everywhere, we have been implanting values and adding equipment that have directly benefited your instrument.

Almost twice as many telephones are now connectible with yours as in 1920. Almost twice as much likelihood exists of your finding telephones standing to the names of those you wish to call. Even the extension telephones that have been placed in the homes of your friends have added to your own convenience. For such extensions make it easier for your friends to answer you promptly.

Meanwhile, the quality of service we render has been advancing. Transmission is clearer. Thru technical improvements, the making of connections has been speeded up. More long distance facilities have been provided. The telephone in your home is like a window, looking out on the world, that has slowly turned to plate glass.

The outlay for telephone construction in the Pacific System during the next 5 years will exceed an average of $54,000,000 a year. We are arranging now for voice-communications that you will wish to hold years hence, with people whom you do not yet know.

GROWTH OF THE PACIFIC SYSTEM IN NUMBER OF TELEPHONES



The Pacific System served less than 800,000 telephones in 1920 and about 1,475,000 today. Employees have nearly doubled. The number of daily conversations has grown from about 4 million to nearly 8 million.

Eleanor Nichols and Philip Wells went to Stanford direct from high school. Wells was one of the organizers of the high school medical club, while Miss Nichols was active in three honor societies.

PRISONER KISSES OFFICER

Aged Oxnard Negress Gets Amorous as Deputy Sheriff Assists Her from Courtroom After Sanity Hearing Over Complaints of "Witchcraft Spells"

VENTURA, June 7.—"You'd make such a good lover I jes' have to kiss youall," said Elma Smith, 75-year-old negro woman, today as Deputy Sheriff Ed Hearne carried her in his arms down the marble stairs of the Courthouse, following her hearing in Superior Court on an insanity charge, and she promptly proceeded to do "jes' that little thing." She is partially paralyzed.

Elma was arrested some weeks ago on the complaint of neighbors in Oxnard, who charged that she was a witch and cast spells.

She has lived there in a little shack in an alley for many years unmolested, but suddenly the rumor started and the colored folk in the vicinity came to fear her. She was confined in the County Hospital.

No charges were placed against her today, and she was not committed but was returned to the hospital for another week of treatment before being sent back to her home in Oxnard.

Judge Edward Henderson asked her where she was born.

"Ah don't have to tell youall where I was born. Ah was born in a manger for all youall know," she replied. Then he asked her if she knew where she was at the time of the hearing. Rolling her bright eyes around the splendor of the Superior Court room, casting glances on the oil portraits of the former Judges Merle Rogers and Robert Clarke, she answered:

"This ain't no church. Ah can tell by them pictures."

MONTGOMERY WINS LIBERTY

Gun Club Keeper, Convicted of Manslaughter in Killing of Two Hunters, Escapes Penalty

SANTA ANA, June 7.—The case of John W. Montgomery, California Gun Club keeper, who shot Orlie R. Mahon and John D. Callicott to death last November 15, was formally closed today with dismissal of a manslaughter charge in Superior Judge R. J. Marks's court.

Montgomery, tried on a charge of murdering the two Sunset Beach duck hunters when they came upon the gun club preserves and attacked him, according to his story of the shooting, was freed of the charge concerning Callicott and was convicted of manslaughter in the Mahon case. He appealed through his attorneys, L. A. West and R. Z. McKinney, and the State Supreme Court reversed the judgment.

The case, however, was not sent back to Superior Court for trial, depriving the local court of jurisdiction, and the further circumstance that the Supreme Court passed upon the evidence in the case, holding it to be insufficient, was cited today in support of a motion to dismiss the case.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Sam L. Collins pointed out to the court that no further evidence is available. There was no opposition to the motion for dismissal, and the court granted it.

In defending his act of shooting the two hunters, Montgomery contended self-defense. He had fired a shot from his rifle into a duck pond to frighten Callicott's dog away, and the two hunters became enraged and approached to attack him, he said. Callicott fired his shotgun at Montgomery, the latter declared, before Montgomery shot him. Mahon, according to Montgomery, then fired at the gamekeeper, and Montgomery also shot him. There were no other witnesses of the shooting.

Museum to be Dedicated

ANAHEIM, June 7.—Pioneers of this city will assemble here the 19th inst. for the dual purpose of holding their annual picnic and dinner in the city park and of dedicating the D. A. R. museum, in which a number of relics of pioneer days are being preserved.

Pioneers and their families will be welcomed to the picnic, over which L. A. Lewis, grandson of one of the early families, will preside as master of ceremonies.

The museum to be dedicated consists of the first building in Anaheim, reconstructed and moved from its original location in the present business section.

THOMAS SILVERWOOD BACK HOME AGAIN

OAK GLEN, June 7.—Thomas Silverwood, 79 years of age, is safe again in his home here after wandering a night and a day in Beverly Hills, where his family and police sought him after he had left the home of relatives. Silverwood has been in ill health since an automobile accident last Christmas. He is a brother of the late Frank Silverwood, prominent Los Angeles clothier. He was wandering in the city when he was recognized by an employee of Silverwood's store.

ORPHANS' HOME PLANNED

ONTARIO, June 7.—At the Church of Christ Sunday, plans for establishment of a home here to care for dependent orphan children will be consummated, it was announced today by Rev. Samuel E. Witty, pastor of the church. All the churches of Christ in California are expected to have representation at the meeting, as the orphans' home is to be a State institution sponsored by the church.

DIETRICK AT LIBERTY UNDER BOND

Aged Custodian of Golf Grounds Blames Killing on Self-Defense

SAN DIEGO, June 7.—Charles Dietrick, aged Coronado groundskeeper, was released from the County Jail today on bond of $10,000. He is to face preliminary hearing Monday on a charge of shooting and killing Charles Higgins, greenskeeper and his employee, on the Coronado golf links, May 31. The bond was posted by Mrs. Emily Dietrick, wife of the defendant, and Mrs. Nellie Madden, both of Coronado. Dietrick was represented by Attorneys Ed Johnson and Horton Titus. The bond was approved by Judge Eugene Daney, and the defendant released immediately.

Attorneys representing Dietrick at yesterday's arraignment declare that evidence at the inquest proved conclusively the act was committed in self-defense. Higgins, they said, was a strong, powerfully built man and had threatened the life of Dietrick, who is of slight build. Higgins was advancing toward the defendant in a threatening manner when the fatal shot was fired, it was contended.

A large number of witnesses will testify at the preliminary hearing. Sergt. W. J. Strickland of the Coronado police force, appeared as complainant against Dietrick.

Walnut Park Chamber Elects

WALNUT PARK, June 7.—At the annual election of officers W. E. Stiefel was made president of the Chamber of Commerce here, succeeding J. A. F. Jensen, who has served two years. Miss Pearl Hall was elected vice-president and Mrs. Kathleen Patton, who has been secretary-treasurer for the past five years, was re-elected. The directors selected are Harry H. Berger, Charles Foster, F. L. Yale and H. D. Hagg.

Rumors have been in circulation in this community for several weeks as to annexation to either South Gate or Huntington Park, and after a discussion of the matter most all of the members present at the annual chamber meeting decided that the community should remain in county territory, as the section has been given very satisfactory attention in the way of improvements by the Board of County Supervisors, it was stated. The organization now has 375 members.

Centenarian Goes to Jail

EL CENTRO, June 7. (AP)—For the second time since last New Year's, Armstead Snow, negro, who says he is 106 years of age, has been arrested on a bootlegging charge.

His age and the fact that he once was a slave in North Carolina, combined to get the sympathy of the court at Brawley in the first case and Snow was allowed to go free. His second offense resulted in a County Jail sentence. He holds the record as the oldest prisoner ever entering the gates of Imperial County Jail, and perhaps is the oldest prisoner ever received in any jail in the United States.

Snow asserts he was born a slave March 15, 1823, and that he has documents showing his nativity.

CONTRACT LET FOR SEWAGE PLANTS

ANAHEIM, June 7.—Acting as the contracting city for LaHabra, Fullerton and Orange, the City Council here last evening awarded contracts to Hamlyn & Young, local contractors, for construction of three chlorination plants on the joint outfall sewer system to cost a total of $111,776. Of this amount Fullerton and Orange each will pay $38,264 while La Habra will pay $35,248. The chlorination plants have been declared necessary to prevent the formation of a gas found destructive to the outfall sewer tube.

AWARDS GIVEN IN CHEMISTRY

Manual Arts of Los Angeles Has Winning Team

Three Youths Given Prizes for Individual Work

National Society Sponsors Contest at Pomona

CLAREMONT, June 7.—Announcement of the results of the high school chemistry contest held at Pomona College on May 25, under the sponsorship of the Southern California section of the American Chemical Society, was made tonight at a dinner at the Mary Louise Tea Room in Los Angeles at which the winners of the contest and their teachers were the guests of honor.

The team from Manual Arts High School of Los Angeles was announced as the winner with an average score of 75.1 per cent; and Henry Bruman of Manual Arts, John Wright of Franklin High School, and Lewis Peha, Manual Arts, the three individuals having the highest scores. The winning team was presented with a silver loving cup which will remain in the possession of the school for one year, with individual prizes for the three highest scorers.

Other schools having high scores were Pasadena High School, Sweetwater Union High School, National City and the George Washington High School.

Jack Desmond, Manual Arts; Gordon Piles, Hollywood, and Gifford McCasland, Pasadena, received honorable mention as runners-up in the individual scores.

One hundred and thirty-nine contestants, representing forty-one high schools in Southern California, took part in the contest which was under the direction of a special contest committee of which Dr. Charles J. Robinson of Pomona College was chairman. According to the committee, the questions were difficult, and required a real understanding of chemistry, and individual thinking, for correct answers. A large proportion of the contestants showed a high degree of ability and the results were indicative of excellent chemical teaching in the high schools. The aim of the contest was to bring about a closer relationship between the chemists of today and the chemists of tomorrow.

Aged Gardener Falls Into Hole

PASADENA, June 7. — Dudley Coombs, a retired gardener, was rushed to the General Hospital in a dying condition today after falling into a twenty-foot pit which is being dug in preparation for the erection of the D. C. Bear Building at the southeast corner of Fair Oaks avenue and Colorado street.

While watching the steam shovel, Coombs is said to have leaned heavily against a wooden railing which gave way, causing him to lose his balance and drop into the deep hole.

He was given first-aid at the Emergency Hospital here for a broken shoulder and probable fracture of the back. Due to the fact that he is more than 80 years of age, physicians hold out slight hopes for his recovery.

MAYORS SET ASIDE WEEK FOR PAGEANT

ONTARIO, June 7.—Mayor Francis P. Williams of this city and Mayor A. H. Johnston of Upland today proclaimed the week of June 19 to 26 as pageant week for the community, in behalf of "The First Californians," a musical historical pageant depicting the founding and development of San Bernardino county. The pageant is to be staged at Chaffey Union High School amphitheater two nights, the 25th and 26th inst. Prominent persons of the county are included in the cast of characters.

POLICE AND FIRE COMMISSION FILLED

SANTA BARBARA, June 7.—Mayor Finley yesterday named Rev. Tom B. Clark, pastor of the First Christian Church; Patrick J. Maher, service station proprietor, and Maj. R. C. Keene to constitute the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, after resignations had been placed in his hands by Chairman George Giovonola and Edward L. Abbott of the old board, and A. B. Watkins, the third member, had some time ago signified his intention of not serving after his term had expired.

COLLEGE TERMS NEAR END

Commencement Week at Redlands Now in Progress and Claremont Colleges Give Degrees Today

REDLANDS, June 7.—Commencement week at the University of Redlands began tonight with the recital of the College of Fine Arts music department under the direction of Prof. W. B. Olds, in the new Memorial Chapel.

Tomorrow the alumni will have a business meeting and their annual dinner at 5:30 p.m. Dr. W. E. Raffety, who has recently been in the Near East, will be the speaker. In the evening the outdoor theater of the campus will be the scene of "The Red Mill," which is given for the Zanja Fiesta this year.

Baccalaureate services for the eighty-seven graduates of the university will be held at the Memorial Chapel Sunday at 5 p.m. Rev. David J. Evans of Kansas City will deliver the sermon.

Monday will be a busy day with class day services, president's reception and commencement with Rev. Norman B. Henderson of Los Angeles delivering the address.

CLAREMONT COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT TODAY

CLAREMONT, June 7. — Eight master of arts degrees will be conferred at the second annual Claremont Colleges commencement exercises tomorrow afternoon in Bridge's Hall, Pomona College, beginning at 4:30 p.m. Dr. James A. Blaisdell, president of Claremont College, has extended an invitation to the public to attend.

President Blaisdell will present the commencement address on "Education in the Changing World." It is expected that he will present a number of important phases of education as related to the development of the Claremont Colleges plan.

Master of arts degrees will be conferred upon Mason L. Hill of Pomona, Leo Hitchcock of Santa Ana, Mrs. Hazel Hobaven, Miss Grace E. Potter, Miss Grace E. Reeves, Howard Wright and J. Homer Williams, all of Claremont, and F. N. Woodruff of Ontario.

Following the exercises there will be a faculty-trustee dinner at Claremont Inn. Prof. C. S. Schiller, D.S.C., fellow of Corpus Christie College, Oxford University, will speak on "The English College System and Its Application to America."

GILLETTE FIGHTS TO KEEP POST

Hot Battle of Attorneys Features Court Hearing on Grand Jury Charges

CALEXICO, June 7.—At 5 p.m. today attorneys for Sheriff Charles Gillette of Imperial county, were still arguing motions of demurrer to information on three indictments and on accusations embracing eighty-seven counts entered against the sheriff by the grand jury.

The District Attorney's office believed that no decision will be made on the motions until tomorrow. The arguments occupied most of the afternoon.

Attorney Clarence Utley for the sheriff argued against the indictment and the arguments were answered by Dist.-Atty. Heald, who stoutly upheld the contentions of the grand jury that several asserted acts were of criminal nature.

Attorney Harry Horton was arguing late today against the information asking the removal from office of the Sheriff, whom the grand jury ordered to return approximately $19,000, which it charges he illegally held from the county treasury.

Trial Fight on Death Penalty

LONG BEACH, June 7.—Arguments in the murder trial of Lewis Rodrigues were started in Department A of the Superior Court today with attorneys clashing over the death penalty. Clarence Hunt, deputy District Attorney, in the opening argument, demanded that the jurors impose the death penalty against Rodrigues for the slaying of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Rose Dyer, and find him guilty of the additional counts of attempting to murder his wife, Mildred Rodrigues, and assault with intent to murder Elmer Ebeling, a boarder in the Dyer home.

Attorney Joseph A. Ball, representing Rodrigues, fought to prevent a hanging sentence in a powerful plea, which pointed out that responsibility for the death penalty rested with the jury alone. Ball had not concluded his argument when court adjourned until Monday. The case will go to the jury late Monday.

MILITARY ACADEMY MAY MOVE TO VALLEY

CHATSWORTH, June 7.—The Robert E. Lee Military Academy, which for some time has had headquarters in the bay district near Santa Monica, is to move into San Fernando Valley, it is reported. Maj. Richard M. Cannon, headmaster of the school, has just leased 320 acres of wooded land in the foothills near the Glover Lakeside Park in the western end of the valley, and will open a preliminary summer camp with about 100 boys of various ages enrolled. The camp will be under the supervision of officers under the direction of Maj. Cannon. While the camp is on, it is understood he will proceed with negotiations permanently to establish the school, and to build quarters suitable for the housing and teaching of between 500 and 600 boys.

DOG AND JACKRABBIT CAUSE AUTO ACCIDENT

VAN NUYS, June 7.—A dog chasing a jackrabbit on Burbank Boulevard, near here, was the cause of an auto accident in which two men were seriously injured. Pelbe Seranno, driving a truck, crashed into a truck driven by Elias Urbina. Neither car was going fast. Urbina told police Seranno was watching the dog and rabbit as they flashed across the road, and ran into his truck. The collision caused internal injuries to Seranno when thrown against his steering wheel. Peter Leona, a passenger, fell to the pavement and was cut about the head, neck and face.

Early Ontario Resident Dies

ONTARIO, June 7. — Mrs. Emma Wood Jollyffe, 76 years of age, 221 East F street, one of the first settlers in Ontario Colony forty-six years ago, died at her home last night, and will be buried in Bellevue Cemetery tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Jollyffe, wife of City Attorney E. H. Jollyffe, was one of the founders of the Benevolent Association of Churches of Ontario, which organization disbanded several years ago, and became the Ontario Welfare League. She was one of the first members of the Bethel Congregational Church.

Mrs. Jollyffe leaves her husband, one daughter, Helen Gladys Poore, and one sister, Elizabeth Ann Wood, all here.

Rev. John Barron Toomay, pastor of Bethel church, and Dr. Ralph B. Larkin, formerly a pastor of the church, will officiate at the funeral services.

Council Curbs Speed of Trains

ANAHEIM, June 7.—The deaths about three weeks ago of Mrs. E. L. Anderson and her two young daughters, has resulted in an ordinance designed to limit the speed of trains passing through this city to fifteen miles per hour. The ordinance was read before the City Council last night for the first time. Two more readings will be required before the measure becomes effective.

The rail companies are given the alternative of maintaining crossing signals. Should such signals be installed the trains may travel at any desired speed, the ordinance provides. The three deaths giving rise to the ordinance occurred on the East North-street crossing of the Santa Fe tracks.

Elks Sponsor Flag Day Rites

MONROVIA, June 7.—Planning an elaborate ceremonial in observance of Flag Day, Monrovia Elks' lodge expects to excel other years, and will be joined in the celebration on the 14th inst. by lodges from seven other cities in the San Gabriel Valley, it was announced today by Judge John Sturgeon, Exalted Ruler of the local lodge.

All civic organizations, service clubs and fraternal orders have been invited to participate in the program.

The ceremonial will be conducted by Exalted Ruler Sturgeon, and other officers of the lodge, Dean Archer, Harry Kellogg and Harry Alexander.

NAVAL COMMANDER'S PLANE TURNS OVER

LONG BEACH, June 7.—Commander J. H. Hoover, executive officer of the U.S.S. Lexington and J. D. Jones, chief aviation mechanic on the aircraft carrier, escaped serious injury at the municipal airport this afternoon when the Navy plane in which they were landing turned over. They were treated at emergency hospitals for minor injuries. Their plane was not seriously damaged.

WIRE SERVICE IMPROVED

REDONDO BEACH, June 7.—Beginning Monday the local Western Union telegraph office will remain open until 9 p.m. instead of the former closing hour of 6 p.m., according to E. E. Williams, agent.

LODGEMEN TO PLACE KEY BLOCK

Ventura Masonic Bodies Will Lay Corner-stone of New Temple Today

VENTURA, June 7. Tomorrow will be a red letter day in Ventura county Masonry. At 2:30 p.m. Grand Master Gustav A. Hutaff will lay the corner-stone for the new Masonic Temple at California and Santa Clara streets. The largest gathering of Masonic Grand Lodge officers ever gathered outside of San Francisco is expected to attend the ceremony.

Masons of two counties, Ventura and Santa Barbara, will join with Scots, De Molays and Knights Templar in a parade up Main street which will be led by a seventy-piece Scot orchestra from Long Beach. They will march down Chestnut street to Santa Clara, thence west to the scene of the ceremonies.

Robert B. Galord, prominent San Francisco attorney, and Grand Commander of California Knights Templar, will be the Grand Orator.

San Bernardino County Bar to Indorse Farmer

SAN BERNARDINO, June 7.—With the fourth division of the Appellate Court comprising ten Southern California counties including San Bernardino, assured, the County Bar Association will meet next week in Redlands to formally indorse Superior Judge Benjamin Farmer for appointment to the Appellate bench, it was announced today by Attorney N. C. Peters, secretary of the association. The date of the meeting has not been definitely set, but will probably be the latter part of the week and will be a dinner meeting, Peters said.

The county bar already has informally indorsed Judge Farmer for the appointment, a petition circulated among members being generally signed.

The Appellate Court District includes the counties of Fresno, Tulare, Kings, Kern, Inyo, San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange, Imperial and San Diego. The court would sit in San Bernardino, San Diego and Fresno four months of the year in each city.

Other Superior Court jurists of the newly created district are understood to be candidates for the appointment. They include Judges G. R. Freeman of Riverside; Albert C. Finney of Imperial county, William D. Dehy of Inyo county, E. J. Marks and H. G. ames of Orange county.

Councilman Resigns After Dairy Dispute

ARCADIA, June 7. — Appointment of a successor to Arthur F. Holt, who resigned from the City Council Wednesday night, will be made on the 19th inst., it was revealed today.

Regulations of the city dairy ordinance made it necessary for Holt to move his dairy from within the city limits, and it was over the ordinance controversy that ultimately caused Holt to resign.

The ordinance is being enforced for the first time this year, the Council having previously allotted the dairymen a year to remove their dairies. As the specified time limit terminated on June 1, last, and Holt had not removed his dairy from the city, he appealed to the Council to extend the time another year, but the protests of property owners living near the dairy overruled the Councilman's plea, and for the first time the controversial ordinance went into effect.

LAKE AT CHATSWORTH TO BE MADE LARGER

CHATSWORTH, June 7.—The Los Angeles City Water Department is preparing to double the height of the Chatsworth reservoir dam, making it eighty feet high and 2000 feet long. The dam will be of dirt with more than ordinary width, surfaced on the lake side with concrete. For the last two months tests have been conducted with a rotary drill and results have led to the decision of enlarging the dam. The city owns the land which will be overflowed by the increased size of the reservoir. Much of the additional water to be impounded will be used for irrigation purposes in various San Fernando Valley areas.

NEW HIGHWAY SURVEY BEGUN

Will Follow Bluffs Along Torrey Pines Park

State Highway Engineer to Approve of Plans

San Diego Coast Highway to be Made Safer

SAN DIEGO, June 7. — Survey was started today for a new highway along the side of the bluffs facing the ocean in Torrey Pines Park. This is to be the new Torrey Pines cutoff and will afford one of the finest scenic highways in Southern California, in the opinion of S. V. Cortelyou, division engineer for the State Highway Commission.

The survey was started by City Manager P. M. Lockwood and City Engineer H. A. Jorgenson, following inspection of the route yesterday by Engineer Cortelyou, who gave it his approval. Other plans for rerouting the Torrey Pines grade east of the present highway are to be abandoned, it was stated by the Cr. Manager. The new grade will be 6 per cent and eliminate all curves except one slight one where the highway will take off from the ocean.

The new road going north will take off from the present Coast highway in the canyon three miles this side of the top of the present grade. It will follow this canyon on almost a straight shoot, high above the ocean's edge, the roadway to be cut into a shelf along the bluff side, the engineers stated.

The roadway in the hillside is to be wide enough to avoid danger of passing machines and on the ocean side is to be guarded with a fence. The engineers estimated the cost will be considerable, but it is proposed that the money be furnished by the State.

The foot of the new grade will be at the present dike following the ocean from where it will be continued straight along the ocean side to Del Mar with an overhead crossing of the Santa Fe tracks this side of Del Mar. This new route has been surveyed by the State Highway Commission, and it is intended to do away with the wide curve below the Santa Fe tracks and around the hillside to get to Del Mar.

Cortelyou declared that it will be only a short time until the paving of the Rose Canyon route will begin. The plans have been approved and the city has obtained all rights of way, it was stated by Street Superintendent R. M. Gregory.

Crash Suit Jury Dismissed

REDLANDS, June 7.—The jury before which Amarente Garcia of this city asked damages of $10,000 from G. E. Curtis, local rancher, for injuries received in an automobile accident in September, 1928, was dismissed by Superior Judge Charles L. Allison after failing to agree.

Members of the jury told Judge Allison that it was impossible to reach a verdict. The vote on the last ballot stood 7 to 5, the same as the first ballot taken late Wednesday morning, it was stated.

The accident on which the case was based occurred at Somora and Clark streets, here. Garcia stated that he received severe bruises and permanent injuries. Curtis denied responsibility in the accident.

POLICEMAN GIVEN STATE ASSIGNMENT

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 7.—George Barclay, for fifteen months connected with the local police department as sergeant and clerk of the City Court, has submitted his resignation to the City Council, and it has been accepted. Barclay recently received a position with the State of California and will be connected with the State Department of Agriculture for service in the southern part of the State. His new duties begin at once.

SCHOOL SECRETARY TO LEAD CHAMBER

CLAREMONT, June 7.—Robert J. Bernard, executive secretary of Claremont Colleges, has been elected president of the Chamber of Commerce here. Other officers are Fred Jessen, G. N. Brink and C. N. Burton, vice-presidents; Clifford Lewis, treasurer, and Miss Lela Ackerman was re-elected secretary. Directors for the new year are S. O. Baughman, R. J. Bernard, Tobias Larson, Herbert Mead, Gerald Sanford and Dr. Russell Story.

CIVIC LEADER LAID TO REST

Funeral Services Held for Tasker M. Webster, Pioneer Resident of Sierra Madre

SIERRA MADRE, June 7.—Funeral services for Tasker M. Webster, 57 years of age, who died suddenly Monday from a cerebral hemorrhage, were held today from St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Monrovia.

Webster, apparently in good health, attended a session of the Chamber of Commerce Monday evening. When he returned home and put his car in the garage but failed to close the doors and enter the house, his wife became alarmed and went to the garage to investigate, finding her husband lying on the ground moaning. Dr. A. L. Jackson was summoned, but the stricken man failed to rally and died a few minutes after the doctor's arrival.

Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., on January 13, 1872, Webster lived the greater part of his life here, coming here in 1893, and engaging in the contracting business.

He was well known in civic affairs, having served on the City Council, and for many years on the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. He was also chosen district representative of the Kiwanis Club, and later elected president of the Sierra Madre Club, his term ending last year.

As a young musician, Webster organized and directed the first municipal band here.

He leaves his widow, two sons, two sisters, Mrs. H. E. Vannier, and Miss Lydia Webster, both of Sierra Madre; three brothers, C. J. Webster of Newport, B. F. Webster, South Pasadena, and E. J. Webster of Brooklyn, N. Y. Interment was made in Sierra Madre Cemetery with Grant's funeral parlors in charge.

ELEVEN SIGN UP FOR CAMP

Inglewood Said to be Leading Southland Cities in Quota for Del Monte Training Camp

INGLEWOOD, June 7.—Inglewood, according to Col. George H. Chase, Los Angeles county representative of the Military Training Camps Association of the United States, has surpassed all other Southern California cities in the number of applications in proportion to population for attendance at citizens' military training camp at Del Monte this summer.

According to Chase, the county is still slightly behind on its quota, while Inglewood, which had only one last year, has sixteen applications, of which eleven have been examined and accepted to date, the others being still pending.

The Chamber of Commerce is planning to honor these youths before their departure for Del Monte, according to Secretary James H. Dalton. Tentative plans are to have the boys as guests at a luncheon at the chamber on the 28th inst. Camp opens on July 2, closing on July 31.

The eleven young men who have been accepted, according to Col. Chase, are: John G. Langhaus, Fred C. Reebie, Howard M. Cook, Emery H. Draeger, Richard F. Dupuy, Frank E. Blaha, John W. Turner, Laird A. Warson, James G. Myer, William A. Hamilton and Vernett R. Brown.

Col. Thomas H. Jennings and Lieut. Lawson P. Cooper are the Inglewood representatives taking applications to the camps. These officers and Col. Chase will be invited to attend the gathering to be given for the young citizen soldiers, it was said by Secretary Dalton today.

SEALS THUMP STARS AGAIN

Elmer Jacobs Twirls Win Over Locals, 4-2

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Elmer Jacobs was so superstitious that he never would pitch on Friday, but he took council with himself yesterday afternoon and surprised Manager Nick Williams by announcing that the Friday hoodoo was off and that he would pitch on the morrow. He did and won his thirteenth victory of the season today, so from now on Jake should laugh at jinx. The Seals won, 4 to 2.

ELMER JACOBS

Jake was in a bit of trouble in the last two frames, but he went right along easily and skillfully and finished on the long end of the score. Red Baker and Crosetti handled the ball a bit faster when there were chances to make double plays. Jake would have just about blanked the visiting athletes. A wild throw by Crosetti trying to complete a double killing gave Hollywood its second run.

Bill Lane, who fought fo. three years to have the league give the plan a trial last season, also favors the split season for he voted against it at the last meeting for "political" reasons only. The present plan is to start the second half of he season on July 2, the winners of the two halves meeting for the championship. It is expected that a bonus will be put up for the winning clubs.

LINCOLN CINCHES TITLE

Tigers Hammer Jefferson Nine for 11-4 Victory; Redmond and Fontes Star at Bat

By walloping Jefferson for an 11-4 victory, Coach Frank Mallette's Lincoln High nine cinched the Major City League baseball pennant, yesterday afternoon in a wild game played on the Democrats' diamond. Even if the Tigers lose to Hollywood next Friday in the final game of the season, the 1929 championship will hang in Lincoln's trophy room.

Up till the third inning, it was a pitchers' battle between Chino Mitre of Jefferson and Babe Guerra of Lincoln. In the fourth, the Tigers touched Chino for one run, scored another in the fifth, two more in the sixth, three in the seventh and finished it up by pushing four across the plate in the ninth.

"CHING" DUHM

Jefferson didn't score until the seventh, when Vernon Jordan banged out a triple, and Danny Espinosa brought him in with a snappy double over the left-field fence. Ching Duhm's boys staged a rally in the ninth to score three more runs.

NEWSBOY BROWN SHADES RODRIGUEZ IN RING TILT

Newsboy Brown won a close decision over Blas Rodriguez in the ten-round main event at the Hollywood American Legion last night. Brown came fast in the last three rounds to shade the Mexico City bantamweight, with a hard, relentless attack.

The first six rounds were not very exciting, with Rodriguez piling up a slight margin. However, in the seventh, Brown opened up with a two-fisted attack and from then on coasted through to victory. The Newsboys, now a bantamweight, is not the same fighter he was as a flyweight, ringsiders figuring that he has slipped a few rungs on the fistic ladder.

Charley Sullivan came up fast in the last two rounds of the semi-wind-up to get an unpopular decision over Jimmy Plein.

In the six-round special event Leonard Bennett took the nod over Ralph Leonard. It was a rough fight with Leonard wobbling down to his knees ten times in the last three rounds. Julius Schult defeated Frankie Abendino in one of the preliminaries, while Sailor Dardeen beat Danney Soles in the opener.

WORLD'S LOW TIMBER KING

You are looking at Robert Rockaway of Ohio State, who recently broke the world's record in the 220-yard low hurdles at the Big Ten track meet. His new mark of 23 4-5s., bettering Charley Brookins's 23s. mark, was made with the advantage of a slightly favoring breeze of four miles per hour velocity. The A.A.U. allows a wind of three miles per hour for records, but the N.C.A.A., under whose jurisdiction Rockaway races Steve Anderson, Jimmy Payne and other Coast boys today, permits five. (A. REDSKINS TRAMP MOUNTAINS

Sherman Indians Train for Times Marathon by Fighting Fire Back of Hemet; Coach Jamison's Boys Sure to Give Clarence De Mar Real Race Saturday

BY BRAVEN DYER

When Clarence De Mar, famous eastern distance runner, arrives here next Wednesday morning some of his American Legion friends had best tip him off as to the ability of these Sherman Indians who loom as "The Melrose Marvel's" most formidable rivals in the first annual Times pre-Olympic Marathon to be staged one week from today.

CLARENCE DE MAR.

If Mr. De Mar doesn't already know it these redskins are going to make him hump to cop first honors in the gruelling grind of twenty-six miles, 385 yards. This is the dope coming direct from the home of the Indians in Riverside.

B. A. Jamison, coach of the Sherman runners, reported last night that Chauca, Begay, Suhu, Jenkins, Humphreys and Tsametewa had just returned from a four-day siege of fire fighting in the mountainous region back of Hemet. Most coaches would probably moan their eyes out at such a turn of affairs, but Jamison was of the belief that the ordeal would prove an aid to the athletes in their efforts to attain the pink of condition for the race.

"The boys are running long distances the entire year 'round," was the way Jamison put it last night, "and a little thing like fighting fire, carrying water and relaying messages won't hurt them in the least."

Although the general public believes that Harry Chauca is the best of the six redskin entrants, Jamison has a good word for each of his boys.

"It's natural for you fellows to favor Chauca over the others," said

ANGELS SIGN TWO HURLERS

The Los Angeles club, which is on the lookout for hurlers to strengthen its wobbly mound staff, yesterday announced that it had signed up Pitchers Ed Baecht and Red Montgomery. Baecht, who was with the Portland club for a while last year, was recently made a free agent by the Phillies and the Angels grabbed him. Baecht, a right-hander, left his home in St. Louis yesterday and will report at Wrigley Field tomorrow. Montgomery, a southpaw, formerly hurled for U.C.L.A. He has been working out with the Angels recently and Krug says he has a lot of stuff. The Seraph officials also yesterday announced that they had released Pitcher Bart Smith.

PADDOCK'S RECORD TIED BY TOLAN AND SIMPSON

Rasmus Betters Houser's Figure in Discus Event; Trojans Have Great Chance for Title

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, June 7. (AP)—A world's record was eclipsed, the record for the 100-yard dash was tied twice and a record for the meet was smashed as 323 athletes from seventy-two universities and colleges in twenty-eight States, finished their assault in the preliminaries of the national collegiate track-and-field championships on Stagg Field today.

Pete Rasmus of Ohio State University set a new world's record for the discus throw when he tossed the missle 159ft. 1 7-8in. in leading the qualifiers for the finals tomorrow. This performance beat the former record of 158ft. 1 3-4in. made by Bud Houser of the University of Southern California in 1926.

GEORGE SIMPSON

After Rasmus made his record - breaking throw, Ed Moeller of Oregon unwound himself and came ...r tossing the platter out of the place. He registered a toss of 156ft. 10in., but his mark was not allowed because he had the misfortune of fouling, swinging his foot out of the circle when he sent the disk hurling into space. He qualified, however, and will have another chance to beat Rasmus's mark in the finals tomorrow.

ST. LOUIS, June 7. (AP)—Carl Hubbell held the Cardinals to eight scattered hits here today and the Giants made a clean sweep of the three-game series, winning easily by 8 to 1. Bill Sherdel was touched for thirteen hits, including a home run by Travis Jackson, but remained in the box for eight innings. Herman Bell pitched the final frame without untoward result.

The victory gave the Giants a record of six victories and only one defeat in their current tour of the West. The New Yorkers failed to reduce the margin of the Pirates, who won, Frank Frisch had nine putouts, coming within three of the CHICAGO, June 7. (AP)—Chicago made a clean sweep of the three-game series with Brooklyn by winning, 11 to 2, here today. Charley Root held the Robins to four hits, while the Cubs pounded Clise Dudley, Johnny Morrison and Austin Moore for twelve. Johnny Moore, rookie outfielder of the Cubs, led the Chicago attack with a home run and three singles in four times at bat. Harvey Hendrick's home run in the strth with Babe Herman on base accounted for Brooklyn's runs. Herman got three of the four Brooklyn hits. Score:

BUCS BEST

PITTSBURGH, June 7. (AP)—Ed Brandt's wildness and errors by the Boston infield aided Pittsburgh to defeat the Braves here today, 6 to 2, and sweep the two-game series. Ervin Brame won his fourth straight game of the season by keeping the Boston hits well scattered.

Two hits, six bases on balls and errors in the first and third innings gave the Pirates five of their six runs. The Braves made ten hits, including a double by "Rabbit" Maranville, off Brame's delivery, while Brandt allowed the Pirates nine swats, one a triple by Comorosky. Brooklyn comes to Forbes Field tomorrow to start its first Pittsburgh series of the season. Score:

YANKS FALL

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Cleveland again hit hard in the early innings today and downed the Yankees, 7 to 3. The defeat tumbled the champions once more into third place as the Browns won from the Athletics. The Yanks have won only one game of five played against Cleveland this year.

The Indians rained a home-run attack upon Ed Wells in the first inning when four runs were scored. Joe Sewell hit for the circuit with Fonseca and Averill on base. Morgan, the next batter, hit another homer. Cleveland clinched the game and drove out Wells with another assault in the fifth good for three runs.

Willis Hudlin held the Yankees to one hit in the first five frames, but underwent some severe cuffing toward the finish. Zinn had to rescue him in the ninth. Score:

REDS PREVAIL

CINCINNATI, June 7. (AP)—Hurst's wild throw with a double-play in sight permitted Ford to score from second and gave the Reds a 7-to-6 victory over Philadelphia here today in eleven innings. The visitors had the game sewed up until the eighth when the Reds rallied, scored three runs and tied the count. McGraw walked Ford in the eleventh, Sukeforth singled, Ford going to second and then Hurst threw wild to second on Kolp's infield tap, Ford scoring the winning run.

Hurst hit a homer in the sixth, which scored O'Doul, who had singled.

Cincinnati used seventeen players. Kolp received credit for the win. Score:

JORDAN WINS TITLE OF MARINE LEAGUE

Coach Simpson's Jordan High baseball nine annexed the Marine League pennant for the second straight year by walloping Washington, 18-1, on the Jordan diamond yesterday. In the final league standings Jordan and Bell are tied, but the title goes to Simpson's boys as they were the defending champions. Three other games were played yesterday, Rils nosing out Bell, 4-3, at Rils; Gardena tripping Torrance, 10-5, at Torrance, and Narbonne beating Banning, 9-5, at Banning.

The final standings:

ANGELS TRIP REDS TWICE

FINN ABSENT

The Missions played without the services of Mickey Finn, their star second sacker, who was out with a badly injured finger. Finn was hit on the digit trying to bunt in Saturday's game and yesterday morning had to have the finger lanced. A youngster named Morse filled in for Mickey and looked good both in the field and at the plate, cracking out three singles.

Fred Hoffman, the Mission catcher, put the Reds temporarily out in front in the second inning when he clouted one of Walsh's fast ones into the center-field bleachers. Sherlock, who had singled, scored ahead of Hoffman to give the Missions a two-run lead.

The Angel Big Berthas wheeled into action in the third and Hubbell's wildness helped the Krugian cause along, four Seraphs crossing the plate before the inning finally ended. Hubbell began the inning by walking Statz and Jones sacrificed. Webb also worked Hubbell for a walk and Tolson followed with a single to right that scored Statz and sent Webb to third. Walter Berger then tripled off the center-field wall to drive Webb and Tolson over the plate. Haney sent a sacrifice fly to Boone and Berger romped home with the fourth run of the round.

With one away in the fourth after Christensen and Hoffman had singled, Hubbell was lifted to let Nevers bat for him. Ernie responded with an all-American strike-out and then Mulligan popped to Haney to end the inning scorelessly.

NEVERS HIT HARD

Nevers started pitching in the Angel fourth and was promptly touched for a run. Sandberg greeted the former Stanford line crasher with a drive off right tackle for one base. Walsh sacrificed. Statz walked and then Jones bounced one over Sherlock's head to score Sandberg. Webb walked, filling the bases, but Nevers retired Tolson and Berger to prevent any more run-making.

The Angels added two more runs off Nevers in the sixth when the Red hurler lost the location of the plate. After Statz had been thrown out, Jones and Webb both walked. It was Webb's fourth straight pass of the game. Tolson and Berger both followed with hits to score Jones and Webb. Haney hit into a double play to kill off the rally.

The Reds went on a rampage in the seventh and smashed across three runs, but some bad base running by Christensen ended the uprising. Morse began the inning with a hit to right, but Boone lined to Statz. Huffi doubled to center and More hailed at third. Sherlock then drove both runners home with a single to center and took second on Statz's throw to the plate. Both Christensen and Hinde walked, filling the sacks, and things looked anything but good with Hofmann, who had previously banged out three hits, up at the plate. Hofmann sent a sacrifice fly to Berger. Sherlock scoring, but Christensen strayed too far off second and was out when Jones cut off Berger's throw and trapped the Mission center-fielder between second and third.

Morse and Boone singled after two were out in the eighth, but Walsh got rid of Huffi on a foul to Sandberg for the third out.

The Angels sewed up the game in their half of the eighth when they nicked Nevers for two more tallies. A walk to Jones and Earl Webb's towering home-run clout over the right-field bleachers did the damage. The Home Guards had two more men on the paths when Morse made a sensational play on Sandberg's grounder over second to retire the side.

MOUND DUEL

Christensen opened the Mission ninth with a hit, but Slade popped to Dittmar and Hofmann hit into a double play to end the game.

The nightcap turned out to be a mound duel between Holling and Cole for five innings, but in the sixth the Angels pounded the Mission southpaw for five runs to sew up the verdict.

Jacobs put the Angels off in front in the first when he clouted a home run over the left center-field fence. In the fifth the Angels picked up another when Holling singled, took second on Statz's bunt and scored when Jacobs came through with a single.

Boone put the Reds in the run column in the sixth when he ejected one of Holling's outside pitches over the left-field fence.

Cole went to pieces in the home half of the sixth and the Angels rushed across their five additional runs to clinch it. Berger walked for a starter and both runners were safe when Cole picked up Haney's bunt and threw to Slade too late to get Berger. Cole had to hurry his throw and pulled Slade off the second sack. Dittmar forced Haney at third, Cole to Mulligan. However, Haney and Dittmar pulled off a double steal to get in position to score and the Mission board of strategy decided to walk Hannah and take a chance on Holling's hitting into a double play. However, Holling had no intention of hitting into a double play, instead he smacked the first pitch to left for a single to score Haney and Dittmar. Statz singled to center, scoring Hannah, and Jacobs completed the rout by blasting a double to right center that sent Holling and Statz scampering home. Cole then got control of the situation and retired the side without further scoring.

RUETHER VS. CHILD

Another one today and "Dutch" Ruether, who was the league's leading pitcher last year, and Harry Child will be the opposing hurlers. Ruether is a southpaw and it might be mentioned that no southpaw has started and finished a game to beat the Angels this season. Scores:

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—Detroit won a wild, free-hitting game from Washington today, 17 to 11, by scoring fourteen runs in the last three innings.

Going into the final frame the score was tied but the Tigers pounded out the winning margin and then Whitehill held the senators.

Alexander, rookie first baseman of the Tigers, and "Red" Barnes, Washington recruit outfielder, hit home runs. Score:

frozen few spectators when both Tolan and George Simpson, the Ohio State speedster, won their preliminary heats in that record time.

Harlow Rothert of Stanford set a new national collegiate meet record of 50ft. 3in. in qualifying in his specialty, the shot put. The big Californian surpassed the former record made by John Kuck of the Kansas State Teachers' College by 2 1-4in.

Judging from the performances in the trials today the records fact wholesale slaughter in the finals tomorrow, and Stanford, the 1928 team champion, probably will be supplanted in the scramble for the 1929 title as the Cardinal school has only three athletes entered.

The University of Southern California and the University of Washington appear to be the dangerous threats with Illinois and Ohio State looming up in the background. Southern California qualified eight men in five of the ten events in which preliminaries were held, landing a trio, the Payne boys and Webber in the low hurdles. Washington had seven men in five events with Illinois, the Big Ten outdoor champion, qualifying six men and Ohio State five.

KRISS INJURED

One of the Buckeyes, Howard Kriss, probably will be missing in the finals, due to a pulled tendon. He fell flat at the half-way mark of his heat of the 220 and had to be assisted off the field. He qualified previously for the broad jump.

Stanford, with its trio of stars, promises to be dangerous in the battle for points. The Californians will have Rothert and Eric Krenz in the shot and discus and Edmonds in the high hurdles and pole vault. If they are lucky enough to capture the points they figure to land they have the possibility of grabbing between 40 and 50 points, which might be enough for them to win. Points are scored for six places, ranking 10, 8, 6, 4, 2 and 1.

Leon Keller Wins at Rancho

San Gabriel Celebrates Anniversary

Golfers of the San Gabriel Country Club will celebrate the Mission club's silver anniversary today. President L. M. Railsback has announced a brilliant series of events for men and women divot diggers, followed by a banquet and dancing in the evening. Officers of Southern California Golf Association clubs and their wives will be guests at San Gabriel. Among the events scheduled will be a men's medal play tournament with starting times prior to 11 a.m., and a medal play for ladies between 11 a.m. and 12 noon. In the afternoon there will be a men's match play against par tournament with starting times between 12:30 and 3:30.

worth, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The new members are Emerson Spear, former president of the Junior Chamber, Don Parker and Dick Taylor. As has been customary in the past, Ellsworth will be chairman of the committee. Representatives of the Southern California Golf Association and Southern California P.G.A. will be selected within a short time to round out the committee. As soon as the committee is selected, a course will be named for the 1930 event, which will again carry a purse of $10,000.

MRS. BROWNE ANNEXES LAKESIDE TITLE

Mrs. E. S. Browne won the women's championship of the Lakeside Country Club yesterday by defeating Mrs. James Horan in the finals, 5 and 4. Mrs. Wilbur Mack won the first flight finals with a 5-and-4 win over Mrs. Grant Friel.

Qualifying play for the President's cup starts tomorrow at Lakeside and continues throughout the week. Low sixty-four will qualify.

the Seals. Each of them got three safe blows and each scored a marker. Suhr, Jolley and Wingo, three of the heaviest hitters of the Seals drew blanks. Ed Coleman got one hit, but the ball struck Suhr on the foot as he was running between first and second base, so Suhr was called out. That was a lucky break, for Hollywood, because had the ball gone out to right field, where it was headed, Pinelli would have scored from second base. As it was Pinelli had to go back to second base and he perished there when Jolly lifted a fly to Carlyle for the third out.

How Jones and Smith Drive

BY SOL METZGER

Two outstanding golfers, Horton Smith and Bobby Jones, drive splendidly. Both have a few points in common that, if adopted by anyone, would help their game. It concerns the high position of their hands at the top of the swing. Each gets them higher than the top of his head. Compare the sketch of Hagen to that of Smith. Hagen's lower hand's position is caused partly by his slap style of grip, partly by wider stance and partly by his playing the ball a bit farther from the body. He is not quite as accurate from the tee.

This high hand position at the top is only possible from a narrow stance. Then it results only when the backswing is so made that the left shoulder in going back turns down and under in going around, instead of swinging out and around.

Jones and Smith so turn it. At the top of their swings, in consequence, the hands are lifted high by the straight left arm that swings from a left shoulder that is now directly under the chin. Over this shoulder they look down at the ball. This method of turning the left shoulder not only serves to anchor the head, but gives the player a downswing with less chance for error, one that goes down and through the ball instead of out and around through it.

Far golfers make their approaches stick. Metzger's printed and illustrated leaflet, "The Art of Pitching," explains in detail how to do this. Send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and ask for it.

UNIQUE WHALING CRUISE PLANNED

Airplanes and Radio Will be Part of Equipment

Two Douglas Type Craft Will Lead Arctic Search

Expedition Booked to Depart Local Port in Fall

BY WALDO DRAKE

Airplanes and radio will be used for hunting whales in the Antarctic by a Norwegian whaling expedition which will sail from Los Angeles in October, next, headed by the new whaling factory ship Thorshammer. The airplane pilots will be Capt. H. Riiser-Larsen and Capt. Harold Lutzow-Holm, both of whom accompanied the late Roald Amundsen on his last two polar expeditions.

The Thorshammer, to be of 22,500 tons displacement and the largest whaling vessel afloat, will be completed in an English shipyard about August 1 for the Kosmos Whaling Company, of Sandefjord, Norway, and will then come here for fuel and stores before sailing south. Seven small "killer" steamers will accompany her on the expedition.

Both Capts. Riiser-Larsen and Lutzow-Holm are well known here, Capt. Lutzow-Holm having been employed in 1924 at the plant of the Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., Santa Monica, as supervisor of a plane that company was building for the Norwegian government. Donald Douglas, president of the Douglas concern, sold patent rights with the plane and it is understood that the two craft with which the Norwegian flyers will hunt whales will be from the Douglas design. Capt. Riiser-Larsen also plans to make a whaling film while with the Thorshammer expedition.

Both planes will be equipped with radio, it is said, that the pilots may advise the factory ship of the location of whales, while smoke bombs will also be dropped to show the "killer" ships the whereabouts of their quarry.

The Thorshammer expedition expects to operate next season in the Ross Sea, where the whaling ship C. A. Larsen, which carried Commander Richard E. Byrd and his party to the Antarctic, has maintained a base for several years.

LASSCO TERMINALS HUM WITH ACTIVITY

Los Angeles Steamship Company terminals presented a busy scene yesterday with four arrivals and departures during the day; the City of Los Angeles, in from Honolulu with 341 passengers and 3500 tons of cargo; the Harvard, sailing at 1 a.m. for San Francisco; the Yale, arriving at 2 p.m. from San Diego and sailing two hours later for San Francisco.

The City of Los Angeles had among her prominent passengers Edwin Mills, noted mining engineer of China, en route back to Harvard with a rare group of Chinese statuary; P. C. Beamer, Hilo capitalist, accompanied by Mrs. Beamer and their daughter, Elizabeth, famous as a hula dancer; Ken Maynard, motion-picture actor, and Mrs. Maynard; Frank M. Douglas, local banker, with Mrs. Douglas, Superior Judge Edwin F. Hahn and Mrs. Hahn; Dr. Henry Hollman of Honolulu, famous as the discoverer of the Chaulmoogra leprosy cure, and Koichi Ito, Hawaiian delegate to the national boys' and girls' camps, at Washington, D. C.

Included in the 150 cabin passengers sailing for the islands at noon today aboard the Lasseo liner Calawaii will be Francis Brooks, Deputy City Attorney of Honolulu; F. C. Hoyt, Beverly Hills attorney; William Wochatz, Mexico City attorney; Lee A. Starter, local construction engineer, and a large number of California school-teachers going to Hawaii for vacations. Twelve Shriners from Aloha Temple, Honolulu, will also return on the ship.

Capt. Harry H. Birkholm, district manager of the General Steamship Corporation, handled an unusual array of oriental and European shipments yesterday on four offshore carriers; the British motorships Silveray and Silverelm, of the Kerr Line, the Silveray loading out 3000 tons of oil-well machinery, batching oil, automobiles and general freight for the East Indies, while the Silverelm was discharging a similar amount from Java and Calcutta.

The French liner Indiana was also loading out 2000 tons of California freight for North Europe at the general terminal, while the Swedish motorship Anten completed discharge of 7500 tons of clinkers.

The 140-foot power cruiser Hilda sailed for Santa Barbara yesterday where tomorrow she will depart for a cruise to Alaska with her owner, Charles J. Bolt, family and friends. A Sperry compass was installed on her before her departure, and she will receive a stabiliser on her return south. The yacht was bought on the Atlantic Coast and brought here two months ago.

Carrying Shriners of Duluth and Milwaukee, the Admiral Line flagship H. F. Alexander sailed with more than 500 passengers last night for San Francisco and Seattle. The Nobles will take train east from the latter port. The liner brought 250 travelers south yesterday morning, including Ralph Peters of the United States Gypsum Company, Seattle, and J. F. McConkey of the Sperry Instrument Company, San Francisco. The liner Ruth Alexander, also of the Admiral Line, deleted Ensenada from this week-end voyage, sailing for San Diego last night, and scheduled to return tomorrow night.

Fifty-six hundred tons of case oil and drums of refined petroleum will go out Tuesday in the steamer Waihemo, of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, in yesterday from San Francisco. It is the largest cased shipment to Australia since the Sussex departed last December.

TRANS-PACIFIC MAIL

Following schedule of sailing is provided by the Los Angeles postoffice:

June 9, from Los Angeles Mail, specially addressed, Panama, South and Central America.

For connections at Seattle mail must leave Los Angeles the second day prior to date of sailing, not later than 7:10 a.m.

To connect at San Pedro for the Hawaiian Islands every other Saturday, mail leaves Los Angeles at 6:30 a.m. on Saturday.

Note—To connect at San Francisco, mail must leave Los Angeles on dispatch made not later than 5:30 p.m. the day prior to date.

The cargo is destined for Napier.

Entry of a new Norwegian fleet, to be known as the Klaveness Line to ply trans-Pacific, was announced yesterday by M. A. Richley, terminal superintendent for the McCormick Steamship Company, which yesterday was appointed California agent for the line by Ernest Johnson & Co., general Pacific Coast agents.

The service will start next month with at least six new motorships of 11,000 tons each, all being scheduled for a speed of 12.5 knots. The first vessel will be the motorship Bronxville, due here on her maiden voyage in late July, and loading for North China ports. She will be followed by a second in October, when the regular monthly service will be inaugurated.

Pacific Coast ports to be served will be Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and the Puget Sound, while on the other side the vessels will touch Shanghai, Hongkong, Singapore, Java and Sumatra. Whether Los Angeles will be the first inbound and last outbound port of call was not known yesterday.

Services owned or represented by the McCormick Steamship Company now cover coastwise, intercoastal, European, South American and oriental ports. These fleets now comprise sixty-five vessels. Five years ago the McCormick concern had only half a dozen ships.

HIGHWAYS NEON UNIT ORGANIZED

Delaware Corporation to Take Over Control With Richfield Oil

Organization of Highway Communities, Inc., as a Delaware corporation, is now being effected, officials of the company announced yesterday. It will take over the contract of Claude Neon Electrical Products, Inc., with the Richfield Oil Company of California for the establishment of highway service stations extending from Palm City, near the Mexican border, to Blaine, Wash.

Twenty-six of these stations have already been started and four others are under construction. They are marked with a 125-foot tower lighted with Claude Neon lights and bearing aviation landmarks. Highway Communities, Inc., which will hold the title to the lands on which the stations are located, is planning on the erection of cafes and hotels at each station.

The hotels will be of Spanish design with modern conveniences. The first of the hotels are expected to be ready for occupancy by next fall. They will be operated by a hotel company.

Officers and directors of Highway Communities, Inc., are Paul D. Howse, president, who is president of Claude Neon Electrical Products, Inc.; John B. Miller, chairman of the board of directors; Bert Heimsley, vice-president; Morris B. Miller, secretary-treasurer; George I. Cochran, Henry M. Robinson, Fred White, M. M. Kauffmann and Henry Schuldels.

The capitalization of the company will consist of $1,000,000 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par-value common stock. The offpar value common stock. The officials stated that the stock has been oversubscribed and no public offering is contemplated.

Trade Stability Held Favorable Comment Point

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

After the recent change in speculative aspects, there has plainly developed a closer and wider interest in strictly commercial movements. The underlying importance of trade trends is receiving more recognition now, following a prolonged period during which this phase had relatively small influence in certain quarters, and the comparative stability of conditions remains a point for favorable comment.

There is a clear distinction between the unevenness due to extreme variations in the weather and fundamental weaknesses in the economic structure, and the former element chiefly accounts for such restriction of activities as has lately occurred. With abrupt changes in temperatures over a large area of the country, a steady flow of goods to consumers has been prevented, and concessions in selling have appeared in some retail circles. It is evident from returns of railroad freight traffic, however, that distribution of commodities continues notably heavy.

Weekly bank clearings, $13,004,394,000, an increase of 0.1 per cent over a year ago.

HARRIS TRUST PLANS FOR CAPITAL BOOST

Stockholders of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago will meet on July 6 to vote on increasing the capital stock of the bank from $5,000,000 par value to $6,000,000, the $1,000,000 of new stock to be offered to present stockholders at $500 a share in the ratio of one new share to five now held, according to an announcement by the bank. It is planned to add $1,000,000 of the proceeds to the bank's capital and to pay $4,000,000 to the N. W. Harris Company thus increasing the resources of this company to more than $5,000,000.

WHEEL COMPANY NET EARNINGS ANNOUNCED

PHILADELPHIA, June 7. (Exclusive)—Budd Wheel Company for the first four months of 1929 earned $757,891 net after all charges and Federal tax, equal after preferred dividends to $3.23 a share on the common stock outstanding, it was reported today. The stockholders at an adjourned meeting authorized an increase in common stock from 300,000 to 1,000,000 shares.

NETWORK OF LINES WIDER

International Telephone Extends Service to Peru; System Includes Wire and Wireless Facilities

BY EARLE E. CROWE

International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, the communications system started eight years ago by Col. Sosthenes Behn, extended its international network of telegraph, cable, telephone and wireless service the other day by acquiring an important concession in Peru. Under the terms of the agreement, All America Cables, Inc., a subsidiary, is authorized to establish wireless telephone and wireless telegraph stations in Peru for point-to-point and international communication.

When Col. Behn laid the framework for the present globe girdling system of communication, two small telephone companies in Cuba and Porto Rico were the nucleus. International Telephone now offers nation-wide telegraph service in the United States, controls cables extending to the West Indies, Central and South America, certain principle countries of Europe and the Far East, and serves through telegraph and cable services Canada, Mexico and nearly all other countries in the world.

MACKAY UNITS ADDED

Through consolidation with the companies controlled by Clarence H. Mackay, International Telephone's operations extend to Los Angeles by telegraph, cable and radio service. Postal Telegraph, Mackay Radio, Commercial Cables and Commercial Pacific Cables were the Mackay companies brought into the International system in 1928 and supplied the additional impetus for the expansion program now under way.

Entrance of the subsidiary, All-America Cables, Inc., into Peru is a step in the I.T.&T. program to inaugurate wireless telephone service between South America and Spain, and later between South America and the United States. Exploitation of the wireless telephone by this company is also part of the I.T.&T. plans for the international unification of wireless, cable and land-line services in the belief that they are supplemental to each other.

The most important step along this line is the proposed acquisition by International Telephone and Telegraph of the Radio Communications Company from the Radio Corporation of America. If this purchase is permitted by law, the I.T.&T. system of international communication will be unsurpassed.

RADIO INTERESTS WIDEN

Besides the Mackay radio system along the Pacific Coast, International Telephone's other radio interests to date are centered in companies in Argentina and in Chile. The addition of a ship-to-shore service on the Atlantic Coast was recently made, and it is expected that wireless telephone service will be also inaugurated in the United States.

National telephone systems are operated by I.T.&T. in Spain, where a higher percentage of automatic telephones is in service than in any other country in Europe; in Cuba, Porto Rico, Mexico, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay and Southern Brazil.

I.T.&T. is also interested in the manufacture of telephone equipment for governments, cities and companies throughout the world. International Standard Electric Corporation, a manufacturing subsidiary, has supplied equipment to Belgium, New Switzerland, Rumania, Sweden, Switzerland, Holland, Denmark, France, China, England and other countries.

Plane Fleet to Carry Bankers

W. D. Longyear, vice-president, Security-First National Bank, and chairman of the special airplane committee of the California Bankers' Association, has invited southern California bankers and their wives to fly to the annual convention of the association at Sacramento next week. Last year Northern California bankers flew to the Pasadena convention. A fleet of big three-motored twelve-passenger super-Fokkers will leave Vail Field, East Los Angeles, next Wednesday at 9 o'clock and will arrive at the State capital in time for luncheon.

Sacramento bankers have planned a unique welcome. The planes will be met by six-horse Concord stage coaches, dating back to "the days of '49," and the Southern California bankers will ride in these to their hotels. One of them will be driven by Hank Monk, a descendant of the "Hank Monk" of gold-day fame. Another will have Gov. Young on the driver's seat.

Occidental Oil Dividend Voted

Directors of the Occidental Petroleum Company yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of 30 cents a share on the capital stock, payable the 29th inst., to stock of record the 19th inst. Previously, the company has paid monthly dividends, 5 cents being paid in January, 2 cents in February, and 3 cents in April, the March dividend having been passed.

The directors on the 10th of September will determine the amount of the next quarterly dividend, which will be payable September 30, next, to stock of record September 20. The company is now receiving 45 per cent of the net receipts from wells drilled by the Universal Consolidated Oil Company, the drilling costs having been paid last month.

DU PONT ELECTED

NEW YORK, June 7. (Exclusive) Lamont Du Pont, president of E. I. Du Pont De Nemours & Co. and chairman of the board of directors of General Motors Corporation, today was elected president of the Manufacturing Chemical Association of the United States.

BANK RATE UNCHANGED

CHICAGO, June 7. (Exclusive)—No change was made today in the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rate from 5 per cent.

MERGER OF BANK UNITS GIVEN VOTE

Pacific National-Bank of Commerce Stockholders Ratify Proposal

Stockholders of the Pacific National Bank, and of the National Bank of Commerce, at special meetings held yesterday afternoon, voted approval of the consolidation which has been under way for several months. The merger will become effective on July 15, at which time the consolidated banks will begin functioning under a new name, the Pacific Bank of Commerce, National Association of Los Angeles.

Joint announcement of the approval by stockholders of the merger plans was made by T. A. Morrissey, president of the Pacific National Bank, and by Erle M. Leaf, president of the National Bank of Commerce.

Following the meeting of stockholders of the National Bank of Commerce, directors of the bank met, and declared a cash distribution of $3 per share, payable July 1, to stockholders of record at close of business the 12th inst.

Under the merger plan, the capitalization of the Pacific Bank of Commerce, National Association, will be increased to 120,000 shares of stock, $25 par value, making a total capitalization of $3,000,000.

Of the new stock, 80,000 shares will be allotted to shareholders of the Pacific National Bank, the exchange being made on a share for share basis, and 20,000 shares will be allotted to stockholders of the National Bank of Commerce, also on a share-for-share basis. The remaining 20,000 shares of stock will be sold to stockholders of both banks in the proportion of one share of new stock for each five shares of old at $40 per share to stockholders of record at the close of business the 12th inst. Stockholders' warrants will be issued on or before the 13th inst., and subscriptions must be made on or before July 8.

BANKERS TO ATTEND EASTERN CONCLAVES

Two Security-First National Bank officers, Lawrence W. Eley, vice-president, and George S. Greene, assistant cashier, left yesterday to attend conventions in the East. Mr. Eley is vice-president of the Association of Reserve City Bankers, and will lead a discussion on "Reserve Calculations" at the eighteenth annual conclave to be held next week on board the S.S. Noronic as it cruises the Detroit River and Lake Huron.

Mr. Greene, who is national president of the Exchange Clubs, will attend State conventions of those organizations in Indiana, Ohio, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Alabama, and will be away a month.

LAND VALUE POLICY WRITING INCREASES

The Federal Land Value Insurance Company in a report just released announces that contracts written since its public financing last November to April 30 are in excess of $2,000,000. During that period new policies written under these contracts have averaged about $240,000 a month. The company regards this as a satisfactory showing, in the light of the dull real estate market. The company is now qualified to do business in California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Texas, Illinois, Michigan and Florida, and is in process of qualifying in Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa, Ohio, Missouri and New Jersey.

FORD PLANE OUTPUT INCREASE ON SLATE

DETROIT, June 7. (Exclusive)—Announcement was made by the airplane division of the Ford Motor Company today that production of trimotored all-metal Ford air transports have been increased to four a week. The production schedule since the beginning of the year has averaged three planes weekly, but additional facilities have permitted a gradual stepping up of the schedule. Officials stated that it will be September before the airplane factory can produce sufficient planes to meet orders now on hand.

BANK TO WARM HOUSE

Bank of Italy to occupy New Branch Home Today

The Vermont and Forty-eighth-street branch of the Bank of Italy opens for business today in the new bank building directly across the street from the present location. An open-house reception will be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and a number of head officials will be in attendance to assist W. H. Waters, manager, receive friends and clients.

The growth and development of the southwest section, according to officials of the bank, have necessitated the erection of a new building, in which provision has been made for banking quarters three times the size of the old room. Low-type fixtures and modern vaults are features of the new installation.

J. S. DRUM RESIGNS AS BANK HEAD

Telegram Tells Decision to Vacate Presidency of American Trust

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7. (AP)—John S. Drum, president of the American Trust Company, presented his resignation to the board of directors this afternoon, because of continued activities which, he said, would make it necessary for him to be away from California for long periods. John D. McKee, chairman of the board, temporarily assumed the position of president.

A special meeting of the directorate was held to consider a telegram from Drum, who was in New York, offering his resignation. In addition to quitting as president of the bank Drum resigned as head of the American Company, the American National, the Mercantile American Realty Company and Mercantile Mortgage Company. He will remain as head of the Pacific Coast Trust Company, New York subsidiary of the American Company.

It was understood that several men were being considered as Drum's successor, and directors intimated an announcement might be made soon.

Drum became president of Mercantile Trust in 1920. He had been head of the San Francisco Savings Union since 1910. He became a nationally known figure as a member of the capital issues committee of the War Finance Corporation.

After the meeting the directors made the following statement:

"We accepted the resignation of Mr. Drum with regret and wish to express our appreciation of his brilliant abilities and constructive energy through which the bank has enjoyed its splendid expansion and its present outstanding size and position."

Big Board Opens Trading Door to Investment Trust

NEW YORK, June 7. (Exclusive) A new departure from the customary practice of the New York Stock Exchange was inaugurated today in the announcement of its willingness to receive applications for listing and according trading privileges to the shares of investment trusts.

Heretofore, the exchange has not admitted the shares of such institutions, although it has admitted to trading the stocks of some concerns classed as holding companies, such as the Allegheny Corporation.

The latest and most important of holding companies admitted to the exchange is the new United Corporation formed by the Morgan-Bonbright-Drexel banking interests to hold minority interests in several of the largest utility companies in the East.

The new ruling by the stock exchange may mean that eventually it will admit to trading shares of such corporations as the New Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, Electric Bond and Share, Penroad Corporation—formed to acquire the holdings of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Wabash and Lehigh Valley railroads—American Superpower, and Allied Power and Light, now traded in on the curb. These are regarded as holding companies.

The exchange committee also imposed another bar by stating that it will consider for the present only trusts of the general or management type.

CITY EMPLOYEES URGE WATER BONDS

SAN DIEGO, June 7.—Employees of the city street department are supporting the water bonds to be voted July 16, it was declared today when Supt. Robert M. Gregory exhibited pledges that represent almost 100 per cent of the department personnel. Other city employees also are backing the bonds. Arrangements are being perfected whereby a precinct organization will provide means for all persons desiring to vote to reach the polls. This organization is to consist of two persons to a precinct.

STANDARD PRODUCTS TO LIST NEW STOCK

Standard Products, Inc., manufacturers of water-proofing materials, will file application to list its new Class B common stock on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange within the next thirty days, Frederick Beutel, president, said yesterday. The removal of the old preferred and common stocks Thursday from the Curb followed changes in the capital structure of the concern, which will have only one class of stock outstanding.

OIL TANK DESTROYED BY FIRE IN DETROIT

DETROIT, June 7. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin in the storage yards of the Sun Oil Company consumed the contents of one large tank and for a time threatened several adjoining factory buildings and residences today. It required more than an hour to bring the blaze under control. No one was injured.

NESCO OFFICERS NAMED

Appointment of J. F. Hahn as vice-president and treasurer in charge of finance and of Thomas W. Gulley as vice-president in charge of sales was announced yesterday by the National Enameling & Stamping Company, Inc. Both Mr. Hahn and Mr. Gulley have been identified with the Nesco company for many years.

ECONOMIC EXPERTS DIFFER

University Professor and Chase Banker Wide Apart in Views on Stabilizing Price Level

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, June 7.—Just before Prof. Lionel D. Edie of the University of Chicago, sailed for Europe this week to continue his study of European central banks, he said he looked with concern upon the tendency of the general level of prices to fall. Serious results are bound to follow such a development, he believes.

Stabilizing of the price level is primarily a monetary problem, says this expert, in contrast to Economist B. M. Anderson of the Chase National Bank of New York, who has recently issued a bulletin in which he holds that stabilizing the price level should not be a function of central banking policy.

Dr. Edie does not believe that the central bank of any one country can absolutely stabilize the purchasing power of money—that is, the general level of prices, but he believes that all of the central banks working together can do a great deal in such a matter.

"Business, including agriculture and labor, must for its protection, insist that a solution be found—because, with an unstable dollar, business is a gigantic gamble, and business cannot continue to permit archaic views of monetary policy to dictate its destiny," Dr. Edie contends.

The League of Nations has now a special committee studying the whole problem of how to steady the price level. It can be made a very valuable contribution to the problem of continuous prosperity.

H. N. Bradisford, the British writer, author of "The War of Steel and Gold," believes that Ramsay MacDonald's striking victory in Great Britain will avail nothing in big results, if certain factors outside of the political realm are not brought into sympathetic working understanding with government policy.

"If the Treasury and the Bank of England are strong enough to continue the policy of incessant monetary deflation which has kept us for eight years at subnormal temperature," says Bradisford, "then the British Labor victory will be an empty one."

He believes "the real peril to Labor's experiment comes less from Liberal politicians than from social forces which will resist disarmament, and from financial interests which must oppose its economic policy."

Study that statement for a day!

ACTIVITY IN WOOL TRADE HELD LIGHT

Weekly Survey Reports Medium Grades Leading in Light Buying

BOSTON, June 7. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

The movement of wool in the eastern seaboard markets has not been keen this week, although medium wools appear to be rather better stabilized than fine wools, even best fine French combing wools bring 95 cents, clean, with difficulty.

In the West, the marketing of the new crop has been irregular, although the movement has been a little more keen toward the end of the week and prices show little change compared with a week ago.

Foreign markets are generally quiet. Liverpool reports little change in prices at the East India sales from last series' closing rates.

The manufacturing position evidently is without material change. Repeat business appears a little less eager.

Mohair is steady here with moderate movement. Prices in Turkey are reported slightly easier.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1929, to June 6, 1929, inclusive, were 80,271,000 pounds, against 76,540,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1929, to June 6, 1929, inclusive, were 116,284,685 pounds, against 128,744,100 pounds for the same period last year.

The Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations tomorrow:

Exchange Offer of Tide Water Associated Due

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Directors of Tide Water Associated Oil Company today announced an exchange of stock offer to minority shareholders of Tide Water Oil Company, a subsidiary. The exchange is on the basis of 1 9-4 Tide Water Associated Oil common shares for one Tide Water Oil common share.

President Axtell J. Byles, president of Tide Water Associated, said holders of substantial blocks of Tide Water Oil common had signified their intention of accepting the offer.

Jackson E. Reynolds and Henry S. Sturgis, president and vice-president, respectively, of the First National Bank, were elected to the Tide Water Associated's board.

Tide Water Associated, formed in 1926 as a holding company, holds a controlling interest in Associated Oil Company and Tide Water Ore and unites the management. Each is a complete unit in the petroleum industry, Tide Water Oil having large reserves of crude in midcontinent and eastern fields and associated on the Pacific Coast.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Cotton rallied from a slight opening decline today on a renewal of the recent buying movement which was probably promoted by some uncertainty as to weather conditions over the week-end and bullish crop advices from the Southwest. The demand tapered off after advances of about 9 to 13 points, however, and the market eased later under realizing prompted by the development of a somewhat easier tone in grain and stocks.

The mid-afternoon market was quiet, with prices about unchanged to 3 points lower.

Light Volume of Trading Again Dominates Activity in Securities Listed Here

Only 9,000 shares registered on the tape, trading yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange again reflected the apathetic attitude of the investing colony. Douglas Aircraft worked up a fair-sized volume of transactions, but the final price of 38½ represented a decline of 1 point from the previous day. Emsco Derrick at 34 1-4 was unchanged, while in the public utility list Southern California Edison improved 1-8 point to 58 1-8. Security-First National was unchanged at 130.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Bond traders found little comfort in today's dull session. Prices held fairly steady, but the volume of business was the smallest in a fortnight.

United States government issues showed infinitesimal improvement in the face of the Treasury's announcement of the 3 1/8 per cent interest rate it was placing on the 15th inst. short-term financing, and it was apparent that big news had been generally discounted in advance. Observers of the market had concluded some time ago that the government would be forced to pay as much as 3 per cent for the money, hence the announcement of the 3 1/8 coupon occasioned little surprise.

Foreign issues, notably New York City obligations and the convertible attracted attention. The first-named issue was particularly strong on continued absence of realizations for selling. Those obligations were also sustained under the influence of Governor Roosevelt's proposals for the immediate future. The New York Transit bonds were moderately active. Pending referendum on and refunding of 7% and 8% equipment, sold on Corporation's cash basis, stirred up the volume of sales by a contribution of 70 per cent of the day's total. Purchase, pending the final group offers inconsequential. The largest participation was shown by Public Service of New Jersey 6s, 1967, which at 101 3/8 made a new record value.

Rails, industrials and utilities developed no definite price trend, quiet specialties attracted attention. Hudson Theater 6s found some demand among the speculative issues.

Foreign bonds had little support and moved between narrow bounds.

The quotations represent sales of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, or bid and closing prices in the over-the-counter trade. To provide comparisons, the dates of the last sales in each case are given. Bonds dealt in both flat and those where accrued interest is added are marked "a-f."

DRIFT OF STOCK PRICES AIMLESS

sent up about 5 and 8 points to new highs, and American Power and Light equaled its previous peak.

Other strong spots were Allis Chalmers and General Electric, with extreme gains of about 8 points and General Bronze and Triico Products, which reached new highs. Erie and New Haven again reached new tops, but reacted for net losses of more than a point. American Brown Boveri sold near its record price on payment of accumulated back dividends on the preferred.

The break in Commonwealth Power, which amounted to 36 points at one time, was variously attributed to an overbulled position, disappointment in the action of the Commonwealth and Southern stock on the curb, and reports that an exchange offer by Commonwealth and Southern to a limited number of stockholders had lapsed. The stock closed at 191, off 21 points. Radio broke more than 6 points to 81 1-4, but closed at 84. Beechnut Packing, Burroughs, Columbian Carbon, New York Central, Wright Aero, Simms, Spicer and Sparks Withington were among issues losing 2 to 4 points. Gillette Safety Razor, Central Aguirre Associates, and Peerless Motor were among a sprinkling reaching new 1929 lows.

In the commodity markets, grains were firm on bullish weather reports. Weather reports agecting cotton, however, were regarded as more favorable, and futures closed a little lower.

Foreign exchanges were quiet, with sterling cables again slipping back to $4.84 7-8. The Spanish peseta continued to rally from its recent break, reaching 4.15 cents.

MANY DROP FROM ROLLS OF BAPTISTS

About 400,000 Members Sever Connections With Church in Fifteen Years

DENVER, June 7. (AP)—Approximately 400,000 members of the Baptist faith have severed their connection with the church in the last fifteen years, it is shown in a survey prepared for presentation to the northern Baptist convention which convenes here next week.

The survey, compiled by five clergymen of the denomination, also recites that despite salary increases effected in the last decade ministers still iremain the lowest-paid class of men in the nation.

Statistics are presented to show that during the past fifteen years 1,000,000 new members have been baptized, 250,000 have died and the net gain, instead of being 750,000, in reality is only 339,000.

In 1919, the survey shows, only 8 per cent of Baptist ministers received as much as $1500 a year, the average being $683. Reports from 4505 of the 7000 Baptist pastors show that 3338 of them received more than $1500 last year.

DRY FORCE INQUIRY TO GO DEEPER

Suspension of Six Agents to be Followed by Fresh Moves by Administrator

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7. (Exclusive)—With the report that more prohibition agents than the six now under suspension are implicated in appropriation for their own use of confiscated sugar and other moonshine material, Administrator Bohner today started a thorough investigation of his department.

"We will get to the bottom of this thing," he said, "and every man who has taken government property must suffer. There is one peculiar coincidence in this matter. The arrest of the half-dozen accused agents came at the time when three men were resigning from the department. One of them, Frank Whittier, is quoted as saying that the bottom has not been reached. If he knew about thefts on the part of other agents, why did he wait until the day he resigned to say so?"

All the men accused of stealing, with the exception of Agent Zimmerman, were certified to Bohner by the Civil Service Commission as having successfully passed examinations and only after thorough investigation had been made regarding their character and integrity. Zimmerman had passed only part of the civil service examination and was waiting to take the rest of it.

Charles McVeigh, agent in chief, whom other agents accuse of permitting them to take seized sugar home, called on Bohner today and flatly denied the accusations.

Dr. Graves in Bay City Jail

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7. (Exclusive)—Bruce from Los Angeles to face charges of grand theft in connection with an asserted scheme to recover buried treasure, Dr. Karl Armgaard Graves arrived at the city prison tonight. He was booked under the name of Paul P. Gunther, the alias he has been using.

Graves is accused by Henry Kirchmann, Jr., San Francisco lumberman, of defrauding him of $3500 on the buried-treasure scheme. Graves declined to discuss the charges.

CALTECH GIVES DEGREES TO 129

Graduation Exercises Seen by 3000 in Pasadena

Students Urged to Broaden Scientific Efforts

Millikan Announces Forming of New Department

By "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, June 7.—If scientific discoveries are to be used to bless mankind and not evil causes, the work of the scientist must not be confined to the laboratory, but must be applied in the fields of politics and industry, was the message given by Dr. Frank B. Jewett, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, to 129 students who were awarded degrees at the California Institute of Technology this afternoon.

Viewed by 3000 persons, the one hour exercises, held in the court between Dabney Hall of Chemistry and Gates Chemical Laboratory, were followed by the announcement on the progress of the educational institution made by Robert A. Millikan, chairman of the executive council.

INSTITUTE LEADS

Declaring that a new department of business engineering will be created next year, Dr. Millikan said: "In conservatively one of the most conservatively of all of our American institutions of science and engineering stands the California Institute. As to the quality of instruction in the few humanistic departments, history, economics and philosophy is concerned," the engineering department will not attempt to train students for particular vocations, but will afford students in engineering courses in the methods and principles of organized business. Dr. Robert F. Gilkey of the faculty of Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration will be in charge of the new department, and will devote part of his time to establishing closer contacts between the Institute and Southern California business interests, it was announced.

Dr. Jewett noted the completion of the first unit of the Dr. G. Kirchhoff Laboratory of Physics. Dr. Karl Belar of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institut fur Physik, Berlin, will join the faculty next year as professor of physics.

DEGREES AWARDED

Among the honorary appointments announced, including that of Dr. Enrico Fermi of the University of Rome, Italy, as visiting professor of engineering, Prof. Millikan announced the granting of new doctorates of philosophy in physics to Carl Anderson, who has been a graduate student here for four years, and Dr. Seth Barnes Nicholson, who received his degree "in absentia" as a result of research work done at Mount Wilson Observatory.

Dr. Nicholson, who is now in Europe, was awarded the degree for his discovery of the tenth satellite of Jupiter, which was announced last December.

Degrees were awarded to 129 students, including 15 graduate students who received the degree of doctor of philosophy, 15 who received the degree of engineer, 15 who received the degree of master of science, and 84 who received the degree of bachelor of science.

Dr. Millikan presided at the exercises, which were opened with the invocation by Rev. Raymond Calkins, president of Fuller Theological Seminary. Dr. Calkins' subject was "The Search for Truth," said Mr. Millikan, "is the greatest trouble maker in the world. But truth discovered by the search is put to bad use and the cycle of destruction begins again."

BANK GROUP WILL INVITE CONVENTION

Delegates to Institute's Session to Bid for 1932 Meeting Here

With the avowed purpose of procuring the 1932 convention of the American Institute of Banking for Los Angeles, 150 Pacific Coast delegates to the national convention to be held next week at Tulsa have departed by special train. Such a convention is expected to bring about 5000 bankers to Los Angeles.

C. E. Lones of the Security-First National Bank, president of the Los Angeles chapter of the institute, heads the Coast delegation. With him are W. A. Polk of the Bank of America of California, past-president of the local chapter; P. R. Williams of the Bank of Italy, past-national president; Miss Evelyn Ann Davis, Security-First National Bank, chairman of the Women's committee; Miss Eugenie M. Nivoche of the Bank of America of California, past chairman of the committee.

A feature of the Tulsa convention will be the national oratorical contest under the Giannini foundation, in which Robert L. Gordon of the Bank of Italy will compete as the Pacific Coast representative.

Before leaving for Oklahoma, the Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, San Francisco, Oakland, San Jose, Fresno, Sacramento and Bakersfield delegations were guests of Los Angeles bankers for a day of sightseeing.

EINSTEIN TALK SLATED

Demonstrating the Einstein theory of relativity, D. M. De Morandini, a professor of mathematics and physics, will speak at Good Templars Hall, 1225 West Jefferson street, this evening at 8:15 o'clock. The meeting is to be conducted under the auspices of the Scandinavian Educational League. Dr. Albin Peterson will preside.

WOMAN INDICTED AGAIN

Two More Federal Bills Found Against Hollywood Income Tax Adviser, J. Marjorie Berger

For the seventh time the Federal grand jury indicted J. Marjorie Berger, income-tax adviser, for making of asserted fraudulent income-tax returns for various Hollywood motion-picture persons when the jury returned its true bills yesterday. Sixteen others were indicted on various charges. Three of the true bills were secret.

Miss Berger, who was accused in five other indictments, yesterday faced two new true bills. One is in connection with asserted fraud in connection with tax returns for Raymond Griffith, a motion-picture actor. The other relates to returns for King Vidor, motion-picture director and actor.

MADE CUT IN FIGURES

It is asserted that the government figured the gross income for Griffith for 1925 at $65,659.70, with a deductible amount of $4974.70, making a tax of $6969.48, whereas Miss Berger made returns deducting $18,646.64, offering a tax of $4361.82. For the 1926 return for Griffith the government made his income at $115,154.79 and a deductible amount of $9131.10 with a tax of $17,634.67. It is asserted Miss Berger deducted $30,996.25, offering a tax of $12,174.86.

The indictment relating to the tax returns of Vidor referred to the same figures contained in an information filed against Vidor charging failure to pay his income tax, a misdemeanor.

BANKER INDICTED

The grand jury also indicted Lyall B. Cruickshank, 33 years of age, former manager of the Whittier and Lorena-streets branch of the Bank of Italy. He is accused of misapplication of $2180.90 of bank funds, said to have been used to promote a company handling inventions. Cruickshank formerly was in the banking business in Canada and resides at 3329 Whittier Boulevard.

An indictment was returned against John A. Thomas, said to have a long police record, on a charge of impersonating a govern-

SAVING ON LEVIES SOUGHT

Councilman Hall Moves for Reduction of Future Assessment Loads by Fee and Cost Cuts

Savings of hundreds of thousands of dollars to assessment payers in connection with street opening and widening proceedings is the announced by Councilman Hall in the City Council yesterday, which recommends a change in the procedure for the appointment of appraisers and for the fixing of their fees and other fees accompanying such proceedings.

The resolution points out that the Council bears the responsibility for the confirmation and spreading of the assessments for street opening and widening projects, but has no control over the costs of the projects. In most cases in recent years, it is added, the final cost for opening and widening proceedings actually has been double the amount of the estimate given to the Council when it ordered the proceedings started.

ONE OF CHIEF FACTORS

The chief contributory factor to this situation has been, in the opinion of the Council, the granting of excessive condemnation awards. Another important factor, according to the resolution, has been the heavy legal expenses.

During the three-year period from January 1, 1926, to December 31, 1928, it is pointed out, a total of $949,562.16 was paid out for referees' fees, appraisers' fees, court costs, title searches and other miscellaneous expenses connected with opening and widening proceedings. In some instances, the resolution states, referees and appraisers have been paid fees as high as $10,000.

COUNCIL'S JURISDICTION

The Council cannot control either the selection of referees or the amount of their fees, but the resolution asserts it can take a hand in the appointment of appraisers, the fixing of their fees, and the incurring of costs for title searches and the other miscellaneous expenses incidental to opening and widening proceedings.

At present the City Attorney has sole jurisdiction over such matters. The resolution recommends that a board of four members be created to exercise this jurisdiction and that the board be made up of the City Attorney and the chairmen of

RAIL LINES OF INTEREST TO GERMANS

Visiting Officials Deeply Impressed by National Parks and Resorts

Surveying American railroad methods with a view to applying certain standards and practices common in the United States to their own lines, Dr. Adolf Sarter, presiding director of the German National Railroads, and Dr. Theodore Kittel, another director of the German lines, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning on the Continental Limited.

"We are particularly interested in your advertising methods in America," said Dr. Kittel. "In Germany we use color as you do here, but we have no attraction so colorful as your national parks. It is almost impossible to make a comparison between the things Germany offers railroad passengers and these which are offered in America, because they are so different. We have our old cities, some of the oldest in the world, and our ancient feudal castles. Our scenery, as you would describe it, is to be found principally in the Alps, but again comparison scarcely could be made to your American scenery."

"Your problems," said Dr Sarter, "are different from ours also and your American advertising of them is one of the most interesting phases of railroad activity we have found here. No resorts such as American railroads sponsor are conducted by German railways on a comparable scale. While we are in Los Angeles we want to see Hollywood and the pictures. All Germany is interested in them!"

Dr. Sarter and his associate will visit many Pacific Coast railroad terminals, spending four days in the Southland and then proceeding northward to Seattle, returning to New York City over Canadian lines. They will sail for Berlin the 29th inst.

GIFTS TO U.S.C. BREAK RECORD

More Than $1,300,000 Put to School's Credit

President to Report Total at Commencement

Semicentennial Fund More Than $2,300,000

A total of more than $1,300,000 has been added to the assets of the University of Southern California during the past year, according to a report made to President Von Klein" by Harry J. Bauer, chairman of the university's semicentennial commission, formal announcement of which will be made by the president at the university's annual commencement this afternoon at the Coliseum. This is the largest sum that ever has been added to the university's resources within a year.

A great many persons in and near Los Angeles, according to Mr. Bauer, joined in making possible this total. Among the larger gifts was that of the Seeley Wintersmith Mudd Memorial Hall of Philosophy; a second gift of $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny, Jr., now deceased, who gave a similar amount last year; $100,000 from Dr. Wesley W. Beckett for the school of medicine, and $25,000 from Ben R. Meyer, president of the Union Bank and Trust Company.

Mr. Bauer reported that a grand total of more than $2,300,000 has been obtained toward the semicentennial fund that the university is obtaining in celebration of its fiftieth anniversary in 1930. A great number of friends have made their gifts because of their interest in special departments of the university and have requested that they be applied to such purposes.

CLASS AT U.S.C. WILL GRADUATE TODAY

The climax of a college career will come for the graduating class of the University of Southern California today when the forty-sixth annual commencement exercises are conducted at 4 p.m.

Garbed in cap and gown, with academic hods of colored velvet and silk falling from their shoulders, the senior will assemble on the Trojan campus, march through Exposition Park, cross the Coliseum from east to west, and then participate in the program.

The university conducts but one public commencement program a year, in June, so that those students who completed their college work in February will be included in the group.

MEDALS FOR STUDENTS

Charles Frederick Wright, permanent president of the senior class of 1929 of Southern California, will deliver the class oration, his topic to be "An Appeal to the Schoolroom."

Honors will be awarded to meritorious students.

Lloyd Burdette Thomas, three-year Trojan football and basketball star, receives the Trojan diamond medal for physical accomplishment, awarded annually by Harry Lee Martin, S. C. alumnus.

David Logan Bryant, senior of the college of commerce and business administration, will receive the Trojan diamond medal for intellectual ability.

Bryant will also be the recipient of the Delta Sigma Pi key for excellence in scholarship and promise of future business success.

The American Institute of Architect's prize awarded for the highest general average in the school of architecture throughout the four years has been won by Mark Langaunet Hawker.

DENTAL AWARDS

The Los Angeles County Dental Society medal, for highest scholarship average for the four-year course in dentistry is to be awarded to Robert Keith Thompson.

The Garrett Newkirk medal, awarded for combined academic and technical attainments in the college of dentistry, is to be the property of Jack Sherman Rounds.

The school of law alumni medal, for highest scholarship average for the law course, has been earned by Arthur Edwin Preston.

Dixie Dunningan has been chosen as the woman student in the school of law with the highest scholarship average for the course, and she will receive the Kappa Beta Pi scholarship medal.

The Lottie Lane prize for the highest scholarship average in the college of letters, arts and sciences is to be awarded to Thora Nina Allen.

The highest average scholarship in the college of pharmacy was attained by Miles W. Hagen, who will receive the Lehn & Fink medal.

DEER HUNTERS' DISPUTE TO COST SOME ONE DEAR

What might be the highest price ever paid for an animal in the entire history of deer-hunting is being computed in Superior Judge Sproul's court, where the $35,884 damage suit of Fred E. Hensing against Jack Morrow and John Scholtes is on trial.

Hensing, an electrician, says he shot a certain deer in the Verdugo Hills last fall. When he started to shoulder the carcass, he said, Scholtes and Morrow appeared, asserting the animal had fallen victim to their bullets. Without waiting to compare evidence the three men began fighting. Hensing says his nose was broken and his eyesight impaired during the onslaught by his two assailants. They deny they were aggressors, and say Hensing attacked them.

When attorneys in the case raised the question of an expert huntsman to testify concerning the ethics of deer hunting Judge Sproul offered to be the expert himself, assuming judicial knowledge of the shooting of deer by virtue of his long hunting experience in Los Angeles county.

Each side is trying to prove by the position of the bullet wound in the deer that his opponent could not have bagged the quarry.

LOS ANGELES GIRL TO WED EASTERNER

Rebecca Louise Benson

ANGELENO'S DAUGHTER TO BE BRIDE

Benson-Bills Nuptials in New York Announced for Next Saturday

Miss Rebecca Louise Benson, 25 years of age, 1221 North Vermont avenue, and Geoffrey Bills, 25, secretary and treasurer of the Baker-Voorhis Company, law book publishers of New York City, will be married next Saturday in the Little Church Around the Corner. The license was issued in New York yesterday.

Miss Benson is the daughter of William Benson of this city, a retired capitalist of Pittsburgh, Pa. The family came to Los Angeles two years ago after Miss Benson had finished her course at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh. During her residence here she attended the University of California at Los Angeles and the University of Southern California.

Geoffrey Bills is the son of Joseph Bills, president of the Baker-Voorhis Company, one of the oldest publishing houses in America. The couple met in Europe. A wedding reception and dinner at the Park Way Hotel, New York, will follow the ceremony.

Pickpocketing Losses Small During Week

During the five days the Shrine hosts were in Los Angeles, participating in parades, Coliseum celebrations and innumerable impromptu performances attracting dense crowds, only five complaints of pickpockets were reported to police, it was announced yesterday by Captain of Detectives Thomas, head of the police bunko and pickpocket squad.

Of the five only two losses, totaling less than $100, according to Thomas, were reported.

This surprising minimum of this class of crime, generally so prevalent at large conventions, was due primarily, according to Chief of Detectives Cline, to the work of Detective Lieutenant Reed. Reed, who has worked on the pickpocket squad for years, Cline explained, has gathered a nearly complete list of all suspected pickpockets. The word was passed out that the police would arrest on suspicion any of these characters found on the streets during the convention. Most of the group stayed indoors, it was stated. A few ventured out, and as a result six were arrested.

ALDEN KINDRED PICNIC

The annual picnic of the Alden kindred of California will be held next Tuesday at the island in Echo Park.

Bids Departing Shriners Sad-Eyed Good-by

Rear Guard of Nobles Hits Hot Sands Today

Everyone Admits Best of All Convention Times

Au revoir, but not good-by!

This was the universal parting yesterday as the weary but happy host of Shriners who have been cavorting in Los Angeles for the last few days continued to leave for their homes in all sections of the country.

The exodus of the pleasantly exhausted Nobles began Thursday night and will not end until today, for more than 100,000 visitors were guests of the city during the fifty-fifth annual Shrine convention. Many caravans of the Faithful filled special trains, ordinary trains, chartered steamers, regular steamers, automobiles and airplanes as they reluctantly left the place of gay memories.

THOUSAND REMAIN

But even at that, some were left behind. More than 1000 Shriners are reported to be staying in Los Angeles until the Elks' convention next month. Hundreds are making extended visits with relatives and friends. Several have decided to reside permanently in the Southland, so entranced were they by the welcome they received in this beautiful all-year vacation land, according to officials of the local temple.

LeRoy M. Edwards, director-general of the convention, says that more than a dozen of the visiting Nobles will become citizens here and enter the business life of Los Angeles. This is the greatest tribute that the city and Al Malaikah Temple could receive, he believes.

Never has the order been presented with such a brilliant program of entertainment. Never has a metropolis so wholeheartedly accepted a convention as was shown by the hospitality and good will of Los Angeles during the conclave, according to James H. Price, Imperial Recorder of the Shrine.

CITY DESOLATE

Today the city seems desolate, after the mad, merry-making thousands that poured in gay parades and riotous frolics through its streets for several days. It is the inevitable aftermath of exhilaration. "Tired but very happy" is the remark heard everywhere.

The roar of trains leaving the stations of the city will cease tonight at 11 p.m. when Pyramid Temple of Bridgeport, Ct., pulls out of the Central station. Fifteen trainloads of Shriners left yesterday and today.

The most colorful departure was that of the Matson Line flagship Malolo, which left yesterday afternoon for Honolulu, carrying 530 Shriners and their families on a cruise to Hawaii. All of the temples in Shrinedom were represented on the trip, headed by the new Imperial Potentate, Leo V. Youngworth. Almost 200 members of Al Malaikah, his home temple, accompanied the supreme officer of the order as honorary escort.

FESTIVITIES PLANNED

A varied round of entertainment is promised for the caravan in Hawaii. They will be welcomed by Aloha Temple of Honolulu, feted by the Governor of the islands, taken on scenic tours, invited to native festivals, and generally offered the hospitality for which the residents of Hawaii are famous. They are scheduled to arrive at Honolulu next Thursday at 8 a.m. They plan to leave the 18th inst. at midnight and return via San Francisco.

More than forty special trains of Shriners who attended the convention here returned home by way of San Francisco and other northern points of interest. The huge delegation of 2000 from Medinah Temple at Chicago arrived in San Francisco yesterday. Luncheons, dances, sight-seeing tours and other entertainment were arranged for all visiting delegations by Islam Temple there. Last night an illuminated street parade was presented.

FINANCED ITSELF

A significant feature of the conclave that just closed here is the fact that no financial assistance was asked from the merchants of the city in putting on the monster program, it is announced by LeRoy M. Edwards, director-general. This is the first time in the history of the order that a convention has been

NEW TEMPLE DEDICATED

Impressive Ceremonies Attend Presentation of Edifice to B'nai B'rith

B'nai B'rith's new temple of faith, at Wilshire Boulevard and Hobart, was dedicated "to the glory of God and the welfare of humanity" last night at the first of a series of ceremonies which will continue today and through Sunday.

The new edifice which has just been completed at a cost of approximately $1,500,000 and is said to be the finest synagogue in the world, formally was presented to B'nai B'rith congregation by the chairman of its building committee, following which a dedicatory sermon was delivered by Rabbi Magnin.

"Culminating the loyalty and faith of B'nai B'rith congregation, founded sixty-seven years ago, the new temple," Dr. Magnin said in his address, "represents more than a work of art." Such faith and loyalty, he said, are "imprisoned in wood, stone, marble and canvas, and within its walls will live the soul of your loved ones and our own as well, long after we have mingled with the dust."

Preceding Dr. Magnin's dedicatory address the Scrolls of Law were deposited with solemn ceremony in the Memorial Ark by Rabbi Magnin and greetings from Congregation Emanu-El, San Francisco, were delivered by Rabbi Lluis I. Newman and from Temple Beth, Portland, Or., by Rabbi Henry J. Berkowitz.

Marco R. Newmark, in memory of his parents, Harris and Sarah Newmark, presented the perpetual lamp to the temple and officiated at its lighting. Mr. Newmark's parents were the donors of B'nai B'rith's first perpetual light which hung in the early Fourth-street temple.

The new Memorial Ark of the B'nai B'rith temple was the gift of Marco H. Hellman in memory of his parents, Herman W. and Ida H. Hellman. The late Mr. Hellman was president of the congregation a number of years prior to his death.

The Samuel and Milton Warner Memorial Paintings which were executed by Hugo Ballin, were presented to the congregation by Jack Warner, their brother.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

AS FAR as I can see, the West is being saved by young ladies from Vassar. They come to the dude ranches of Arizona and New Mexico and become more western than the memory of Kit Carson.

They spend the winter learning to ride pigskin pad saddles in the New York riding schools. Then they come out here, fling their legs over a cow saddle and forget all they have learned.

COW PANTS

They have even taken the pants of the cowpuncher. You see them in every little border town, wearing blue overalls and sombreros, and fairly jangling with Navajo belts and hat bands.

If they are the ones to save our traditions, let it be so. Just so somebody does.

AN OLD STAGE STATION

At noon today we stopped for lunch at an old mountain inn. In the old days it used to be a stage station. The adobe walls are three or four feet thick, and the water comes from an ancient spring up on the side of a mountain.

As we sat in the old dining-room with its whitewashed walls and its deep-recessed windows, the roof timbers seemed to whisper to me of beleaguered women; of men fighting from behind the rocks. I asked the proprietor if the place had ever been attacked by Indians. He said he didn't know. He had only lived there five years!

Can you imagine living in that place for five hours without finding out?

NO IMAGINATION

The American pioneer may have been brave; but he was shy on imagination. History and tradition meant nothing to him.

This afternoon we passed through a little mountain town in New Mexico. Cabeza de Vaca, Castillo, Estaban probably passed through it. Coronado may have. The footsteps of the Conquistadores are in its bypaths. Yet the streets were named "New York avenue," "Vermont street," "New Jersey avenue."

It just leaves you speechless!

COVERED WAGONS

Covered wagons are still plodding along the roads of the New Mexican hills.

We saw one party in the noon hour. The horses had been turned out to graze by the roadside; and the young mother was nursing her baby on the high seat while her husband wrestled wit... the camp fire.

Every moment I expected to hear my friend, Carli Elinor, announce the incidental music. The group looked like a picture from the walls of the Carthay Circle Theater.

SHE ROLLED HER OWN

A little further along we came upon an old-fashioned chuck wagon parked in an open field. The shearers were getting ready to take the wool from the sheep.

Lying on her tum-tum, smoking a roll-your-own cornhusk cigarette, was a very lovely young lady. She was talking to a tough old shearer, and she looked Wellesley College all over—even to her cok boots.

Some of these rich young girls will wind up out here in the open spaces as the owners of big ranches. You'll see.

And they will be smart enough to hire some movie star to make wool stockings popular and earn a fortune off the sheeps' backs.

Murder Secret in Ruins of Burned Hollywood Mountain Mansion to be Sought Today

SKULL OF GIRL FOUND IN ASHES

Neighbor Heard Shots Then Saw Men Run

Pair Sped Away in Cars as Blaze Broke Out

Residence Reported Scene of Midnight Orgies

Rain-washed ashes of a Hollywood Mountain mansion at 230 North Canyon Road, which burned to the ground a year ago, yesterday yielded the skull of an apparently 20-year-old girl to confront police with what they believe to be another baffling murder mystery.

Substantiation of an orgy, which apparently resulted in murder, is partially established, police said, by the mystery which surrounded the burning of the empty house on July 31, 1928, after neighbors said a fusillade of shots reverberated through the hills, and as an aftermath of a series of nocturnal drinking parties there for several weeks during which screams of women often were heard. Bullet holes found in remaining parts of the structure bore out these stories.

SKULL DISCOVERED

Yesterday morning Frank M. Rider, 7117½ Santa Fe avenue, a lineman for the Southern California Edison Company, was attracted to the place when he saw several small animals scamper from the ruins. Upon investigation he saw what appeared to be a large bone protruding from ashes that had been watersoaked by rains during the past year. Partial excavation disclosed the skull and police were called.

Rex Welsh, chemist for the police department, said that superficial examination leads him to believe the skull that of a girl, probably not more than 20 years of age.

The lower jaw-bone is missing, as well as the teeth in the upper part of the mouth, probably due to the extreme heat of the fire, he said. A few hairpins and an ax head were found near by. The skull has a small indentation, but officials were unable to tell whether ½ had been done with ax instrument.

SEVEN SHOTS HEARD

Fire department reports revealed that shortly before 11 p.m. on the night the house was destroyed, Mrs. Dorothy Wadsworth, 2360 Laurel Canyon Road, heard seven shots fired in rapid succession in the house. She was in her bedroom, the window of which has a commanding view of the house. A bright moon was shining, she told Fire Inspectors Price and Corcoran.

Immediately after the shooting she saw two men dash from the house, apparently fighting. They took separate routes down the canyon trails and shortly afterward she heard a car roaring down Laurel Canyon Road.

Nearly simultaneously with the car's departure the house burst into flames, the fire originating in the garage, which was the first floor of the fourteen-room wooden structure. Within a few minutes the flames had gutted the house.

FURNITURE REPORTED

Despite the fact that the house was empty in all of its fourteen rooms, excepting one, and gas and lights had long been turned off, sufficient furniture for the asserted night orgies was discovered in one room of the house by a Hollywood patrolman two weeks before the fire, Hollywood police reports show. The house had not been locked for some time and the officers entered looking for vagrants.

A davenport, two or three chairs and a table besides a few miscellaneous articles were in the room, he reported. That the furniture still was there when the supposed murder took place was attested to by the davenport cushion springs and other indication of furniture found by searchers in the debris yesterday.

BULLETS TRACED

Yesterday, officers making a minute inspection of the premises, discovered two bullet holes in the screen door of one of the bedrooms off the second floor of the house. The home is built in a semi-horseshoe shape, a swimming pool in the center. In the side of the west wall of one ell to the structure, police detectives found another bullet hole, the pellet having plowed through the thick coating of plaster and the outside weather boarding, representing three of the seven shots heard by neighbors, police said.

Today a squad of "trusties" from various police stations will be taken to the scene to sift the ashes in the vicinity of the spot where the skull was found in an effort to locate other parts of the missing body.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSED

Weirdly enough, the death house was one time the "dream home" of Henry E. White, 2133 Stanley Drive, who lost the place a year before the fire when a mortgage company foreclosed.

From present neighbors of White, police said they learned that White had been divorced from his wife two years before the fire and that she is supposed to have remarried. He lives alone at the Stanley Drive address, police stated.

He now is said to be in Las Vegas, N. M., attending to real estate business and is scheduled to return here today or tomorrow, officers were informed. They will question him further, they said.

White, fire inspectors reported, built the home in 1924, borrowing $16,000 from the mortgage company, and then placing a second mortgage of $8000 on it, with money borrowed from private parties. The house was insured only for $8000, one-third of its cost.

Two weeks before the fire, White told investigators at that time, he visited the place because he had not given up hope of again repossessing it, and "longed for sight of it."

On the night of July 31, he said, he went to Palm Springs with Joe V. Murphy, 110 Paloma street, Venice, to look at real estate the latter was assertedly interested in. He returned, he said, at 4 a.m., August 1.

White, who police said was running the Film Fan Photo Company, 8364 Sunset Boulevard, at the time, said that was his only visit to the place in several months. The house had been vacant after the mortgage was foreclosed. He further declared that he didn't believe anyone would hold drinking orgies in the place because several windows had been broken out and the place was in bad shape.

Mrs. F. G. Carpenter, who lives fifty yards over the hill in Horseshoe Canyon, told police and fire investigators that on many nights bacchanalian sessions had disturbed her family's peace and that on several occasions the screams of women were heard.

Fire inspectors re-enacted Mrs. Wadsworth's version of the flight of the two mystery men from the place the night of the fire and their report states she could have seen plainly all she said she did.

At that time a squad of police were sent to the scene but discovered nothing. Fire officials worked on the case seeking the mystery men on arson charges for some time, but never found a clew. From Mrs. Wadsworth's description of the rapidity with which the blaze enveloped the house, gasoline must have been pored over the floors.

Investigation into the mystery is being conducted by Detective-Lieutenants Robinson, Evans, Taylor and Blowry, working out of the Hollywood station under Captain of Detectives Carmen. Detective-Lieutenant Shannon of central station and Detective-Lieutenant W. C. Allen in charge of the missing-persons detail, also have been assigned to the case.

The list of more than 180 girls now reported as missing again will have to be checked by police. This task was only recently completed when police were looking for the "torso" victim's identity. She later was identified as Mrs. Laura Sutton, for whose asserted murder Dr. Frank Westlake's preliminary hearings is now being held.

"Although you will strive for success in your chosen fields of pure science, industrial research, or engineering, in which the creation of useful things is the motivating force, it is highly important that you take a proper part in the use of your creations.

UNDERSTANDING NEEDED

"If the things science has given us are to be used for good and not evil, for pleasure and not pain or suffering, the social and political machine must turn more and more toward those who guide it with real understanding.

"What I should like to urge is the peculiar call that is on you to take an active interest in the civic and political life of whatever community your lot is cast in and suggest the local civic association of political clubs as the first stepping stones.

"I have no patience with those of ability who damn the government for the laws passed or not passed. They and their kind are responsible—if they want a different kind of government, they have only to give up a few golf games or bridge parties to get it.

"I should like to see more of the knowledge of science and engineering on the bridge of the ship of state and not wholly confined to the engine-room."

BUNKO CASE SUSPECT ON WAY NORTH

Dr. Carl Graves Taken to Bay City on Charges in Treasure Hunt Scheme

Following his failure to obtain a reduction of bail from $20,000 to $10,000, or further delay of his case here on a writ of habeas corpus, Dr. Carl Armagnard Graves, alias Paul Gunther, asserted promoter of a scheme to recover buried treasure in the South Seas and one-time international spy, was taken to San Francisco yesterday.

He left the City Jail here in custody of Detective Sergeant Hansen of the San Francisco Police Department, who held a warrant for his arrest on a bunko charge said to have grown out of his asserted promotion schemes.

Graves is charged with having obtained $2500 from Henry Kirchmann of San Francisco to aid in financing the asserted treasure hunt. He was arrested here two weeks ago when Kirchmann recognized him on the street and complained to local police. Since then his attorneys have made several fruitless attempts to obtain his release on writs of habeas corpus.

CAFE MAN HURT IN LIQUOR RAID

Struck by Officer During Scuffle in Home

Man Said to Have Assaulted Searching Policemen

Accused and Wife, Also 250 Gallons of Wine, Held

Violence yesterday attended the arrest of Tony Panzich, cafe owner, and his wife, Mary, at their home, 940 Summit street, where three raiding detectives reported finding 250 gallons of wine. Panzich's cafe is at 90 East First street.

Yesterday he rushed from there to his home, where he found that his wife had admitted Detective Lieutenants Southard, Harlan and Duncan of the Chief's office. They had entered with a search warrant and report that when Panzich arrived he swore at them vigorously.

When told he was under arrest for possessing liquor Panzich struck Lieut. Southard, the police state. In the scuffle which followed Southard struck Panzich over the head with his gun butt, inflicting a cut. The cafe man was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where his wound was treated, following which he and Mrs. Panzich were taken to Central Police Station. Both were booked on charges of Wright Act possession. Panzich also was booked for violation of the Jones law, resisting an officer and assault and battery. The Jones law charge is said to be the first brought by the local police.

Panzich asserted that he had a permit, signed by Superior Judge Sawtelle, to retain possession of eleven barrels of wine. The cafe owner explained that he was arrested in 1921 for possessing barreled wine and that he appealed the case to the Superior Court, the litigation costing him $20,000, but resulting in a court permit. Panzich added that he was showing this permit to the detectives when the trouble began, and that one of the officers tried to snatch the paper away. Panzich said his efforts to retain the permit were interpreted as hostile moves, and he was beaten. The detectives deny this, and report that he had 250 gallons of wine in bottles and barrels.

RAID CASE ACTION SET FOR TODAY

Wright Act Complaints in Breakfast Club Visit to Name Chef and Waiter

Complaints charging Charles Schnobelin, chef, and Ray Thompson, waiter, with possession of liquor in violation of the Wright Act will be filed today, it was announced yesterday by Dist.-Atty. Fitts, as the result of a raid on the Breakfast Club quarters Thursday afternoon.

Fitts conferred with Maurice De Mond, president of the club, on the ownership of the confiscated liquor, and none of the officials, according to De Mond, are connected with the contraband. No officers of the club were present when the vice squad officers found several quarts of whisky, eight kegs of beer and two cases of bottled wine in the locker-room, Fitts said.

Employees of the club were questioned and Capt. Plummer, who directed the raid, was instructed by the District Attorney to have all persons involved at his office today for further examination. Schnobelin and Thompson are reported to have acknowledged carrying the keys to the compartment in which the liquor was stored.

the Council's Finance, Street Opening and Widening, and Public Works committees. It recommends further that an affirmative vote of three members of this board should be necessary for the selection of an appraiser or the approval of any expenditures for street opening and widening proceedings.

CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT

Another matter covered in the resolution, and which has led to many complaints in connection with opening and widening proceedings, is that of the time of payment of referees and appraisers. The present practice, the resolution points out, is for the referees and appraisers to be paid when they file their reports, without regard to the time of the confirmation of the assessments and without regard to the time when the judgment creditors are paid.

In regard to this situation, the resolution recommends that only one-half of the referees' fees, appraisers' fees, process-serving fees, printing bills and title-searching fees shall be paid on the filing of the reports and that the other half shall be paid at the same time that the judgment creditors are paid.

The resolution, which asks the Council to direct the City Attorney to draw up an ordinance to put its recommendations into effect, was referred to the Finance Committee. It is understood that this committee will report favorably upon it within several days.

canvas the tragic but triumphant story of our people in a study of Jewish history that will become famous and which is destined to remain a thing of joy forever," Dr. Magnin said, in describing the murals.

The presentation of the new edifice was made, in behalf of the congregation, to Dr. D. W. Edelman, its president, by George Mosbacher, chairman of the building committee.

Mr. Mosbacher, in his remarks, paid tribute to the architects, contractors, artists and builders, and to the members of B'nai B'rith who contributed to its creation.

Dr. Edelman also praised the artisans who conceived the temple and its congregation who financed it.

The temple itself represents a modern blend of Florentine architecture with an immense dome, patterned in part after the Pantheon, its predominating feature.

It is equipped with a huge $40,000 Kimball organ, and provides temple offices, a large auditorium with a seating capacity of 3000, clubrooms, a ballroom, kitchen and sewing-room.

Other ceremonies included in the dedication program are services to be held at 10 a.m. today, and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

The public is invited to attend the Sunday afternoon services at which an elaborate program of music is included.

HUNGARY HANDICRAFT PLACED ON EXHIBITION

Hungarian handicraft, consisting of various articles made by the skillful fingers of native girls and women, yesterday was placed on sale at 649 South Flower street by the Sisters of Social Service attached to St. Stephen King Roman Catholic Hungarian Church. The display includes ladies' and children's embroidered dresses, handkerchiefs, shawls, applique work, antique jewelry, hand-painted pottery and woodwork, all executed in Hungary under the direction of Sister Petra, who recently arrived from her native country, where she is general secretary of the Board of Hungarian Domestic Industries and Allied Arts. Proceeds of the sale will be devoted to the sisters' charitable activities. The exhibit is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

SEA CARAVANERS SET SAIL

Nobles and Families 560 Strong Off for Hawaii to Visit Brothers of Pacific Isle

Shrinedom's greatest pilgrimage on blue water was sent to Aloha-land from the Harbor last night amid a colorful fanfare of confetti, flags, sirens, whistles, horns and just plain noise as 560 Nobles and their families sailed for Hawaii aboard the Matson liner Malolo. Craft of every description from tiny fish boats to lumbering oil tankers added their bit to the farewell din as the Malolo passed out to sea for the Shrine's first Imperial Potentate's Pilgrimage.

Leo V. Youngworth, Angeleno who has been chosen the Shrine's new Imperial Potentate, is aboard as the guest of honor, while with him are representatives of practically all of the 158 temples throughout the United States. Their goal is Honolulu, oasis of Aloha Temple, whose Nobles promise all aboard a welcome in the flowery isles that will repay their long cruise. Accompanying the pilgrimage back to Hawaii are Dr. A. N. Sinclair and Guy Buttolph, Potentate and Past Potentate, respectively, and sixty-five Nobles from Aloha.

The Malolo, sailing at 5 p.m. yesterday, goes direct to Hilo on the Island of Hawaii, where she arrives at 7 a.m. on the 12th inst. A day will be spent on Hawaii and the party will sail at 7 p.m. on the 13th inst. for Honolulu, arriving at that port at 6 o'clock the following morning. Three days of jollification on the Island of Oahu will follow, the Malolo departing Honlulu at midnight of the 16th inst. and completing the cruise at San Francisco at 9 a.m. on the 21st inst.

Luaus, hukilaus and other forms of entertainment peculiar to Hawaii have been arranged for the visiting Nobles by Aloha Temple, Dr. Sinclair having promised everyone a golden cocoanut for every dull moment they experience while under Aloha's sheltering palms.

Eighty per cent of the Malolo's passengers are from California, the remainder hailing from every State in the Union. The complete patrol, chanters and band from Al Malaikah Temple have been taken along by Potentate Leroy M. Edwards and his Nobles to lend necessary gayety en route.

staged by the host temple alone, he declared.

The seven elaborate events in the Coliseum, which included two great parades, four performances of a sixty-five-act Circus Maximus, and the $1,000,000 Shrine motion-picture electrical pageant, for which tickets were sold, will finance the entire conclave, he stated.

But the Nobles and the visitors who enjoyed the week of entertainment are not interested in that. They know, according to their own statements, that this was the greatest conclave in history. That is sufficient for them as well as LeRoy Edwards and his efficient staff of committeemen who conducted the affair.

BAY CITY OVERRUN BY INVADING SHRINERS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7. (Exclusive)—Twenty thousand Mystic Shriners, more or less, having attended the fifty-fifth annual convention of the order's Imperial Council at Los Angeles, today came to San Francisco to enjoy themselves, and their fun knew no bounds.

In their honor the city swathed itself in flags and wreathed itself in smiles of welcome. It even tried to make the weather fit the occasion, lending a gray background of sky to the tossing red fezzes and shining trapping of the Shriners. And in the morning it recalled to the Shriners their famous convention here with a teeny sprinkle of June rain. But by midday the sun came forth and vied with the glittering badges, medals and bejeweled headgear of the Shriner big shots.

Shriners poured into the city in an unending stream all through the day and tonight, and the invasion will continue tomorrow and over the week-end.

NEW ENDURANCE RECORD SOUGHT

William G. McAdoo, Jr., Will Sponsor Flight Here

Canada's Refueling Record to be Challenged

L. F. Mentell, ex-'War Bird,' to be Chief Pilot

Lewis W. Mentell of Fort Worth, Tex., a former "war bird," will undertake to return the refueling endurance record to the Pacific Coast in a flight to be started from the Culver City Airport within the next few weeks, it was announced yesterday.

William G. McAdoo will back the undertaking and will furnish the endurance ship, a five-passenger Fokker transport plane. Paul Whittier, well-known Hills sportsman, will furnish and pilot the refueling ship.

Mentell, who is 29 years of age, has approximately 3500 hours to his credit in the air. Mr. McAdoo is a pilot, and also was a balloon observer during the World War. Pete Reinhart, 24, a former University of Southern medical student, will act as mechanic pilot of the endurance ship, Mentell stated.

The refueling ship will be piloted alternately by Mr. Whittier and Pete Reinhart, chief mechanic at the Culver City Airport.

Both Mentell and Reinhart yesterday appeared confident of surpassing the record mark of 172h. 11s. recently set by Reginald Robbins and James Kelly at Fort Worth. Plans for oiling the motor arms of the plane and for the replacement of spark plugs while in the air, they asserted, have been worked out, and as soon as the ship has been groomed for the grueling test, the flight will be under way.

COLLECTOR OF CHINESE ART ARRIVES

L. W. Mills Brings Rare Treasures Dating Back to Han Dynasty

One of the rarest collections of Chinese statuary to come out of China was brought into port yesterday by Edwin Walter Mills, distinguished mining engineer and Chinese scholar, who arrived from Honolulu aboard the Lasseo liner City of Los Angeles. Mr. Mills will present the thirty-five pieces of ancient Chinese tomb statuary to the Fogg Museum of Art, a unit of Alma Mater, Harvard University.

The rare group, representing a Chinese ruler and his entire retinue, dates from the Han Dynasty, from 206 B.C. to 206 A.D., while Mr. Mills is bringing back other pieces from the Wei, Sui and Tang dynasties ranging from 450 to 906 A.D. Together, with a group of thirty-one pieces left at the Honolulu Academy of Arts, were taken from an ancient tomb in Honan province.

Mr. Mills has spent twenty-seven years in China as a mining engineer and is regarded as the foremost living authority on the natural resources of Asia. In 1906, he was associated with President Hoover and the late Lindon Bates in China. He speaks the Mandarin dialect, or official court language of China fluently, explaining that this is the most useful of the eighty-two distinct dialects spoken in the country.

China today is facing one of the most critical periods of her long history, according to Mr. Bates, because of complete lack of national

CULT HEAD TRIAL TO BE SET TODAY

Mrs. Martin and Aides to Face Jury in Theft Case, Prosecutor Insists

Mrs. Eunice McMullen Martin, leader, and four asserted associates yesterday pleaded not guilty before Municipal Judge Chambers to charges of petty theft. City Prosecutor Nix demanded a jury trial and Judge Chambers transferred the case to Judge Bogue's criminal calendar court, where the trial will be set this morning.

Mrs. Martin, with her sister, Mrs. Ida M. Caldwell, and Frederick Ingram, John L. Snyder and Bertha Hays are asserted by Nix to have accumulated more than 2000 members of their "Society of the New Age of Applied Christian Psychology" by promising them $100 each in return for $2.50 membership fees in the society. The complaint against the five directors of the society were arraigned yesterday afternoon before Judge A. Frame, who continued the case by Lessee A. Frame, who continued the case [illegible] $2.50 in the scheme.

SOCIAL-EVIL PICTURE HAS PRIVATE PREVIEW

Attended by approximately 125 persons, invited from among local police officials and social-welfare workers, a private preview of the picture today, "Fools of Passion or Sex Ignorance," was presented at the Westlake Theater yesterday afternoon. The picture attempts to depict truthfully the dangers of sex relations and results of ignorance; advocates knowledge of sex and recommends medical advice before marriage. Excerpts from everyday life were taken from the theme under the direction of Dr. Winfield Scott Pugh of the New York City Hospital. The picture has been approved by the Board of Review and by the Federal Hygiene Society of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Norman Kerry

Wife Divorces Norman Kerry, Screen Actor

Norman Kerry, screen actor, who in private life is known as Norman Kaiser, was divorced by his wife, Mrs. Rozene Kaiser, in Superior Judge McComb's court yesterday.

Mrs. Kaiser told the judge her husband called her bad names and wouldn't tell her where he had been after long absences, stating that it was none of her business where he went, nor how long he stayed.

Kerry, now said to be fulfilling a vaudeville engagement in New York, did not appear for the trial. His attorney, A. P. Narlian, represented him, and arranged a property settlement out of court, which was approved by the judge. Mrs. Kerry was represented by Attorney Milton Cohen.

LITTLE GIRL DEVOTED TO HULA STUDY

Exponent of Sacred Dance Movements Arrives With Parents from Islands

Elizabeth Beamer, 9-year-old Hawaiian miss whose life has been dedicated to preserving in their original simplicity the sacred hulas of Hawaii, yesterday arrived with her parents aboard the Lasco liner city of Los Angeles for an extensive motor tour of the Pacific Coast and Canada. She is the daughter of P. C. Beamer, Hilo capitalist.

ELIZABETH BEAMER

Her mother, descended from the royal lineage of Hawaii, explained that when Elizabeth was two years of age she began training her in the steps and postures of the ancient ceremonial hula. A life-long study of these dances, together with folk-lore and legends of the islands, is planned for the years ahead.

"It is jazz and other modern syncopated music that is fast dragging our ancient hula into something disgraceful, rather than preserving it as one of the most beautiful dances of any people," said Mrs. Beamer. "Elizabeth first learned to dance the hula with the uli-uli, or musical gourd, used centuries ago. The hula, you see, was essentially a sacred dance, performed originally only in our temples. Since our people could not then read or write, it was their sole means of aesthetic expression."

Radicalism in Suburb School Investigated

Investigation of charges that radicalism is being taught in a certain Inglewood school is being conducted by a detail from the Sheriff's office under the direction of Deputy Sheriff Stensland, it was learned yesterday.

Sufficient evidence has been obtained to warrant further inquiry, Stensland said, and the matter will be placed before the grand jury if the case warrants. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hammon, in charge of grand jury matters, has asked for a complete report of the findings.

The situation was brought to the attention of the authorities three weeks ago when Inglewood officials requested aid in solving numerous arson attempts against public buildings in the city.

SCHOOL PLANS HOMECOMING

Metropolitan High School at 234 Venice Boulevard will observe its second annual homecoming week, beginning next Tuesday and ending Friday evening with a carnival and dance. All former students of the institution are invited to attend and renew old acquaintances.

FIVE ON STAND RAP JACOBSON

Testimony Offered for Six Accused of "Frame-up"

Admissions of Councilman Related by Webster

Brother of Mrs. Grimes Says He Owned Liquor

Testimony on behalf of Mrs. Gallie Grimes of Beagle street and five police officers, accused of conspiracy in "framing" the arrest of Councilman Jacobson on a morals charge nearly two years ago, began yesterday before a jury in Superior Judge Wilson's court after attorneys for the defendants were unsuccessful in motions to acquit.

Five witnesses were used. Two substantiated the defense assertions that Jacobson made certain admissions concerning his sartorial disarray when the officers broke into the Beagle-street house; a police photographer opposed the prosecution contention that the arresting officers took photographs of the place prior to the raid; Municipal Judge Bickley testified that it was his deputies who phrased the formal complaint against the Councilman; and a brother of Mrs. Grimes took the responsibility for a pint of whisky found in the house.

WEBSTER FIRST WITNESS

The defendants, besides Mrs. Grimes, are Captains of Detectives Wallis and Williams, Detective Lieutenant Lucas, Patrolman Frank Cox and Special Investigator Harry Raymond. They are defended by Paul D'Orr, Paul Schenck, Joseph Palmer, Joseph Ryan and Leo Daze. Dep. Dist.-Attys. Dennison and Bush represent the prosecution.

In refusing to dismiss the charge against Capt. Williams Judge Wilson declared that there is considerable less evidence against him than against the others, but he thought a sufficient amount to necessitate the affair going to the jury for decision.

The first witness was Rodney Webster, at the time of the raid president of the Police Commission. He testified that Jacobson made admissions, but was rather vague in his recollections. On cross-examination he recalled that former Dist.-Atty. Keyes, who also was present at the interview which preceded the jailing of the Councilman, said to him that Jacobson was talking "like a crazy man," saying he'd been framed, and that Keyes deemed it advisable for Webster to depart. Mr. Webster also declared that he gave Capt. Wallis a roadster last October, but in answer to questions by defense counsel, said he had known the officer a long time and that the gift was made some months after Webster ceased to be a Police Commissioner.

PICTURES IDENTIFIED

Police Photographer Thorpe identified some pictures he took of the Beagle-street house, and showed a record book indicating that they were made several days after the arrest. Because some of the pictures failed to show a crack in a door, Mr. Bush cross-examined Thorpe in an effort to elicit some admission that the pictures were made prior to the arrest, but Thorpe refused to agree with him.

Judge Lickley, City Prosecutor at the time of the raid, recounted a conference had by his deputies with the arresting officers, and stated that the police always submitted the facts to the prosecutor, who drew the complaint. The indictment against the defendants charges they maliciously and falsely accused Jacobson of violation of the "resorting ordinance."

Ira Michaels, brother of Mrs. Grimes, testified he lived in the Beagle-street house until a few days before the raid and that when he departed he left behind him a pint bottle of whisky. This whisky has figured in the testimony, as a part of the hospitality offered the Councilman by Mrs. Grimes. Jacobson declined the drink. It disappeared after the raid.

L. D. Hotchkiss, city editor of The Times, testified that he was present during the Jacobson interview and observed Police Stenographer Custer taking notes of a conversation between Keyes and Jacobson.

The trial will be resumed Monday morning.

STEVENSON, PROMOTER, CONVICTED

Sentence on Charge of Grand Theft in Stock Case to be Set Monday

Convicted of one count of grand theft at the close of his trial without a jury before Superior Judge Doran yesterday, William J. Stevenson, former Los Angeles promoter, is schedule to appear in court at 10 o'clock Monday morning for sentence.

A second charge of grand theft set forth in the information was taken under submission by Judge Doran to be ruled upon later.

Stevenson was accused of embezzling approximately $47,000 in securities from Dr. R. Bailey Webb, Los Angeles physician.

The first count of the complaint charged the theft of $30,000 of this amount.

Dr. Webb testified he gave the securities to Stevenson as security for his pledge of $50,000 to be invested in one of Stevenson's enterprises.

The case was prosecuted by James P. Costello and Harold Jones, Deputy District Attorneys.

SUSPECT HELD FOR OBSCENE LETTERS

After asserted admissions that he had written obscene letters to Marian Ward of 8928 San Antonio avenue, South Gate, a young woman whom he did not know, William T. Johnson, alias D. Jordan, was arrested yesterday by Federal agents. Johnson appeared before United States Commissioner Head and, after a hearing, was held to the Federal grand jury under bail of $5000. In default of bail he was placed in jail.

TWO PLANTS DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Packing Establishments and Eighteen Box Cars Burn in $100,000 Fire

Fire of an undetermined origin yesterday razed two fruit and vegetable-packing plants, housed in a Southern Pacific warehouse at Twenty-fifth and Alameda streets, destroyed eighteen railway box cars and for a short period jeopardized two of the largest lumber yards in the city.

Damage to the packing plants, warehouse and railway equipment is estimated by a Southern Pacific official as in excess of $100,000.

Believed to have started from either a short circuit or from a cigarette discarded by one of several workmen in the building at the time, the fire had virtually enveloped the warehouse before the firemen arrived. Sparks threatened the adjacent Hammond & Blinn lumber yards.

Every available piece of fire-fighting apparatus east of Broadway was rushed to the scene. Bucket brigades were pressed into service at the lumber yards.

Representatives of Sortie & Hunt and the Chung Packing Company, said to be lessees of the packing plants, could not be found to estimate their losses. Neither plant was in operation at the time.

BETTER RAIL SERVICE TO EAST OPENS

Three Roads Announce Improvements to Become Effective Tomorrow

Three railroads tomorrow will inaugurate great improvements in their Los Angeles-Chicago service, the Santa Fe cutting the Chief's running time to fifty-eight hours, with extra fare charged, while the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific remove the extra fare on their fastest trains, respectively, the Golden State Limited and the Los Angeles Limited.

The first fifty-eight-hour run of the Santa Fe's Chief to Chicago starts here tomorrow at 9:45 p.m., scheduled to reach Chicago at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday. The Chief will be the only extra-fare train between here and Chicago.

C. L. McFaul, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific, announces that removal of the extra fare on the Golden State Limited to Chicago becomes effective with the departure of that train at 6 p.m. tomorrow. This train will continue to maintain its present schedule of sixty-one and one-quarter hours between Los Angeles and Chicago. Mr. McFaul adds that the service and equipment will be maintained at the same level as when this was an extra-fare train.

Three Elected to Pasadena School Board

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, June 7. (Exclusive) Returns tonight in the Pasadena school district election, with seventeen precincts complete out of twenty-one precincts, give the three places on the Board of Education to Raymond G. Thompson, W. L. Blair and Mrs. Louise B. Hoblit.

A total of 2171 voters cast today's ballots in a district with 45,000 registered voters, the lightest ballot ever cast in recent years. The vote was as follows: Thompson, 1517; Blair, 1743; Mrs. Hoblit, 1461; Louis H. Davis, 781, and Mrs. Clara M. Odell, 952.

Thompson and Mrs. Hoblit are incumbents, the latter being president of the board. Blair, the new member, is editor of the Pasadena Star-News. The three elected today are to serve four-year terms. The other members are Charles Morse of Altadena, and Carl Jackson. The school district includes Pasadena, Altadena, Sierra Madre, La Canada and Santa Anita.

Juniors Off to Commence Meet

J. H. Gilliland of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce left yesterday by Santa Fe for Flint, Mich., to attend the national convention of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce on the 12th to 15th inst.

J. H. GILLILAND

Durward Howes, past president of the local body and a director in the national group, and Lamar Butler, already have left for the convention.

A recommendation that the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce become a member of the United States Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce is to be presented by the Los Angeles delegates. The most vital work of the national organization and the local body at this time is the carrying out of a practical aviation program, in the opinion of President Ellsworth.

PEDESTRIAN'S INJURY MAY RESULT FATALLY

W. G. Solomon, 79 years of age of 737 South Westlake avenue, yesterday suffered possibly fatal injuries when he was struck by an automobile while crossing the intersection of Seventh and Bonnie Brae streets. The car, driven by a woman whose name investigating officers withheld, was registered, according to the police report, in the name of Leland Sutherland, 820 Security Title Building.

TORSO VICTIM LETTER AIRED

Glendale Man Says He Typed "Canary Bird" Note

Westlake Ordered "L.B.S." Signed, Says Witness

Bank Transaction Told at Murder Hearing

Introduced as a surprise witness by the State, Brownie R. Owens, cashier of a Glendale department store, yesterday testified in Municipal Judge Galbreth's court, where Dr. Frank P. Westlake is undergoing preliminary hearing on charges of murdering Mrs. Laura B. Sutton, whose torso and skull, the State contends, were found in the Los Angeles River bed, that the "canary bird" letter which officers contend the doctor exhibited as proof that Mrs. Sutton was alive after the finding of the torso, was typewritten by him at Westlake's request on May 25, last.

Owens, who resides at 1813 Orchard avenue, Glendale, declared that he first met Dr. Westlake in 1906 in Oakland and that he met him again in 1921, when Westlake and his wife were living in the home of Owens's grandmother, Mrs. Brown, at 1810½ West Eleventh street, in the house which now belongs to Westlake. He said Westlake was willed two-thirds of the Brown estate, the other one-third going to him, and that he later made a settlement with the doctor, who retained the house.

DOCTOR WITH WOMAN

He saw Westlake in December, 1926 when he came to the department store with a woman believed by police to have been Mrs. Sutton. About May 22, last, Westlake telephoned to Owens and asked him to come and see him. Owens went to the Eleventh-street address, he testified, and talked with Westlake, who told him that he had been "keeping company" with Mrs. Sutton, who, he said, had disappeared after starting for Ventura. Westlake started to take her there, Owens said the doctor told him, but his automobile broke down and Mrs. Sutton went on alone and disappeared. Westlake also showed him, he said, a cedar chest, telling him that it contained Mrs. Sutton's clothing which, because he was her sweetheart and expected to marry her, he had moved from her house to his own after her disappearance. Owens declared that he told the doctor he was making a mistake in having the clothing there and asked him if he had been questioned in regard to the disappearance. When Westlake admitted that he had, Owens said he left the house immediately.

COPIES LETTER

On May 25, he testified, Dr. Westlake came to the department store at 7:20 a.m. and asked him if he would typewrite a letter for him. Owens consented, he declared, and Westlake went across the street and bought a tablet, which he then took to Owens's cage, together with a pencilled copy of the letter to be copied. Owens then typed the letter, he declared, without thinking much about it, and gave the typewritten copy to Westlake, who told him that he intended to mail it.

The letter, which, with the pencilled original and a copy, Assistant Chief Deputy District-Attorney Jordan introduced into evidence, read:

"My dear: What did you do with the furniture and the birdies. If stored, where? Is Mr. King still in town and what shift is he working. Please answer these questions in any of the personal columns. Will see you soon."

SIGNATURE ADDED

Owens declared that the original was not signed, and that he added the initials "L. B. S." on Westlake's instructions. The doctor left the original draft and the tablet with Owens after the letter was written, he declared, apparently overlooking the pencilled copy. About a half-hour after Westlake left the store with the typed letter, Owens declared he became suspicious and, dating the pencilled draft with a rubber stamp, put it and the tablet in his desk. He turned them over to Deputy Sheriff Croushorn when the latter came to the store and questioned him as to his knowledge of the case.

Croushorn declared that when questioned as to whether he signed Mrs. Sutton's name to the note on which he obtained $100 loan from a bank on April 25, nearly a month after the woman's disappearance, Westlake replied "If I did I had a right to do it." The doctor later declared he did not know who signed the note, Croushorn testified, but said that he mailed it to "Falbrook," Ariz., to Mrs. Sutton and that it came back with her signature. When informed that there is no such town, Westlake said "That's where I mailed it, anyway." Westlake at first denied all knowledge of the Edison stock, but later admitted he turned it over to the bank as security for the note.

Croushorn and Deputies Gompert and Gray told of the discovery of the bank books covering the joint bank account of Westlake and Mrs. Sutton, hidden in a garage. Westlake told them he hid them, they said, to keep them from King, whose discovery of the joint account was followed by an argument between King, Westlake and Mrs. Sutton.

HUSBAND TESTIFIES

The joint bank account, and Westlake's loan of $100 was also described by branch managers and tellers of the bank in which the account was kept. Prosecutors Jordan and Stahlman closed their case with L. S. Slater, the teller who made the loan to Westlake on the note to which the State asserts Mrs. Sutton's signature was forged.

G. M. Sutton, husband of Mrs. Sutton, was called to the stand as the first defense witness by Attorney William Kendrick, Jr. Sutton testified that he separated from Mrs. Sutton in 1924 and that the last time he saw her was nearly a year ago.

Kendrick asked for a continuance in order to procure a handwriting expert to testify concerning the signature on the note for $100. He told the court that if the signature is Mrs. Sutton's the State's case against his client will collapse. Judge Galbreth allowed him until 10 a.m. today to get his expert evidence.

To remove whitewash stains wash them in strong, hot vinegar. A few drops of hot vinegar removes obstinate whitewash splashes on walls or furniture.

Why not have attractive new fluff rugs made out of your old carpets, and colonial rugs made out of rags you have been saving these many months. The Hoffman Rug Works, 2914 W. Jefferson St. do such work beautifully and so reasonably. Their phone number is EMpire 2048.

For pitting cherries a steel pen stuck point first in the holder is excellent.

The amount and variety of good things to eat you get in a Sur-Val Box Lunch will simply astound you and oh, but all of it is of such utter deliciousness; however, that is just like the Sur-Val Box Lunch Company of 608 Mateo St., giving you so much for very little money. Is it any wonder that we all insist upon their lunches and sandwiches when we entertain "al fresco," as it were, with beach and outdoor parties? Remember, whether you be in San Francisco, Oakland, Long Beach or here in the city, be sure to call FAber 1176 for your lunches or sandwiches.

To drive a nail in plaster without crumbling the plaster put the nail in hot water for a few minutes, or dip it in melted paraffin; it can then be driven in the wall securely without damage to the plaster.

All kinds of jewelry may now be taken to the Peerless Platers to be repaired—not only that but they also do special order work—make articles which are out of the ordinary . . . different, in other words. And, of course, it's well known that they are past masters in the art of replating and repairing silver, gold and brass. 229½ South Spring (upstairs) is the address.

Think of your daughter or son who is graduating this month getting photographs at Witzel, Photographers, for half the original cost by merely mentioning the name of their school when they phone for an appointment! Isn't that wonderful news? . . . The kind you really must pay serious attention to and take advantage of pronto. Witzels do such remarkably fine work, too, making the most interesting studies you could possibly get. You know, they are known far and wide for the splendid work they do, so it is a mark of distinction to have your portraits made by "Witzel, Photographer." One of these addresses use soon: 1011 W. 7th, and 6324 Hollywood Blvd.

To remove a tight glass stopper wrap around the neck of the bottle a cloth which has been wrung out of hot water; or soak it in vinegar for awhile; work it gently and it will soon loosen.

Is it some place different or out of the ordinary where you are seeking to spend the week-end . . . then please consider with due consideration San Clemente—the "Spanish Village by the Sea" for is not Mr. Travaglini's Cafe San Clemente there?—a sufficient reason, believe me, to seek out any resort.

Such food, mes amies, as you get there—such atmosphere and the truest of true hospitality. Mr. Travaglini is famed as a host looking after your smallest needs with utmost courtesy. Do go there tomorrow, it is a charming drive down and back—the kind of a week-end which lingers long in your memory.

To loosen screws and nails which are rusted into wood: (1) Drop a little hot paraffin on them, and after a short time they can easily be removed; or, (2) hold a red-hot iron to the head of the screw for a short time and used the screwdriver while the screw is still hot.

When the children come to you begging for the required amount of pennies for an ice cream cone don't deny their request, for ice cream (if it's Hughes' especially) is beneficial and gives them the nourishment growing boys and girls require. Why I lay stress on your insisting upon Hughes is because it is made of thick pure cream, fresh fruits and unsurpassed vanilla and chocolate. There is certain to be a Hughes dealer in your immediate neighborhood!

To prevent small articles falling down the heater registers, such as rings, thimbles, etc., put fine wire netting over tops of the pipes just below the registers.

It is like a dream come true . . . this being able to buy real "sure-enough" country sausage made out of government-inspected eastern shoulder pork!—but that is exactly the kind you get from the Western Sausage Co. After the meat is ground the finest of seasoning is added, consisting of 13 different spices, which give it that utterly delicious taste. Have you had any yet? If not, get a pound this very week, going to one of the following addresses for it: 300½ S. Broadway; 302 S. Hill; or 6400 Hollywood Blvd. Be sure to see it made!

The visit of the Shriners taught us one thing certainly and that is that for entertaining a lot of people who drop in informally there is nothing which dispenses cheer so well as grape juice made by adding three parts water to Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice. Why, we feel that from now on Guasti's Concentrated Grape Juice can count its friends among the hundred—living all over these United States for there were that many who came to the party I have in mind, saw and tasted this unusually delightful refreshing beverage, and were absolutely won over to its use, and without a single exception they all wanted to know where it came from and from whom it could be bought. It was, therefore, with a burst of pride that the hostess replied that it was made by the Italian Vineyard Company, who own and control the largest vineyard in the world at Guasti (pronounced Gwah-stee) Cal., and whose address in the city is 1248 Palmetto street (MUtual 2134.) You buy Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice in quarts or gallons and from it you can make the finest drinks and desserts, too, you ever hope to taste! Get it from your grocer or if he hasn't it call the order department at the above address and what you require will be delivered to you expeditiously, together with a free booklet known as "Grape Drinks and Desserts."

To remove the odor of fresh paint put a few slices of onion in a pail or basin of cold water and leave it in the newly painted room a few hours, closing the room tight. Leaving several pails of cold water uncovered in the room a few hours or overnight is also effective; repeat with fresh water if necessary. A handful of hay in a pailful of water will also take the smell of paint out of a room.

Don't overlook Father's Day! And don't forget that the most attractive as well as appropriate gifts and cards may be bought at Schwabacher-Frey's, whose conveniently located store is at 736 S. Broadway. Cards of every description you will be able to secure here and at prices from 10 cents to $1.00; while the gifts to be bought are just what your father would like most.

To keep a heater from rusting when not in use put a quarter of a peck of lime in any old receptacle and set it on the grate of the heater.

Such truly beautiful wall papers do you find at Mathew's Paint Company's three stores that a complete survey of them leaves you with the firm intention of having your entire house repapered. Why, never have I seen any thing more attractive than the modernistic designs, while the Toile de Jouy papers are simply fetching! . . . and the new nursery and bathroom patterns are the kind that you crave the minute you lay eyes upon them. Don't delay making your selection, please, and while you think about it, jot down these three addresses of Mathews Paint Company: 1245 S. Hill; 1539 Vine (near Selma) Hollywood, and 740 E. Green, Pasadena.

United Jewish Welfare Fund Workers Report on Collections to Date

Reports of $55,000 subscribed toward the $200,000 sought in Los Angeles by the United Jewish Welfare Fund for aiding needy Jewish people and institutions of the world were made by campaign captains at the City Club yesterday at a meeting at which Rabbi Louis Newman of Temple Emanu-El, San Francisco, and Aaron Sapiro were speakers.

RABBI LOUIS I. NEWMAN.

"I am glad to find that Jews of Los Angeles do not economize in their contributions to charity," said Dr. Newman. "The Lord smiles on the Jews of America and it is but right that our people give bountifully of their wealth to their needy brothers and sisters. Thank God, the Jews of America now represent a united Israel."

Discussing the progress of Juadism on the Pacific Coast, Rabbi Newman said three of the finest synagogues in the world are Beth Israel at Portland, Emanu-El at San Francisco and the new Temple B'nai B'rith of Los Angeles.

Mr. Sapiro paid tribute to the many fine orphanages of California and declared that "in social spirit the west coast is head and shoulders above any other section of the United States."

Irving H. Hellman, president and campaign chairman of the welfare fund, announced the formation of a motion-picture division, the particular task of which will be to raise $50,000 of the quota. Albert Kaufman of the Paramount-Famous-Lasky studio has been chosen to serve as chairman of this division. The executive committee includes Sol Lesser, Ben Goetz, Harry Cohn, Harold B. Franklin, Samuel Goldwyn, Carl Laemmle, M. C. Levee, Sid Grauman, Louis B. Mayer, Harry Rapf, Al Jolson, Joseph M. Schenck, B. P. Schulberg, Jack L. Warner and Sol Wurtzel.

Woman to Face Hearing on Bad Money Charges

Complaint probably will be filed today before United States Commissioner Head against Mrs. Myrtle Cohen, 28 years of age, on a charge of possession of counterfeit $20 bills. Mrs. Cohen was arrested during a police round-up.

It was asserted by the police that they found $800 in bogus $20 bills in her possession. She is being held in the County Jail pending an investigation by W. W. Ashe, chief agent for the Treasury Department.

Leading Youth of Hawaii Here

Because he is the "best boy" in all Hawaii, Koichi Ito, 18-year-old full-blooded Japanese youth of Honolulu, yesterday arrived at the port aboard the Lasco liner City of Los Angeles as the guest of the United States government on his first visit to the United States.

Koichi, who will be the Hawaiian representative to the National Boys' and Girls' Camp at Washington, D. C., this summer, was selected for two reasons: First, because of his fine work as a student at the University of Hawaii in the department of agriculture and home economics, and second because he is the outstanding member of the Four H Clubs of Hawaii, the four "H's" meaning head, hand, health and heart.

He is being accompanied by Prof. Hong Chang Wong, 25-year-old instructor at the University of Hawaii and a full-blooded Chinese. Both Ito and Wong are Americans because they are Hawaiian born.

PROTESTERS OFFER TERMS

Protestants against the ordinance of intention for the improvement of Tremaine avenue between Country Club Drive and Pico Boulevard informed the City Council yesterday that they are willing to withdraw their opposition if the street is paved only to the width of the present roadway, which is thirty feet. The pending ordinance provides that the street be paved to a width of thirty-six feet. Hearing was deferred to the 21st inst.

HUSBAND SLASHED IN FIGHT

Father-in-Law Booked on Murder Attempt After Knife Attack

Accused of stabbing his son-in-law last night, Alfred Bockofner, 58 years of age, 11949 Vose street, North Hollywood, was booked on a charge of attempted murder. He came here from Switzerland six months ago and made his home with his stepdaughter, Mrs. Louis Grimm, at the Vose-street address.

When Grimm, a cabinetmaker, went to work yesterday morning, Bockofner was arguing angrily with Mrs. Grimm. And when the husband returned from work last night, the stepfather still was scolding Mrs. Grimm. Her husband ordered Bockofner to stop his harrangue, whereupon a fight ensued.

The Grimms accuse Bockofner of drawing a knife and stabbing his son-in-law on one temple, near the left eye, and in the chest. Grimm was taken to the Van Nuys Emergency Hospital. Detective Lieutenants Meek and Gilbreath of the Van Nuys station arrested Bockofner.

NOVEL LIGHTS PLANNED

Standards in Park Will Harmonize With Architecture

Lighting standards in new city parks are to be patterned so that they will fit into the scheme of landscaping and architecture for each park, according to a decision of the Board of Park Commissioners, who yesterday approved plans for a novel lighting scheme for Barnsdall Park, which at present has but a few temporary lights.

The plans, submitted by L. Glenn Hall, landscape engineer of construction, call for twenty-five standards for driveways and walks in the olive grove and fifteen wall-bracket lights for the building used by the California Art Club. The standards and brackets will be of the so-called hollyhock motif, similar to the unique architecture of the park structures, which were designed by Frank Lloyd Wright.

The lighting system is to cost $3500.

Lighting standards in Brand Park have been patterned to fit the landscaping of that area.

ITS UPS AND DOWNS

The thermometer is also a measure. It tells when the family is being short-weighted on ice and coal.

THE WORKERS

As a representative of labor Ramsay MacDonald should be able to take his hammer and saw and build a cabinet overnight.

THERE IT IS

Lindy's name goes into the social register, but it is a safe bet that it is not because of any lobbying on his part. The colonel would be tickled to cut out all this social stuff.

REAL TIMBER

With Lloyd George and Lady Astor in their seats the sessions of the British Parliament are not likely to be dull even if the laborites seem to have authority.

LEAVES THE ROAD

Maj. Seagrave, having driven his famous car at the rate of 231 miles an hour, has lost interest in the road and says he is now going to see what he can do with a motor boat. Anyhow, he is going wet hereafter.

GOING UP

They say we are sending 600,000 of these toy rubber balloons abroad every month, but we don't know exactly why. Maybe they use them to stabilize the franc and the mark. Or possibly they are to show which way the wind blows.

ONE BIG FAMILY

An Arizona woman has just given birth to a ten-pound boy that is mentioned as being her twenty-fourth child. So far as population is concerned the future of Arizona is safe in the keeping of the women of the State.

OLD STUFF

The microphone is no new toy. It is learned that it was in use in broadcasting in connection with telephone entertainment way back in 1878—more than fifty years ago. It has merely come into the fullness of its own in connection with the radio.

REGULAR MEALS

Democrats are to give a get-together dinner in Washington under the auspices of the national committee. There was a day when the slogan of the Democracy was "When do we eat?" but thanks to a wisdom, not its own, regular meals may now be expected.

INNOCENTS ABROAD

The New York policeman who went back to visit the old home in Europe will never again wander so far from his beat. On a single day he had his baggage stolen, was swindled out of $100 on a phoney diamond and had his pocket picked of $800. He figures that he won't need another vacation for seven years.

HELPING THE FARMER

September wheat, which had been below the dollar, jumped up to $1.08 when the government made a noise like a lot of money. If Congress doesn't spend too much time in fiplshing up the relief measure so that the President can conscientiously sign it the agriculturists could get action almost at once. Too much politics.

FEWER TRAGEDIES

The accidental deaths in California industries last year numbered 636. This seems like a heavy toll, but in fact, there has been a steady reduction in this item in recent years. Fresh safeguards for employees are being provided in many fields af labor and the conditions under which machinery is operated are being made less hazardous. The employers are doing much in this direction and it is well that this is so.

INVADING EUROPE

American motor interests are getting quite a grip on the foreign market. General Motors has invested something like $30,000,000 in a big corporation in Germany. Henry Ford has made a contract of the same amount with Russia and will put up a vast plant in that country. Also there are Ford companies in at least eight European countries—including England, France, Germany, Italy and Spain. Also Henry is making cars of tin in Cork, where his business is Dublin. It looks like an invasion on wheels.

THE ANSWER TO EQUITY

The decision of the Motion-Picture Producers' Association to reject the demands of the Actors' Equity Association for a closed "union shop" in the talking pictures is a matter for community congratulation. It is not, as some producers intimated when the Equity demand was first made known, a purely "industry matter." The films, whether silent or talking, constitute the largest manufacturing output of Los Angeles. If the Equity demand had been acceded to, the complete unionization of the film industry could have been compelled and the result would have been calamity.

"We will continue to engage artists for our productions only under the just and fair form of contract which was approved by representatives of both producers and motion-picture actors. We decline to be restricted as to the sources of our talent," reads the statement of policy adopted by the producers and given out by their president, Cecil B. De Mille, and so long as that policy is adhered to the community can breathe easy; the industry is safe.

The motion-picture industry began open shop, reached its prosperity open shop, and can remain prosperous only under open-shop conditions, with no discrimination for or against anybody because of membership or nonmembership in any particular organization. If the Actors' Equity Association is permitted to dictate to it, as there have been indications it intends to attempt to do, the industry will be stifled as the stage and vaudeville have been stifled.

This labor union never had any success in attempts to organize the actors of the silent film. The advent of talking pictures, however, changed the situation somewhat by bringing in stage-trained talent. Equity now threatens to force the withdrawal of such of these as are its members, but if the producers stand firm this will merely result in denying Equity members employment at the expiration of their present contracts.

Film actors who may be dazzled by Equity promises will do well to consider what has happened recently to members of the Musicians' Union, which, a couple of years ago, dominated the theater-orchestra situation and by demand after demand forced up admission prices by raising theater operating costs to unreasonable heights. The talking pictures changed all this by eliminating the necessity for musicians. In other words, the public accepted a substitute, the musicians joined the ranks of the unemployed, and admission prices came down. There will be some substitute for the talking picture if ever it is unionized and a gouge of the public is started.

The short-sighted view that some of the producers might have taken, that it would cost them nothing to accede to the Equity demands since all competitors would be in the same case and could raise their prices accordingly, is precisely the theory on which all racketeering is based. It is a false theory, since the public can and will seek other forms of amusement. Racketeering cannot exist without the closed union shop, and the closed union shop leads inevitably to racketeering. But the effect of racketeering is to destroy any industry in which it is attempted, to the ultimate detriment not only of employers, but of the employed who allow themselves to be used for the racketeers' profit.

Fortunately for the producers, the unionization of their mechanical departments which they foolishly permitted to take place in part a year or so ago, probably has not progressed far enough so that a sympathetic strike of studio employees, which might be engineered by Equity, would do any great harm. The producers may count upon the support of the open-shop experts of this city, even though they did not heed the advice given by these experts, but instead rejected it with a declaration that their policy was an "industry matter."

There can be no compromise with the principle of the open shop; it is necessary to industrial peace and prosperity, as has been demonstrated time and time again in other industries, here and elsewhere. It must be preserved in the motion and talking-picture industries.

CONSOLIDATING ENFORCEMENT

The long-expected plan for consolidating all prohibition enforcement activities in the Department of Justice has been put up to Congress by President Hoover, not, indeed, for action at this session, but for study so that action may be taken at the regular session next winter. This study is necessary, because the problem is not so simple as it appears on the surface. The advantages are fairly obvious; the disadvantages, not so obvious, are serious, but may be overcome.

There is little question that placing responsibility for all phases of enforcement work upon a single head will make both for efficiency and economy. The Department of Justice, charged with the duty of obtaining the evidence against violators as well as the duty of presenting that evidence in court, plainly can do a better job than it can if these functions are separated, as they are at present. There is no particular reason why officers who seek violators of the prohibition law should be under the Treasury Department; this is an incongruity apparent to everyone; they are there as the result of a historical accident—because, at the time the prohibition law was passed, the Treasury Department had the closest contact with the manufacturers and sellers of liquor through the Division of Internal Revenue and with the importers through the Customs Division, and, in corollary, with moonshiners and smugglers, and had already developed machinery for handling them. But since the government no longer derives revenue from the liquor traffic, the Treasury in reality has no concern with liquor.

The principal objection to putting the arresting and prosecuting functions under a single head is that it might lead to abuses and tyranny. There is always a tendency for the head of any department to justify the acts of his own subordinates, and to view the acts of the subordinates of another department with a colder and more judicial eye. Mistakes are inevitable, and their correction is important, particularly in the administration of justice where life and liberty are at stake.

An alternative which Congress is very likely to consider might be the creation of something resembling a Federal police department, which might take in all gathering of evidence and all making of arrests for all other government departments. This would collect together a number of responsibilities now scattered, result in considerable economy of effort, increase effectiveness, and probably cost less than the present system. It might on the other hand also result in lack of co-ordination.

There are various laws, regulations and customs of long standing that require to be overhauled in order to make any change at all, an additional reason why the changes cannot be made at once. The President is wise not to try to rush such an important matter.

ANSWERING A SLANDER

Representative La Guardia told Congress recently that most of the youngsters 19 and 20 years of age throughout this country have tasted strong liquor, and that the vast majority of them have developed an appetite for synthetic gin, raw hooch, or anything they could get their hands on. He added that they have contempt for the prohibition laws and consider it smart to be provided with liquor at any kind of gathering.

Then the young folks of the Epworth League, the Christian Endeavor Union, the Baptist Young People's Union and the Luther League of the Protestant Churches of Washington met and made reply. They said, "We desire to state without qualification that our members are not drinkers. Before prohibition they worked earnestly for the day when there should be no saloons and since the Eighteenth Amendment was enacted, they have obeyed the law and have consistently expressed their belief that it is a good one. We challenge this wholesale attack made on American youth."

And what the District of Columbia young folks said for themselves, they spoke for the church youth of the country. They are a silent sector in American life. They do nothing spectacular, save go to school, or work in factory, store or farm. Not making whoopee in the street at midnight, they are not news.

But they are the backbone of the land. They are the dependable segment of national life from which the heads of commerce make large drafts for service. They follow the regular channels and lack advertisement, because they do not leap the dikes and devastate the surrounding territory.

These first voters form the rank and file in every election. They can always be counted upon to do their duty. The future of the republic depends more upon them than upon any others. They helped make the Eighteenth Amendment possible. And they are not in the minority, even though they have not been exploited by kodak and headline. They righteously resent the ballyhoo artist. They are turning out the wheels and wings of progress—and running them.

THE GIRLS DID IT

The Labor party in England attributes most of its gains to the young women who cast their first votes. There were several millions of them and they did not hesitate to take a whack at the government and the Conservatives. Whether they will repeat these tactics is something that must be determined later. Just now they are seeing what will happen. It is remembered that originally the Labor party in England was not in favor of giving women the vote.

NAMES THAT TELL

Parker Gilbert, the competent American who has been looking over the reparations and other financial affairs in Germany, is likely to lose his position in the creation of this international bank. Parker Gilbert might form a world alliance with Gilbert Parker to put literature back into its respected place. The combination of business and books is a good one.

DRINK BILL

Chicago is said to be $12,000,000 in the hole for its water. Is there a catch somewhere?

PERFECT REST

By James J. Montague

I know that tall umbrageous trees
Are restful and sublime,
But though I like to take my ease
When comes vacation time,
I'd rather watch across the lea
The farmer till the soil
And know the while that I was free
From any form of toil.

I love to loiter by the shore
For hour after hour,
And hear the rolling breakers roar
And feel their force and power.
I like to hear their pulsing beat
And sense its mighty zest,
My rest to me is far more sweet
Because they never rest.

Ignoring quiet rustic calls
I'm always satisfied
To sit and watch Niagara Falls
Pour down its massive tide;
Its energy can never cease,
It cannot pause nor shirk,
And I am steeped in perfect peace
While Nature is at work.

It is no rest for me to dwell
In regions of repose,
The shady glen, the bosky dell
Are never on their toes.
This summer, hi the glad event
That I awhile may stop
My labors, I'll be quite content
Around a boiler shop.

The LEE SIDE O' LA

BY Lee Shippey

"MOTHER, dearest, don't spank me,"
Urged our smallster, earnestly.
"But, instead, spank Mrs. D.

"'What a bouncing babe,' she cried
When our baby girl she spied—
And, I noticed, you showed pride.

"But against both floor and wall
I've thrown Baby—hear her bawl?—
And she wouldn't bounce at all!"

May Solve Dog-Poisoning Mysteries

Our cactus medal for the meanest man goes to a suburbanite who has a new way of murdering his neighbors' dogs and cats. All he does is buy a fresh salmon, cut off the head and toss it out where the intended victim will get it. The result is that several animals belonging to his neighbors have died in agony, and no one knew why till a man who used to live in the salmon country up north moved into the neighborhood.

"The uncooked head of a salmon is full of phosphorous," he explained, "and acts just as a lot of phosphorous matches would in the stomach of a dog or cat. The best remedy is a lot of lard. But a remedy rarely works, if the victim has eaten all of a fresh head. Humane people will either cook or burn the heads of fresh salmon before leaving them where any dog or cat can possibly get at them—and I suppose if a baby should get hold of one it would be just as bad for it."

This Makes It Clearer

Once popular was "camouflage"
When hokum we would name,
But now we say "debentures"
When we mean about the same.

"Corners in Los Angeles"

Loeside: While The Times is writing up quaint and interesting corners, why doesn't some one with a gifted typewriter describe the one on which I live? Here they keep the alley clear for automobiles and deposit all the garbage cans on the front walk. Every variety of California fruit and vegetable is advertised so thoroughly that sometimes the odors must be wafted clear to Kansas. There is a Chinese restaurant in the block, and passers have to trip the light fantastic toe over Chinese confetti—yards and yards of chow mein and slop chewey. And those people who try to put ten gallons of garbage in a five-gallon can!

What decorators they are! Well, anyway, here is a quaint corner with which the health authorities should get 'quainted. Why can't we use alleys more and streets less for this sort of thing?—Westlake Parker.

"This Pageantry of Nakedness"

Footprints on the sands of time;
When Eve went in a-swimmin'
She got as sunburned as she liked
And wore but little trimmin'.
Her backless bathing suit has been Revived by modern winnin.

Men have followed suit—they wear
The Adam style, plus breeches,
And thousands go to see the show
Because a preacher preaches
And coins an advertising phrase
Which all the public reaches.

"This pageantry of nakedness,"
He cries. That gets 'em, parson.
But how can man acquire a tan)
"Is sunburn moral arson?
Why waste this wealth of outdoor health
If virtue-clothed you are, son?

LETTERS TO The Times

Defining a Snob

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I cannot agree with the stenographer who takes issue with Prof. Rogers for pointing out the material advantages of being a snob—for that is all the professor was doing. He was simply telling the students that snobbishness and a brazen front will help them to force their way in the world as it is at present constituted. Common experience proves that he is right in this contention.

Snobbishness is another form of ambition—in fact, it is the most practical form of ambition—and your uplifter is strong on ambition. Snobbishness makes a woman take more pride in her appearance and a man in his work. Snobbishness prevents both men and women from being content with the company of their inferiors. Snobbishness induces the lowly to try and hitch their wagon to a star. The prizes in life go to those who are snobs, or whose ancestors were.

The men in line for promotion in any business office are the ones who put on a front, who let the world know they are as good as (if not a darn sight better than) their competitors the men whose wives are social climbers. Good salesmanship calls for expert snobbishness—the power to impress the crowd with the idea that you and your goods are much more important than they really are. The go-getter has to be a snob, his slogan must be, "I am a better man than you." And a "better than you" man is in every way preferable to a "holier than thou." And we are all cluttered up with these latter.

LOUISA LIGHTFOOT.

"From Him That Hath Not"

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] By what authority has our local gas company nearly doubled its charges for furnishing gas to us hundreds of thousands of domestic users of gas? Now that it uses only natural gas, gas should be cheaper instead of dearer.

The old rate for gas to us domestic consumers was 70 cents per 1000 cubic feet; it now costs us $1.31 for the first 1000 cubic feet. And be it remembered, that this increase of almost 100 per cent in cost is thus cleverly designed to fall on the small household or housekeeper, who as a rule uses only about 1000 cubic feet of gas. No wonder that the gas company's earnings are 40 per cent greater, as a result of this holding-up of the hard-pressed small consumer.

Prior to December 1, 1928, the minimum charge was 70 cents and this 70 cents bought us 1000 cubic feet of gas. Beginning December 1, 1928, the minimum charge is 80 cents, and this 80 cents buys up only 300 cubic feet! Every extra 100 cubic feet costs us now 7.25 cents—or $1.31 for the first 1000 cubic feet, as compared with the former cost of 70 cents.

Bread Upon the Waters

SOLDIERS' HOME, June 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Noted in recent issue Daily Times in column, "Letters to The Times," a letter signed Mary Leitch that contains a suggestion that I most heartily indorse, to send our surplus wheat to starving China. Seems to me a bill to carry out the idea there suggested if introduced ought to and would go through Congress with a whoop without roll call and be supported by the country. Beside the humanitarian angle there are diverse ways in which it might be to our country as a good financial investment.

WALTER WESTON.

Uncharitableness

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] That a declared scientist should, in his talk over the radio, speak with a covert sneer of Charlie Chaplin, discounting the work and genius of that man, is a thing distressing and at the same time indicative of the reprehensible vanity and narrowness inherent in mankind. Exalting one's own profession, viewing with contempt, complacent or otherwise, the interests of other types of people, belittling other forms of work or art, can hardly be an emblem of greatness!

Surely a heart tainted with envy is as unseemly as a heart frozen by material possessions. When will our race learn to respect the difference of others—and the talents?

VIRGINIA TANGEN.

A Strange Bequest

Fifty years hence a student at the University of North Carolina will open a hermetically sealed tin box in the University Library and take out a Montgomery Ward catalogue of 1915 and compare the prices of articles listed therein with those of the 1965 edition, if the company still exists. He will then write a thesis on the changes represented by the comparisons, place it in the tin box with the two catalogues and seal it up again. Another student will repeat the procedure in 2015.

These are the strange provisions of a bequest to the North Carolina Historical Society by the late Dr. Kemp Plummer Battle, president of the university for fifteen years. Dr. Battle's numerous grandchildren have consented to see to it that the students writing the theses will be paid $50 apiece for their labor.—[New Student.

POMP AND PAGEANTRY

BY BAILEY MILLARD

Of late Los Angeles has been treated to some of the most elaborate and brilliant spectacular displays of pageantry ever witnessed in America. It is generally conceded that the Mystic Shrine processions, drills, tableaux and other shows have surpassed in gorgeousness, gayety and festal splendor all others of the kind previously seen in our large cities.

We have had such an eyeful of color in uniforms and trappings and such an earful of drum beatings, horn blowings and other tuneful and tremendous march music as should satisfy us for some time to come—at least till the Elks get here next month.

Why is it that Americans react so quickly and favorably to brilliant pageantry? Is it because there is in us an atavistic tendency to revert to our ancient love of the displays of royalty, or is it that we really never have lost that old-time affection? After one of his tours of Europe Hamlin Garland asked the pointed question: "Why should a democracy be less picturesque, less poetic, less dignified than a monarchy? Why should we not have an occasional parade of naval officers or a ceremonial procession of archbishops in crimson and gold? The passing of a Mayor in a purple chariot would be a joyous moment to thousands of beauty-starved citizens of New York, and it might lend the Mayoralty a momentary dignity which it now lacks." He also said: "It is to escape from our drab and monotonous surroundings that we go to Europe. If we can't have a colorful Changing of the Guard in front of the White House we will seek it elsewhere."

It's too bad that Mr. Garland couldn't have been in Los Angeles this week. With all the red fezzes, blue blouses, pink pants and fluttering banners, he wouldn't have complained of American drabness, though it is to be confessed that such displays are all too rare in this country.

Perhaps our forefathers, with their hatred of kings, robbed themselves of needed esthetic contrast, and for the greater part, we seem to have been afraid to make much change in that respect. But it seems to me that we are drifting into just such a change, for we have more holidays than our fathers enjoyed, and there are more frequent outbursts of the carnival spirit. It was in that old period of repression that Junius wrote: "Americans detest the pageantry of kings." But colorful displays need not partake of the spirit of royalty, though in a way they suggest it. There is no reason why a republic need not manifest whatever feeling for colorful pomp its citizens may possess, though, of course, in a democracy like ours "the boast of heraldry" is inapposite or would be were it much in evidence, which it is not, nor likely to be.

There are people who do not react favorably to pageantry of any kind. Carlyle derided Lord Mayors' shows. Stevenson characterized the participants in a gay California procession of the 'eighties as "resplendent asses." But while they may have been resplendent, they were not, in the opinion of the average American of that period or this, of an asinine nature, but just normal people out for a gay time.

Let us conserve and further develop these splendors. They stir the blood, these beautiful costumes, this blare of trumpets and these proudly waving banners. One would not have such a show come every day, but one might be forgiven for wishing that it would come much oftener.

WHERE CAN I LEARN
World War History?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address, Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

During June, the United States history class at Polytechnic, 400 West Washington, room 351, will take up the study of the World War. They will not use the textbook much, but will do considerable research work in outside material, keeping as neutral a viewpoint as possible. Each student will work on the subject on which he is most interested.

Much time is spent on current topics. Students keep up with all that Congress is doing, and events of the day are interpreted through the knowledge of history. The class meets on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

This class will be repeated in the Polytechnic summer school, meeting five nights a week. There is no charge either now or during summer school. The text-book is loaned free, just a deposit of $1 being required to guarantee its return.

CHINA'S NEED FOR TREES

Arbor Day is being made an important national holiday in China, where the need of trees is probably greater than in any other country. For centuries trees have been cut down heedlessly in all parts of the country and have not been replaced. Experts agree that many floods could be prevented if there were more trees on the mountain sides in Central China. Because of varying climates Arbor Day is being set on different days in different parts of China, but the provincial authorities have taken up the movement enthusiastically. In Peiping recently more than 10,000 trees were planted to celebrate Arbor Day, and similar celebrations are being held throughout the country.—[Christian Science Monitor.

The Chinese control 80 per cent of the retail trade in the Philippine Islands.

LASKY SIGNS ITALIAN TENOR

Irene Franklin Will Star in Talker; "The Hellion;" Ian Keith Has Lead in Columbia Talking Film; Helen Ware Featured in "The Virginian."

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Whenever Jesse Lasky goes abroad he never fails to thriftily scan the art field for possible acting talent to bring home and use in his talking pictures.

JESSE L. LASKY

The newest recruit is Nino Martini, handsome 26-year-old Italian, said to possess an unusual tenor voice and romantic personality. He was secured by Lasky, while the producer was abroad recently, and will appear in Paramount pictures.

Lasky discovered Martini in Paris, where he has been singing for the past several months. The noted French producer Sayag, says Lasky, classes Martini as one of the finest tenors ever heard in that country.

Martini will arrive in America within a few weeks, and is to be groomed to play leading roles in film operettas.

IRENE FRANKLIN TO APPEAR IN COMEDY

If nothing happens to prevent, that brilliant comedienne, Irene Franklin, and her gifted husband and co-laborer, Jerry Jarnagan will star in a picture to be made by the Halperin Brothers. The two artists have already completed a pair of short subjects for Vitaphone, one of which, viewed yesterday in the projection room, proved to be most amusing.

Irene Franklin

In it Miss Franklin warbles two or three songs in what the press agents love to call her inimitable way.

The Halperins, now that they are fairly launched in the filming of Shakespeare, mean to inject a little comedy relief into the seriousness of their professional lives by making a comedy or two. The first one will probably be the Franklin-Jarnagan opus, and will be from a story written by Miss Franklin herself, called "The Hellion." This is a comedy with music, in which Jarnagan will have the leading male role, and for which he wrote the music.

Ian Keith With Columbia

When Ian Keith finished the lead in his recent First National picture, he was immediately signed to play the leading male role in Columbia's talking version of "Raffles," which Columbia is calling "Light Fingers." Keith will play the role which John Barrymore made famous on the stage.

Dorothy Revier will have the leading feminine role, and Joseph Henabery will direct.

Trio in Vaudeville

Tom Geraghty is responsible for the fact that three clever picture players are about to take a flyer in vaudeville. They are Ned Sparks, Carmelita Geraghty and Zasu Pitts. Geraghty is the author of a playlet called "Hitched to a Star," in which they will shortly appear.

The writer has just completed the script of "Tanned Legs" for R.-K.-O.

Helen Ware With Paramount

Helen Ware, for years one of the leading players of New York's dramatic stages, has been cast as Ma Taylor in Paramount's all-talking picturization of "The Virginian," it was announced yesterday by B. P. Schulberg.

HELEN WARE

The actress came to Hollywood a little less than a year ago to coach Fox players for the dialogue films. After six months of this work she decided to go back to acting. She has since appeared in three pictures, two of them talkers, "Speakeasy" and "Napoleon's Barber."

"Yellow Jacket" Holds Interest of Novelty

Coburns' Production Elicits Commendation

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Fantastic, whimsical and replete with the spirit of burlesque, "The Yellow Jacket," by George C. Hazelton and Benrimo, came to the Figueroa Playhouse last evening. And the theater is the richer for the revival of this dramatic novelty, even though it may have been written nearly a score of years ago.

"The Yellow Jacket" is a play presented in the Chinese manner. It is the story of the heir to a provincial governorship, destined to be slain in his infancy, but surviving in the fashion that innocent people occasionally do, and who after much moil and turmoil comes at last into his proper heritage. It is a quaint and exotic stage creation, and is being produced here under the auspices of the Los Angeles Repertory Theater, with those capable and well-known player folk, the Coburns, as its official sponsors.

"The Yellow Jacket" has been seen here before, but it is a considerable number of years ago. I believe the last production was in the days of Oliver Morosco. Nevertheless, its lustre of imagination dims not, albeit the tempo is not that of a winging 1929—and its prop man, the most ubiquitous of stage prop men, and one of the most abundantly visible, loses none of his intriguing interest.

A number of people in the first-night audience had previously seen this delectable bit of theatrical invention, and for them the renewal of its acquaintance held an undoubted attraction. To many others its peculiar pleasantness was for the first time manifest. I think that it may be said that the evening held many facets of enjoyment. The pleasure—perhaps a trifle fitful and resting simply on the production's uniqueness at the beginning—acquired a marked urge with its progress. I have an idea that subsequent givings of "The Yellow Jacket" will add more unity of ensemble. But despite that in part the company responsible for the play was gathered here, the results were singularly good for an introduction.

"The Yellow Jacket" has aspects of strangely pompous dignity. Its assumption of the Chinese manner is done with an inflection scarcely serious. What it amounts to is a sort of take-off travesty, but don't imagine that it is not a sombre and tragic tale of perfidy that is unfolded. The choice of a double negative to describe what happens is appropriate. It very much "nots" the tragedy which it essays to unfold. Eventually too it turns everything into spirited melodrama.

There is one setting for the play, but there are innumerable changes of scene. When it is time for an alteration, the prop man supplies the necessary embellishments. He furnished the throne and the dais, mountains and rivers, willow trees and tombstones; spider webs, a child in arms, and a stairway to heaven. The store of his treasures is illimitable, and when any prop—say a sword—is not returned swiftly enough he snatches it from the actor who has used it.

There is no doubt but that the appeal of this play hinges to a marked extent on its dramatization of inanimate objects, and on the stoical face, and drooping cigarette, of the cue-adorned gentleman who furnishes them. However, it also affords abundant scope for flamboyantly colored and exuberant acting. It is a noisy play compared with even a "Front Page" or a "Royal Family" because when its players do not wax vocally stentorian, then its cymbals and drums are going. The balance of effect is good, however, for there are many relieving and quiet moments.

When the play is over the actors come before the curtain to accept the applause of the audience. It is the only time by the rules and conventions of the oriental manner, as adapted, that they may do so. Gauged by the applause that greeted them the premier successes of the evening were those scored by Schuyler Ladd as the usurping governor, called the Daffodil; Arthur Shaw as the already much-described prop man, who did all his work in pantomime, and by Arthur Coburn, as the show's impresario. There was definite and marked applause also for the interpretations of Mary Hutchinson, Barbara Jo Allen, George McDaniel and Ethel Morrison, Jeoffrey Wardell, Frank Peters, Eugenie Webb and others, who were prominent and who in some cases played not only one but two roles during the evening.

Special consideration of individual performances, of which there are such a number important to the play, was only briefly begun in the space of this revue. It is obviously necessary to mention the finesse of Mr. Ladd's impersonation, which was remarkable. The suavity of Mr. Coburn's was very commendable. As the hero, Fairbax Burgher disappointed slightly, though toward the close he showed indications of maturing the portrayal romantically. At this point there was a more assured zest in his work. Moments of spirited effort were observable in the work of Mr. Wardwell, Mr. McDaniel, Mr. Irwin and others, which added materially to the interest. Mrs. Coburn fell just a little short of the deep sympathetic appeal of the mother-love scene at the close of the first act, though she evidenced sincerity in her acting.

"The Yellow Jacket" is a unique attraction.

CROSLAND AT WARNERS'

Alan Crosland, directing John Barrymore in "General Crack" for Warner Brothers, is again working at the Warner Vitagraph Studio with the entire company. He remains at the Warner Vitagraph studio until Monday, when "General Crack" again makes his headquarters at the Warner studio on Sunset Boulevard.

Although Helene Millard is a Los Angeles girl who has been on the stage four years, her first appearance in moving pictures will be in a featured role of "The Thirteenth Chair," a M.-G.-M. production directed by Tod Browning.

Unique Play Has Two in Cast

One is Fay Bainter

Who returns to the Mason Theater tomorrow night in "Jealousy," after an absence of more than two years from Los Angeles. The other is John Halliday.

Five Musicals Planned by Fox at Early Dates

Hollywood apparently has taken the dancing, talking, singing, musical revue to its bosom.

As a result of the countrywide success of "The Fox Movietone Follies of 1929," the Fox Studios are now or shortly will create five musical productions at their studios.

David Butler, who directed the story in Fox Follies (current at the Criterion Theater,) is directing "Sunny Side Up," the words, music and dialogue of which are by Buddy De Sylva, Lew Brown and Ray Henderson, music publishers and composers.

Marcel Silver, revue director of the Fox Follies, is serving in the same capacity on "Married in Hollywood," which may prove the sound screen's first original operetta.

Sue Carol, whose "Breakaway" number in the Fox Follies is a country-wide hit, has been paired with Walter Catlett, Broadway comedian in "Why Leave Home," musical adaptation of "Cradle Snatchers," with Raymond Cannon directing. David Rollins and Dixie Lee of the Fox Follies are also to act in "Why Leave Home," it is said, while the music is being written by Con Conrad, Sidney Mitchell and Archie Gottler, authors and composers of the Follies music.

The Conrad-Mitchell-Gottler combination also collaborated with Dave Stamper on the tunes for "Words and Music," which features David Percy, leading man in the revue numbers of the Fox Follies.

"Big Time" is another original musical Fox comedy drama.

Telegrams Pour in on Actress

Belle Bennett received 214 telegrams of congratulation on her opening day at El Capitan, where she is now appearing with the Henry Duffy Players in "Dancing Mothers."

Five of these wires are in a place of honor above her dressing shelf. They came from Lois Moran, Alice Joyce, Ronald Coleman, Jean Hersholt and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., all of whom appeared with her in the picture, "Stella Dallas."

"My professional career," says Miss Bennett, "has been made happy by the pleasant associations of the many companies with which I have been. I never have known jealousy on the part of fellow-artists except on two occasions. As a matter of fact, I think actors and actress try to help one another to a greater extent than the public realizes."

BREESE PROFITS BY YEARS WITH O'NEILL

Edmund Breese declares that he learned much of the art of acting from the late James O'Neill.

"I played beside him four seasons," says Breese, "appearing in 'Monte Cristo' and the other plays of his repertoire. He was a great actor and he knew stage technic backward. He was exceptionally generous about aiding younger members of the profession, and I always have felt I owed him a debt of gratitude. He taught me more about acting than anyone with whom I had been associated."

Breese, who has been playing character roles in motion pictures, returns to the stage in the role of Father Wilkes in the Henry Duffy Players production of "Danger," at the Hollywood Playhouse.

Million Dollar Starts Run of "Syncopation"

Managing Director Lazarus will usher in Syncopation Week at his Million Dollar Theater offering "Syncopation," an all-talking, singing and dancing picture featuring Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians.

"Syncopation" tells of two Broadway dancers who go through poverty and loneliness in their efforts to realize their ambitions. Circumstances finally bring the pair together in an unusual but effective manner.

Waring's Pennsylvania orchestra offers the rhythm for this lively and human picture of Broadway. Besides several new numbers by the orchestra, there are solos and duets by other members of the cast.

In keeping with the spirit of Syncopation Week, Abbey Krause, organist, will entertain with appropriate numbers from the console. Other attractions on the program will be an Edward Everett Horton comedy, "Ask Dad," and a Pathe talking newsreel.

Fox Circle to Record Voices of Film Stars

"Watch Your Voice" will be the password of the stars who attend the premiere of "Four Devils," starring Janet Gaynor in her first talking picture, Monday night for the film that records their arrival at the Fox Carthay Circle also will record in sound what they say into the "mike."

When the camera turned its eye on the motion picture celebrities who attended the first night of "The Black Watch," which closes Sunday, they did not know that when they spoke a cheery word for the world at large, that word would speak forth from the Carthay screen later. When the stars heard about it many of them came back to the theater especially to hear themselves as others hear them.

Claire Windsor, Lina Basquette and many others were among those who listened to themselves talk, although since the Carthay film was taken they have had studio tests which reproduced their voices.

DANCERS INTERESTED IN EGYPTIAN CONTEST

That dancing as recreation and entertainment is mounting in popular esteem is evidenced by the enthusiasm and attendance at the "flicker" dancing championship which is one of the current features at the Egyptian Ballroom of Ocean Park, Manager George T. McCarthy reports.

This contest is attracting attention from dancers from every section of the Southland on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, when special programs of highly diversified dance entertainment are offered, it is said. George Freeman's augmented Egyptian Ballroom is said to be responsible in a large way for the increasing popularity of this Ocean Park pier ballroom.

ERNEST PASCAL WILL OFFER PLAY IN EAST

Ernest Pascal, author of the play "Marriage Bed," which was produced in Los Angeles last fall, has left for New York, where he will present his new piece, called "The Amorous Antic." Pascal adapted the Los Angeles offering from his own book by the same title.

Before leaving for the East, the author and playwright announced the completion of an adaptation of Winchell Smith and Victor Mapes's play, "The Boomerang," for the screen. The play was produced by David Belasco some years ago.

NEW SCREEN ANNOUNCED FOR REVUE

Experiments Completed for Enlargement of Sound Film at Chinese Theater

Introducing something different in talking-picture presentation, the "phantom screen" is to be used in connection with a military spectacle in the "Hollywood Revue of 1929," when it has its world premiere at Grauman's Chinese Theater the 30th inst.

Announcement is made by Harry Rapf, who produced the musical revue extravaganza for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, that he has completed experiments with his sound technicians and that tests have established that the enlargement of the screen to mammoth proportions will not interfere in any way with the sound recordings on the film.

The spectacular number with which the "phantom screen" is to be used is called "The Big Brass Band," a colorful military dance number executed in stirring march time with several hundred persons in the ensemble.

Included in the cast of the screen revue are John Gilbert, Norma Shearer, Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, William Haines, Lionel Barrymore, Joan Crawford, Bessie Love, Polly Moran, Marie Dressler, Cliff (Ukulele Ike) Edwards, Gus Edwards, the Brox Sisters, Buster Keaton, Nils Asther, Gwen Lee, Charles King and others.

Husband-Hunter Central Figure of Coming Play

Edward Everett Horton is all ready to ring up the curtain at the Majestic Theater tomorrow night and present to local play fans what is described as his most lavish and brilliant production, "Serena Blandish." This humorous tale of the adventures of a young girl in search of a husband is from the pen of S. N. Behrman, and delighted New York fans for several months.

The comedy is presented in three acts and ten scenes, and the sets, gowns and other effects are expected to overshadow anything the comedian has thus far offered here, so elaborately have they been executed.

Tomorrow night, Horton will present his new leading lady in the person of Sylvia Field, prominent New York stage actress who will essay the title role. The large cast will also include John Litel, Mitchell Harris, Florence Mason, Florence Roberts, Fred Cummings, Harrison King, Stanley Taylor, David Callis, Rose Dione, Selmer Jackson, Lottie Williams and Dolores Brown.

As is typical of every Edward Everett Horton opening, a number of film stars will be present.

London to See Belasco Piece in September

Although it is quite the ordinary thing for Belasco and Curran, the local producers, to jump theatrical companies from New York to the Pacific Coast and back again to New York, it remains for David Belasco to plan the prize leap for a theatrical company. "The Bachelor Father" production, having trekked from New York here, will go later to London, Eng., at the conclusion of the Belasco engagement, according to present plans.

The London engagement of the original "Bachelor Father" cast does not begin until the middle of September, so at the conclusion of the short Los Angeles engagement the players will take a brief holiday here and then go eastward by easy stages, arriving in the British capital in time for a few rehearsals before the premiere. The production, however, will be loaded on board a steamship at Wilmington and taken to Southampton.

June Walker, C. Aubrey Smith and Geoffrey Kerr, the three featured players, expect to spend most of the summer in and around Los Angeles.

Curtis Opera Presented by School Clubs

Louis Woodson Curtis, director of music at Lincoln High School, is largely responsible for a charming operetta of the South, which is having three presentations this week at the school on upper Broadway. The senior glee clubs and the school orchestra have been well trained by Mr. Curtis and his assistant, Rita Mitchell. Mr. Curtis is conducting his work and Miss Mitchell officiates at the piano.

The numbers are melodic and singable without banality and the orchestration expresses a musicianship not usually detected in light opera written for school. Marvel Clark, singing the part of the heroine Angela, displays a lovely soprano voice of sweetness and carrying power and her acting is above the average.

Holt Takes New Role in Picture

"Father and Son," a Columbia production synchronized with dialogue and music, is scheduled to open an engagement of one week at the Pantages Theater starting today.

For over ten years Jack Holt, who has the featured role, was a delineator of western parts. Only recently has he deserted his out-door roles for a variety of dramatic characterizations for Columbia Pictures.

In "Father and Son" Holt has the support of Dorothy Revier and Helen Chadwick in the leading feminine characterizations. Mickey McBan takes the part of the son. A program of vaudeville acts and a short comedy subject are also on the program.

ESPEE MEXICAN LOSSES HEAVY

Shoup, Here After Survey, Tells of Revolt Damage

All Lines Again in Operation, Executive Announces

Fight on New Rail Invasion of This State Explained

That revolutions are not only costly affairs for governments but that they also can become a great source of worry and expense for railroad corporations was revealed here yesterday with the arrival from Mexico City of Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific. Mr. Shoup has just completed a two-weeks survey of damage done to the Mexican railroad line by revolutionists and Federals throughout the Southern country.

"I have been marching up and down our lines in Mexico for the past two weeks, endeavoring to learn the extent of the damage wrought by the revolution and making plans for the restoration of our lines to a prerevolution condition," Mr. Shoup said yesterday, before his departure for San Francisco.

"I am glad to say that all the lines in Mexico again are in operation, but we lost a number of bridges and culverts, burned by both revolutionists and Federals, and we suffered from torn up rights of way in various sections of the country. At present our trains are operating over temporary bridges and trestles, built at water level, pending completion of new permanent structures.

GOVERNMENT AIDS

"The Mexican government, since the revolution, has shown every indication of its willingness to give us complete co-operation in our task of restoring our lines. I feel sure that the government will help us to the full extent of their responsibility."

Asked for a figure that would cover the damage suffered by the Southern Pacific in Mexico as result of the revolution, Mr. Shoup declared he is unable to state the amount in exact figures.

"Of course, I was in Mexico for only two weeks, and I would dislike to venture an opinion relative to political conditions, when it is difficult for observers, who have lived there for many years to predict events in that republic. But I gathered from discussions with officials and others that revolution, and particularly military revolution, is dead in Mexico for a long, long time. A feeling of optimism seems to pervade the entire country and the future, prominent Mexicans told me, looks very bright indeed for the country."

PROPOSED INVASION

Threatened invasion of California by the Great Northern and Western Pacific Railroads, projects that now are occupying the attention of the Interstate Commerce Commission, is opposed by the Southern Pacific Company, its president said, on purely economic grounds. He expressed confidence that the merits of the company's opposition will be well presented before the Federal commission.

"There is no economic necessity or need for the proposed Great Northern and the Western Pacific lines into California from Klamath Falls, and from the Bay district southward to near Fresno," he said. "The Southern Pacific is just completing a line from Alturas to Klamath Falls and the proposed Great Northern-Western Pacific line would parallel this line.

"Following the Southern Pacific settlement in 1923 our company built a line over the Cascades to Klamath Falls, giving that territory a complete and direct connection with Southern California. This, in addition to the new Alturas line and the broad gauging of our Nevada, California and Oregon line, from Wendell to Lakeview, provides, I believe, all the service that that territory will provide revenue for.

HUGE INVESTMENT

"The Southern Pacific Company has invested some $40,000,000 in these various projects and we counted on all the freight traffic in that territory to provide a reasonable return on our investment," President Shoup said.

"We feel that no necessity exists, from an economic standpoint, for the establishment of other lines in that particular area and we are frank to admit that such projects as are proposed by the Great Northern and Western Pacific would be injurious to the Southern Pacific. Not only is our company serving this teritory satisfactorily, but the logging railroads, combined with our service, are providing all the railroad facilities that the country will furnish traffic for.

"We believe that the chief support that the Great Northern and Western Pacific will derive from this territory would have to come from a diversion of traffic from our already established lines.

PECULIAR PROBLEMS

"Operating problems are peculiar to the country. The bulk of the traffic, which is lumber, is southward. This necessitates long hauls of empty cars northward at a loss. In addition the freight rates are subject to water rate competition. The chief source of revenue is lumber haulage, as I already have pointed out, and lumber is a crop that does not readily renew itself.

"There is an honest difference of opinion on both sides, in this particular matter, and since all the facts have been placed before the Interstate Commerce Commission, we entertain no doubt as to the final decision on the question as to whether a new railroad in the north will prove of economic benefit to California. The question is being pretty thoroughly gone into as to whether we or our neighbors up north are right in our contentions."

Mr. Shoup was a guest at the Biltmore.

TREE TO BE PLANTED

A memorial tree dedicated to disabled veterans will be planted in the California Botanic Gardens in Mandeville Canyon, Brentwood Heights, at 2 p.m. tomorrow under the auspices of Quentin Roosevelt Chapter, No. 5, disabled American Veterans of the World War. All war veterans, their families and friends, are invited to attend the ceremonies, over which Commander H. E. Finney will preside.

OWENS VALLEY MAN DRAWS STATE POST

Jess Hession

INYO COUNTY PROSECUTOR PROMOTED

Jess Hession, Efficient Law Enforcer, Confirms State Appointment

Reports from San Francisco that Jess Hession, well known as the District Attorney of Inyo county, has been appointed Deputy Attorney-General for the State, were confirmed yesterday by Hession upon his arrival in the city from Independence.

Hession will be in charge of the Sacramento office for Atty.-Gen. Webb. He will take up his new duties at the capital July 1, his resignation as District Attorney of Inyo county taking effect on that date.

At the time of accepting Hession's resignation the Board of Supervisors of Inyo county appointed Harvey W. Guthrie of Bishop to succeed Hession as District Attorney. Guthrie has been practicing in the valley for the past ten or twelve years. George Francis, who has been Deputy District Attorney under Hession for several years, will remain in Independence in charge of the law office of Hession & Francis. Hession will move to Sacramento with his wife and two boys.

Hession represents the third generation of his family born and raised in Owens Valley. He has been District Attorney of Inyo county for nearly eleven years and in that time has lost only nine cases of the long list he prosecuted before Superior Court. In his time he has handled a number of interesting cattle rustling cases and murder trials growing out of quarrels over mining claims. He came into Statewide prominence two years ago as the prosecutor of the Watterson brothers, whom he convicted of appropriating nearly $500,000 of Inyo County Bank funds. Later he brought a number of residents of Owens Valley to trial on charges of dynamiting the Los Angeles Aqueduct, in what proved to be one of the most bitterly fought trials in local criminal annals.

WILL GIVES BEQUEST TO BOY SCOUTS

La Brea Oil Discoverer Leaves $2500 to Order; Relatives Remembered

The Boy Scouts and a long list of relatives were made heirs of W. C. Price, discoverer of the La Brea oil fields, by the terms of his will devising a $250,000 estate filed in Probate Court yesterday.

The widow, Mrs. Emma D. Price, 3633 Wilshire Boulevard, has an ample fortune of her own, it is said, and so is not remembered in the will.

The National Council, Boy Scouts of America, was given $2500 to establish new camps and the residue, after a number of $1000 and $2000 bequests, was divided among two daughters, Mrs. De Ette Thompson and Mrs. Ruth Price Simpson, and a son, Edward C. Price.

Actors' Equity, Also Producers, Watch and Wait

A "watch and wait" attitude was adopted yesterday in Hollywood by producers and the Actors' Equity Association in the controversy over contracts for talking-picture players. The producers appeared content to sit back and watch for developments without comment, while Frank Gillmore, New York Equity president, was willing to issue as many "statements" as the exigencies of the situation seemed to require.

The day brought forth no new developments, and Gillmore admitted that the producers have not made the slightest move toward arbitration, and have not given the least intimation that they will make such a gesture.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

The King's Daughters yesterday announced they will hold an open house next Wednesday at the day nursery they conduct for the children of working women at 133 North Clarence street. The public is invited to inspect the institution from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

SUSPECT FREED IN JULIAN CASE

Charges of Usury Against Myer Brown Dismissed

Transaction Called Sale and Not Merely Loan

Charges of usury on two counts against Myer Brown, growing out of the Julian Petroleum Company crash, were dismissed yesterday by Municipal Judge Pope on a ruling that the evidence in the case did not substantiate the complaint.

The move for the dismissal was made by Leon Brown, 23-year-old attorney and son of the defendant, on the ground that the transaction as set up in the complaint was a valid sale and repurchase contract for 100 shares of Julian stock which the prosecution asserted was used as collateral for the asserted loan. The contention of Prosecutors Hugh Foster and Stanley Fox was that Brown received $3000 in usurious interest on a loan of $13,250 to Jack Bennett in forty-five days.

In handing down his decision Judge Pope declared: "This case must be decided according to the law and the evidence. It is not for the court to stretch a point merely because these cases have been attended with considerable publicity.

"The evidence here consists of the fact that Brown was given a letter by J. Bennett in which he agreed to repurchase 1000 shares of stock from Brown in forty-five days, allowing the latter a profit of $3000. On its face this is a contract for sale and repurchase of stock and this is all the evidence sets forth. I cannot assume that this is usury. The defendant is entitled to the presumption of innocence and I must therefore dismiss this case."

Trials of Max Slossberg and David R. Forester on similar charges, set for yesterday, were continued until Monday by Judge Pope on account of the length of time required for hearing arguments in the Brown case.

ALL-YEAR'S ADVERTISING EFFECTIVE

More Than 75,000 Persons Write Club Concerning Trips to California

A total of 76,605 families throughout the United States and Canada have written the All-Year Club since last October concerning proposed trips to Southern California as a result of the national advertising campaign conducted by the club, W. P. Jeffries, chairman of the executive committee, announced yesterday. In addition, the All-Year Club advertising has served to direct thousands to railroad, steamship, tourist and travel agencies for similar information in scores of cities in both this country and Canada. Mr. Jeffries said:

"In many cases the inquiry, of course, is only an opportunity. The inquirer must still be 'sold' on the fact that the majority of our prospective tourists must travel 1000 to 3000 miles to get here. For many it is their first long trip and their people it as they would a trip to Europe. The questions they ask are many and varied. They want to know the cost, what clothing is to wear, how best to come, and every detail involved in a pleasure jaunt away from home.

"Mentally they are debating whether to visit here or any one of dozens of resort areas in the United States, Canada or abroad, which now intriguingly through effective advertising. We must be able to show these inquirers truthfully and consistently why a trip to California is, indeed, 'A Trip Abroad in Your Own America.'

"Where ten years ago there were but a few accepted winter and summer resort areas, today the number competing for the tourist's favor is legion. Tourist travel has become an international industry. California's development efforts must continue, therefore, to match those of our aggressive competitors.

Couple Rejoice on Their Golden Wedding Fete

Another golden wedding anniversary in Los Angeles came to light yesterday when it was revealed that Mr. and Mrs. Donato Sisto recently celebrated fifty years of married life with an all-day reunion of their family at their residence at 3817 South Grand avenue.

DONATO SISTO

Surrounded by their seven sons, their wives and their three daughters and their husbands, together with nine grandchildren, the couple were the honored guests at a memorable family party, which was frequently interrupted by the receipt of congratulatory telegrams from many parts of the United States.

MRS. DONATO SISTO

Mr. and Mrs. Sisto were married in Naples, Italy, and came to the United States a few years later. They have lived in Los Angeles forty-one years. Two of their seven sons are Los Angeles newspaper men.

HEARING DEFERRED

Hearing of protests against the ordinance of intention for the installation of lights on Temple street between Benton Way and Robinson street was put over yesterday by the City Council to September 13, next. Meanwhile the City Engineer was instructed to advise the Council of the expenses of the proceedings to date, as the protestants must pay these costs if the proceedings are abandoned.

BILLY SUNDAY WILL PREACH

Evangelist and Score of Ministers to Speak at Union Rescue Mission Services Tomorrow

Rev. William A. Sunday, "Ma" Sunday, Homer Rodeheaver, famous gospel singer, and a score of prominent ministers of Los Angeles will take part in the program, at 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Shrine Auditorium, the services being in the interest of the Union Rescue Mission. Billy Sunday will be the chief speaker at both services and, although there will be no sawdust trail, it has been hinted that Mr. Sunday has no intention of allowing his audience to freeze to death.

The collections at both services will be donated to the Union Rescue Mission, one of the oldest charitable and religious organizations in California, with headquarters at 226 South Main street. The meetings tomorrow and the general work of the Rescue Mission have been indorsed by the Church Federation, Chamber of Commerce Social Service Commission and other religious, civic and social agencies. A summary of the work of the Mission for the last year shows that 2264 services have been conducted in churches, on the streets and at the Mission and that more than 3000 men, women and children thus have been influenced to live better lives.

The report shows that 22,411 beds have been provided for homeless persons, 96,528 meals given to the hungry, 3953 garments donated to the poor, 2500 gospels distributed, 896 positions obtained for unemployed persons and 4748 free baths given at the Mission.

At 11 a.m. tomorrow Sunday will be the honored guest and principal speaker at the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood, Gower street and Carlos avenue.

Divorce Suit Filed After Shriner Says Wife Made Scene at Coliseum

What is said to be the first court action to be taken as a result of the Shriners' convention was disclosed when the divorce complaint of Harry J. Swartz of 1201 Smith Place, Long Beach, was filed against Mrs. Margaret Daly Swartz.

Swartz charges his wife treated him with extreme cruelty, in following him to the Coliseum during the convention and cursing and reviling him and his brother Shriners. These actions caused the plaintiff great humiliation and mortification, he said.

Swartz adds that his wife took a pot shot at him while they lived in Dallas, and many times threatened to kill him.

GROVE FOR AVON BARD DEDICATED

First Tree Planted by MacLean, Shakespearean Actor, on U.C.L.A. Site

Shakespeare was given a permanent share of the new Westwood campus of the University of California at Los Angeles yesterday when a memorial grove was dedicated by the Shakespeare Foundation of California. Approximately seventy-five prominent men and women gathered on the site, which is a knoll on Hilgard avenue commanding a wide sweep of ocean view, to hear the dedicatory addresses and to witness the planting of the first tree by R. D. MacLean, widely known Shakespearean actor.

Benjamin P. Bledsoe presided and, following a benediction by Bishop Bertrand Stevens, Mr. MacLean turned the earth to make a place for a Persian mulberry tree, which is to be known as Richard the Third.

Dr. E. C. Moore, director of the university, gave an address of acceptance, and he was followed by Kenneth Piper, president of the student body, and Mrs. Leafie Sloan-Orcutt, chairman of the grove committee.

From time to time other trees will be planted and there will be a bronze statue of Shakespeare at the grove entrance. Another section of the grove will be known as the poets' corner, where eventually a group of busts of the classic poets will be placed.

The plan of the Shakespeare Foundation is to present a week of Shakespearean plays each year to provide for the maintenance and development of the grove.

The Japanese government will construct a number of railways in Chosen.

PHONE RATE DECLARED

State Experts at Hearing Here Testify Earnings Justify 10 Per Cent Rate

That the Southern California Telephone Company is considerably more money in Los Angeles than its [illegible] that the company could reduce its Los Angeles rates and still earn 7½ per cent on its investment, was the State Railroad Commission hearing yesterday by engineers and rate experts.

They declared that a suggested rate schedule that will give Los Angeles subscribers a 10 per cent reduction in prevailing telephone rates will be submitted to the commission at the next hearing, set for August 15. Commissioners Seavey, Decoto and Carr presided.

ANSWERS ORDERED

The investigation into Southern California Telephone Company rates in Los Angeles was instituted several weeks ago upon motion of the State Railroad Commission itself, and yesterday, at the close of the hearing, the commission's rate engineers declared that they have established a prima facie case against the company. The latter was directed by the commissioners to file answers in readiness for the August session.

Yesterday's session was devoted exclusively to the testimony of the commission's own investigaters and the examination of exhibits prepared by them. Both testimony and exhibits were voluminous. The witnesses included Lester L. Ready, consulting engineer, attached to the commission's San Francisco office; Arthur Frye, commission telephone engineer, San Francisco; E. P. McAuliffe, commission land and building appraiser, San Francisco, and F. V. Rhodes, telephone engineer of the Los Angeles office.

TESTIMONY HIGHLIGHTS

Highlights in the testimony of the commission's experts were as follows:

The Southern California Telephone Company, under existing rates in Los Angeles, actually earned 9.6 per cent on its investment of $92,000,000 in 1928.

Based on present rates the company will earn 9.03 per cent on its investment of $97,100,000.

Revenue of the company in Los Angeles for 1928 was $24,176,000. Estimated revenue, based on present rates, for 1929, will be $28,671,000.

Total operating expenses for 1928, including depreciation and taxes, amounted to $15,357,000. Estimated operating expenses for 1929 will be $16,822,000.

Computation by the rate experts of operating costs for 1928 and 1929 shows a net profit of $8,820,000, or a net return of 9.50 on its investment for 1928, and $9,839,000, or 9.93 per cent on the investment for 1929.

CITIES AT HEARING

A number of Southern California cities were represented at yesterday's hearing but none of the representatives took active part, devoting their energies to digesting the testimony of the commission's experts. It was indicated, however, that at the next hearing these communities will be actively injected into the case, so far as telephone toll rates from Los Angeles to these communities, and reverse, are concerned. Included among those at the hearing were Jess Stephens, Los Angeles City Attorney; L. A. Deither, Assistant City Attorney, Pasadena; C. L. Coffin, Santa Monica; Clyde Woodworth, Inglewood; Louis Burka, Montebello; H. E. Vetter, South Pasadena; Beach Vasey, Long Beach; John J. Dillon, Culver City; H. S. Dottenheim, Cheviot Hills; Richard Waltz, Beverly Hills; Arthur H. Blanchard, Santa Paula.

COMPANY'S POSITION

Oscar Lawler, attorney for the Southern California Telephone Company, appeared at the hearing in behalf of the company and told the commissioners his clients have

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy

Author of "The Four Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

PERITONITIS

The peritoneum is a strong membrane with a smooth surface lining the abdominal walls and covering many of the internal organs, such as the stomach, spleen, liver, duodenum, small intestine, transverse colon, sigmoid flexure, rectum, uterus, etc. The peritoneum serves to hold these organs in position by its folds, some of which are known as the mesentery and the omentum.

Usually, inflammation of the peritoneum is secondary to an inflammation of some of the organs coming in contact with it, or it may become inflamed as the result of a perforating ulcer or external injury.

Primary peritonitis is much more rare and is supposed to be caused by the germs or toxins from some other disease being carried by the blood and lymphatics to the peritoneum, which becomes inflamed.

When the peritonitis is caused by simple inflammation of other organs it is not usually dangerous and the primary disease should be treated. Peritonitis is often fatal, however, when it is caused by a perforating ulcer from the stomach, duodenum or appendix. The severe cases begin with an intense pain in the abdomen, accompanied by collapse, chilly feelings and rigor. The patient usually lies on the back with the thighs drawn up and the shoulders elevated to produce the greatest amount of relief. Breathing is usually very light because of the pain produced by moving the diaphragm. There are a few cases where the nervous system seems to be dulled by the toxins and the pain may also be absent. The abdomen becomes tense and swollen, the pulse very rapid and wiry, ranging from 110 to 150 per minute. The temperature may rise rapidly to 104 or 105 deg. Vomiting usually occurs early and violently. The urine may be highly colored and scanty. The face becomes pinched and the eyes sunken. The face usually assumes a brownish, livid or lead-colored tone. These conditions usually indicate a fatal case unless the disease is quickly recognized and the right treatment used immediately. Every hour of delay greatly increases the risk of death, which sometimes occurs with great suddenness.

Chronic peritonitis is not as serious as the acute stage, and it shows but slight symptoms at the start. It is frequently caused by a local adhesion around the appendix, gall bladder, spleen or colon. An X-ray study under the fluoroscope is of great value in determining the position of these adhesions. Chronic peritonitis may also develop from inflammation or serious exudations from the neighboring organs and always results in serious adhesions. Patient usually complains of intestinal indigestion and gaseous distension. Many of these adhesions can be benefited by manipulative treatment once the inflammation has been reduced by the fasting regime.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Starches

Question: J. L. K. asks: Generally speaking, what are the starches?

Answer: The grains and those vegetables classed as "tubers," which grow under the ground.

Boils and Carbuncles

Q.: M. M. writes: "Some time ago I had a large carbuncle on my neck, and since then have had boils. I would also like to know how to rid my face of whiteheads and large pores."

A.: You can overcome the tendency toward boils and carbuncles by following a correct fasting and diet regime. Instructions for which I will be glad to send you. The enlarged pores and whiteheads can be overcome by washing the face very carefully morning and evening with hot water and some mild soap. After rinsing the face, apply ice or very cold water. Also avoid the use of too many fats in your diet.

Glands and Overgrowth

Q.: Mrs. F. F. B. asks: "What makes some people grow abnormally tall and have very large bones? Is it because they eat too much of food containing certain elements, or do the glands have something to do with it?"

A.: It is natural for some people to be very tall, and does not seem to be due to any special foods. If the growth appears after maturity it is usually caused by some disorder of the ductless glands, usually the pituitary.

Nail Biting

Q.: Mrs. J. H. asks: "Can you suggest some method of making my little boy stop biting his fingernails? He seems to be in good health, except a little nervous."

A.: As far as stopping this unsanitary habit of biting the fingernails is concerned, the cure is quite simple. Dip the child's fingers several times daily in a solution of alum water. This will keep the alum on the fingers all day long and after a few days the child will become disgusted with the puckery taste of alum which he gets every time he puts his fingers into his mouth. This little cure always works.

BRAN MUFFINS

H. M. W., Los Angeles. It is impossible to make a bran muffin without the use of some flour. Sift one cupful of flour with four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half a teaspoonful of salt, then add two cupfuls of bran, one tablespoonful of honey and two tablespoonfuls of oil, and enough milk to make a stiff batter. Beat well, fill muffin tins two-thirds full with the mixture, and bake in a hot oven.

Pellagra

Q.: Mrs. R. C. H. writes: "I would like some information about pellagra. Can it be cured?"

A.: The best dietetic treatment seems to be an occasional short fruit fast for four or five days at intervals of about a month apart, followed by a well-balanced diet as outlined in my weekly menus. It is especially important that you obtain sufficient protein, such as meat, in overcoming this trouble.

Cysts on Eyelids

Q.: R. A. P. writes: "Please tell me how to prevent cysts forming on my eyelids. I have been having them cut out, but is there not some preventive? An examination shows nothing wrong with the vision. I have been told that a poultice made with milk and the bark of slippery elm, to be applied for an hour, would be helpful. Please advise me."

A.: The tendency toward the formation of cysts seems to be caused by a condition of acidosis. This can be overcome by the use of a fasting and diet regime, as outlined in my cleansing diet course, which I will be glad to send you.

Local applications of wet compresses to the eyes for about twenty minutes each morning and evening would be helpful. The efficacy of the remedy you inquire about is probably due to its demulcent mucilaginous property. This could also be obtained by various substances added to the wet compresses, such as flaxseed, Irish moss, glycerine, gum arabic, or starch paste.

Eyelids Inflamed

Q.: Miss W. P. writes: "My eyelids are always inflamed, especially in the mornings, and they remain red all day. I have spent considerable money having them treated, but to no avail. What is your advice?"

A.: I suggest that you take short fasts at frequent intervals of about a month apart, following a well-balanced diet between the fasting periods. Cold applications should be used on the eyes as often as possible. Send for my article, "Inflammation of the Eyes."

A Tear in the Raincoat

The rip in the otherwise good raincoat can be mended by pasting a piece of adhesive tape larger than the slit on the underneath side of the coat. It will never show and the coat will be as good as new.

An Awful Chance

Don't plan omelet for breakfast the first morning a guest is with you. She may not be as prompt as you would like her to be and woe to the omelet!

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. If stamped and self-addressed envelope is forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers helpful talks on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, sour water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

HELP CHILDREN CARRY OUT THEIR OWN LIFE PLANS

A parent is ever ambitious for her child. She plans his future almost from the day he is born. It is no "joke" to her to hear someone say derisively, "Well, I suppose some day the boy will be President." She feels that this isn't the least impossible. But her deepest ambitions, those she considers most seriously, are her own unfulfilled or frustrated ones. The things she wanted to be, the plans she longed to fulfill, are those which the child must carry out for her.

Mother's legs may have been agile as a girl and she feels sure that had she had the proper training she might have been a famous dancer. No one ever believes she would ever have stopped short of being "famous." She determines, therefore, that small daughter shall have the training she missed. She will be famous through her.

But daughter's legs are not so agile. She is bored to tears with the gruelling, limbering exercises she wishes she could take drawing lessons instead, and she fills sheets of blank paper with the products of her pencil, and is dragged unwillingly to the stupid dancing class.

Rosalind's father wanted to be a doctor. Lacking the necessary education and having no son, he determines early in her life that Rosalind shall fulfill his ambition. So Rosalind takes all the premedic courses in the university. She slaves over biology and organic chemistry. She hates them all and says sadly, "All my life my father has told me how he longed for me to be a doctor. I can't bear to tell him how I detest this stuff, because he would be so heart-broken."

Instead of applauding the child's choice of a hobby or life interest or vocation or an art, the parent backward stubbornly and insists that he continue to hew at the path which so appealed to the parent.

Everywhere in every home, mothers are scolding small victims who are struggling to be relieved of the burden of the parent's unrealized ambitions. "I don't want to take piano lessons. I want to play the saxophone. I hate the piano," says Burton. And mother, remembering her girlhood desire to play the piano and the many payments made on the shiny instrument in the living-room that should make this ambition easy of realization, stands fuming over Burton, sure that if she persists he will some day find joy in practicing.

Clay may be molded (we are always dubious of these pat metaphors as applied to humans,) but an adult is possessed of a resistance found in no type of clay. Pressed into a mold against his own wishes results in making an unhappy adult of him.

Reconcile yourself to the loss of your early plans. Perhaps it was your parent's lack of co-operation which ruined them. Get the opposite viewpoint now that you are a parent, and co-operate to help the child achieve his own ambitions.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

VISITING A FARM

BY MRS. AGNES LYNE

Every small child at some time or other should visit a farm.

The city-bred youngsters know only a push-the-button, commercialized-package world. The processes by which he gets his food and shelter, the means by which he is whisked from one place to another, all are too complex to permit him to see the links between cause and effect.

The world runs in a smooth, apparently effortless fashion which must be confusing and baffling to the child whose curiosity remains active under such conditions.

But on the farm things are different. He sees and readily can understand, in a simple way, the basic process of nature, the actual sources of some of his material comforts. He gets some inkling of man's ultimate dependence on the earth underfoot and the sun overhead.

A two weeks' stay at a farm during the coming months would give your child a store of rich experiences and would leave a deep impression on his thoughts.

Gathering eggs which are still warm from nests in the hen house will cast light on the mystery of his morning soft-boiled egg.

Watching the milk foam into the bucket under the skilful fingers of the farmer will make him understand a great deal more than he ever can through bringing in the bottle of milk from the doorstep at home.

The young stock, the mother hen clucking and scratching for her brood, tell him more of nature than we could possibly teach him in a dozen lessons.

Watching the harvesting and threshing of grain, pulling vegetables out of the garden, to be cooked that very day for dinner, these are experiences which afford him astonishing revelations of what, in any real sense, must remain obscure to the child who has never been on a farm.

Too Soiled to Wear

If the Panama hat looks pretty soiled upon getting it out this spring, try a few home remedies. Use an ordinary spot remover to clean the hat. Then cover with Fuller's earth, wrap it in a towel and pack away for a few days. Brush off the powder and you will be pleased with the result.

A little panel Rembrandt brought $13,000 at a sale in London recently.

SCREEN STARS TO BROADCAST

KHJ Announces Special Hour Program Tonight

Stage Actors Drafted Into Talkies to Be on Air

Life of Cadillac Also Will Be Depicted Musically

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

KHJ, the Don Lee station, presents two hours of entertainment tonight to which it calls particular attention.

At 7 o'clock Jack Benny, well-known vaudevillian, will act as master of ceremonies for the hour broadcast which will present some well-known celebrities of the silver screen and the "talkies."

Most of these will be stars from behind the footlights who have been drafted from the legitimate stage into the land of the talking picture.

TRIO TO SING

Besides Benny's songs and humor, he will present a novelty singing trio, the Brox Sisters, who have forsaken the stage for the lights and glamour of Hollywood.

They will offer some musical numbers from "Revue of Reviews," a musical extravaganza now in process of being filmed. Then there will be Charles King and others equally as well known to fan audiences of radio and pictures.

The second hour broadcast will be the weekly continuity theme arranged and presented by Lindsey MacHarrie, KHJ's chief of the announcing staff, in which he will musically depict the life of Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac, adventurer, explorer and founder of the city of Detroit.

DATA UNEARTHED

MacHarrie has uncovered a mass of historic facts which have been cleverly woven into the skein of a continuity.

Gene Byrnes, who dashes off songs for every purpose from a Shrine conclave to north pole explorations, yesterday dashed off a brand new one called, "Ride of the Crusaders," which will be given its radio premiere tonight on the 8 o'clock hour, according to E. K. Barnes, studio manager.

The studio symphony and singers will also be featured on this hour.

RADIO EDITOR TURNS SONG WRITER

CINCINNATI, June 7. (Exclusive) Although he has been writing melodies for years, Vinson Hunter, radio editor of the Columbus, O., Dispatch, will make his radio debut as a song writer at 8 p.m., Pacific standard time, over WLW here Sunday.

His first copyrighted number, and consequently the first to be given a public performance, will be heard during the Musicale Novelesque program from the Cincinnati station. The song is a waltz entitled "Moonlight Brings Dreams of You."

Duer Services This Afternoon

Commissioner Adam Gifford of the Salvation Army will conduct funeral services for Mrs. Ensign Hazel Duer at 2 p.m. today in the W. A. Brown undertaking parlors, 1815 South Flower street. Commissioner Gifford, who is territorial commander of the Salvationists, arrived here yesterday from San Francisco for the purpose of paying his tribute to the beloved ensign, who will be buried in the Salvation Army section of Inglewood Cemetery.

The commissioner is a life-long friend of Mrs. Duer's parents, Maj. and Mrs. James McHarg. Mrs. Duer's life was devoted to the Salvation Army, and her passing is mourned by hundreds of comrades. She leaves her husband, Ensign Harold Duer, and three sons. Brigadier J. G. Bell has invited all friends of Mrs. Duer to attend the services.

WAR MOTHERS WILL MEET

The Loyal Chapter of American War Mothers will meet Tuesday at Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street, at noon for luncheon. Mrs. Isabel Richards, national chaplain, will speak on "The Work of the Organization." Following luncheon there will be a business meeting in the clubrooms at 2 p.m.

School Group Tours City Hall

Close to 500 high-school pupils and teachers made a trip of observation through the new City Hall to get some idea of the scope of its activities late yesterday afternoon at the request of William S. Kienholz, director of vocational education in the city schools.

The visitors were informed that Los Angeles has 17,500 employees to handle municipal affairs and that this number is distributed among 1000 occupations.

Speakers from the civil service department told of the opportunities and requirements for city jobs.

Other speakers included Dr. G. E. Dykstra, director of personnel of the Water and Power Bureau; Dr. Emery A. Olson of the University of Southern California, and Mrs. Elizabeth Louise Clark, member of the Los Angeles Board of Education. A buffet luncheon was served to the guests on the thirteenth floor.

Dr. Carpenter Named Head of Science Group

Dr. Ford S. Carpenter, former head of the Weather Bureau in Southern California, yesterday was announced as the new president of the Southern California Academy of Sciences. He was elected to succeed William M. Bowen at the annual meeting of the board of trustees last Wednesday at the Los Angeles Museum.

Theodore Payne and Dr. T. C. Low were named first and second vice-presidents, respectively, and Commander R. Fred Gross was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Herbert J. Goudge.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

ONION SOUFFLE

Cook in salted water and drain well, then chop and drain again, ten or more silver skin onions according to size. Force through a sieve. There should be one cupful of solid puree; add one tablespoonful of melted butter and season with salt and white pepper, make a sauce of one tablespoonful each of butter and flour, one cupful of rich milk, one-fourth of a cupful of soft, fine bread crumbs and the yolk of one egg; cool the sauce slightly, add to it the onion puree and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs, pour into a well-buttered baking dish, set in a pan of hot water, cover with a buttered paper and bake until firm to the touch.

GRAPEFRUIT AND CHERRY SALAD

Place two small leaves of lettuce on individual salad plates and on this place two sections of grapefruit so that the narrow edges meet, in the hollow thus made place three large black cherries from which the stone has been removed and a nut meat placed in the center; garnish with tips of watercress and pour over a Hawaiian dressing.

HAWAIIAN DRESSING

Make a French dressing with one-half a teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of paprika, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one-third of a cupful of oil, and stir in the last thing, one tablespoonful of pineapple jam.

HAM LOAF

Three tablespoonfuls of gelatine, one-fourth of a cupful of cold water, one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water, two teaspoonfuls of vinegar, two teaspoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, one-half a teaspoonful of mustard, two cupfuls of cold cooked ham put through the fine knife of the meat grinder, three tablespoonfuls of mayonnaise, one tablespoonful of horseradish, dry, two pimientoes finely chopped, one teaspoonful of onion juice and a few grains of cayenne pepper, dissolve the gelatine in the cold water, pour the boiling water over it and stir until thoroughly dissolved, add the vinegar and the seasonings, stir in the chopped ham and, lastly, fold in the mayonnaise. Place in a mold and chill until firm. Garnish with parsley, hard-boiled egg slices and ripe olives.

PEANUT PUDDING

Mix together three tablespoonfuls of honey, three tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, four tablespoonfuls of peanut butter and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, place two cupfuls of milk in a double boiler and allow to come to a boil, stir in the honey mixture and allow to cook until smooth for twenty minutes. Turn into small molds, place in the ice box and chill; serve with whipped cream, garnished with a maraschino cherry.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department. PRACTICAL, SIMPLE, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

EIGHT-HOLD-UP TRIO SOUGHT

Officers Scouring City for Bandits After Series of Robberies and Theft of Car

Orders to locate and capture three bandits who committed eight robberies in an all-night series ending early yesterday were issued yesterday afternoon by Detective Chief Cline. The hold-ups began Thursday night. The trio used a blue Oakland coupe in their operation, and were described as follows:

No. 1—Spanish type, smooth shaven, 20 years of age, 5 feet, 7 inches in height, weight 125 pounds, dark complexioned, wore blue sweater, dark trousers and gray hat.

No. 2—Spanish in appearance, 22, height, 5 feet, 9 inches; weight, 145 pounds; wore dark clothes resembling a taxi driver's uniform.

No. 3—Young man who remained in the car and was not well identified.

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN

The series of hold-ups began with the theft of an automobile belonging to Portia L. Strong, taken from in front of 333 West Fourth street at 11:30 p.m. Thursday. A few minutes later R. W. Coonts of Turlock, a visiting Shriner, was held up and relieved of $130 at Temple and Figueroa streets. His complaint scarcely had been reported by telephone when H. L. Trice, 3483 Larga avenue, reported that he had been held up at Larga and Glendale avenues, losing $2.

C. Jowett, 232 North Hoover street, and A. A. Armstrong, 746 North Heliotrope Drive, next were held up at Fletcher Drive and North Avenue 30. They hid their money under the cushions and the bandits failed to find it.

POLICE CHASE FRUITLESS

While police cars were dashing around looking for the bandit trio they held up E. H. Olson, 5327 Townsend avenue, at Eagle Rock avenue and North Avenue 45, taking $6. The next victim to complain was Harold Grome, 1060 West Sixty-first street, who lost $7 at Eagle Rock avenue and North Avenue 45. Apparently the bandits had circled the block after the preceding robbery.

Basil Davis of Ontario was next on the list, losing $10 at Fletcher Drive and Riverside avenue. The final hold-up of the series was of Harry Syar, 504 West Second street, held up at Riverside Drive and Partridge avenue, and robbed of $23. By that time the youthful bandits had removed the license plates which the preceding victims had noted and reported.

MEETING OF OCCIDENTAL ALUMNI SET

Former Graduates Gather for Reunions as Feature of Commencement Week

With registration of returning alumni commencing this afternoon in the patio of the College Union Building, Occidental College will observe its annual alumni reunion as one of the major events of its thirty-seventh commencement season. The classes of 1894, 1899, 1904, 1909, 1914, 1919 and 1924 are planning reunions during the day.

The afternoon program includes a tea for the faculty and graduates in Orr Gardens, motion pictures, exhibits, parties for children of alumni, a music recital and athletic events.

Two baseball games, one between a team of attorneys headed by Gerald Boltinhouse, '25, and a team composed of alumni in the employ of the Southern California Telephone Company captained by Frank N. Rush, '09; and the other between a team of teachers and coaches captained by W. Bruce Kirkpatrick, '20, and the senior class team, captained by Elmer Jones.

The annual alumni banquet will be held in the college union at 6 p.m. President Remsen D. Bird will speak. Captains of the five conference championship teams will be introduced, stunts prepared by the five classes holding special reunions and a musical program will constitute the evening's entertainment. Election of officers will be held.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached tomorrow evening and commencement will be conducted Monday evening.

CITY ASKED FOR ACTION ON STREET

Resolution Urges Speed in Proceedings Which Affect Opening of Third

The City Council was asked in a resolution introduced by Councilman Foster yesterday to find means to facilitate the early completion of the proceedings for the opening and widening of Third street between Figueroa street and Vermont avenue. The resolution was referred to the Finance Committee.

Temporary restraining orders against the collection of assessments and sale of bonds in connection with the project were dissolved by the Superior Court some time ago, the resolution points out, thus permitting the city to obtain final judgment in the proceedings in the near future. Meanwhile assessments amounting to $1,543,648.82 have been paid, and the balance of $879,509.93 has gone to bond.

Since a number of the assessments were appealed to a higher court, however, the bonds, which were advertised for sale April 29, last, failed to sell. The city cannot obtain title to the land which was condemned until the bonds have been taken up, and meanwhile the first payment on the bonds has become due.

ASSESSMENTS CONFIRMED

The City Council yesterday confirmed the assessments for the improvement of Mansfield avenue between Willoughby and Melrose avenues and of Weymouth avenue between Seventh and Thirteenth streets, but deferred until July 13 hearing appeals against the new assessments which have been spread for the widening of Los Feliz Boulevard between Brunawick avenue and the east city boundary line.

NAVY MAN'S WIFE WINS SEPARATION

Spouse of Lieut. Collins Granted Divorce With Custody of Child

A sudden turn occurred in the hearing of the divorce action of Lieut. Dewey H. Collins, officer attached to the U.S.S. Maryland, against his wife, Mrs. Mary A. Collins, yesterday when the wife replaced her answer in the action with a cross-complaint asking for a separation from the navy man on the grounds of desertion. After giving her testimony Mrs. Collins was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Price, the custody of the couple's minor child and $75 a month allimony.

Collins filed a suit for a divorce asserting that his wife refused to observe the rule of social and naval etiquette at balls, dinners and receptions given in honor of the naval officers attached to ships in which her lieutenant husband was serving.

In her answer to the suit Mrs. Collins denied the accusations of her husband.

OKLAHOMANS TO RALLY

Invitation to all former residents of Oklahoma and their friends was issued yesterday by the executive committee, which has arranged a reunion for 3 p.m. next Tuesday at Moose Hall, 1924 South Grand avenue. County registers will be open and the announced program includes vaudeville and dancing.
